President Issues Call by Cable For Congress To Meet May 19

Will Be Impossible For President To Be Present on Opening Day

WASHINGTON, May 7.—President Wilson issued a call by cable today for special session of congress to meet Monday, May 19.

Secretary Tumulty, in making the announcement, said it would be impossible for the president to be here on the opening day. The date was much earlier than democratic leaders had expected.

White House officials said that in naming an early date for the session, President Wilson was guided largely by the advice of Secretary Glass as to the necessity of passing annual appropriation measures which failed in the closing days of the last session.

General expectations are that soon after it meets, the new congress will investigate charges made in connection with the conduct of the war.

Senator Lodge today issued a call for a republican conference to be held May 14 for the purpose of perfecting an organization in the senate and Representative Mondell, who will be republican floor leader at the coming session, announced that a conference of republican house members would be held on May 17.

Some administration leaders believed the president had called the extra session earlier than had been anticipated in order that congress might perfect its organization and dispose of the more important appropriation measures before the treaty was ready for consideration.

Germany's Acceptance of Terms Means Complete Surrender to Allies and Associated Powers

NEW YORK, May 7.—An official summary of the peace treaty, delivered to the German delegates at Versailles by the representatives of the associated powers, was made public here today by the committee on public information. It follows:

Treaty Handed to Germans

In addition to the securities afforded in the treaty of peace, the president of the United States has pledged himself to propose to the senate of the United States, and the prime minister of Great Britain has pledged himself to propose to the parliament of Great Britain in engagement, subject to the approval of the council of the League of Nations, to come immediately to the assistance of France in case of unprovoked attack by Germany. The treaty of peace between the 27 allied and associated powers on the one hand and Germany on the other was handed to the German plenipotentiaries at Versailles today.

Longest Treaty Ever Drawn

It is the longest treaty ever drawn.
It totals about 80,000 words, divided into 15 main sections and represents the combined product of over a thousand experts working continually through a series of commission for the three and a half months since January 18. The treaty is printed in parallel pages of English and French, which are recognized as having equal validity. It does not deal with questions affecting Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey except insofar as binding Germany to accept any agreement reached with those former allies.

Summarized Sections

Following the preamble and deposti-tion of powers comes the covenant of the League of Nations as the first section of the treaty. The frontiers of Germany in Europe are defined in the second section; European political classes given in the third; European political classes in the fourth. Next are military, naval and air terms; the fifth section followed on prisoners of war and military graves and a seventh on responsibilities. Reparations, financial terms, and economic terms are covered in sections eight to ten. Then comes the aeronautic section, ports, waterways and railways section, the labor covenant, the section on guarantees and the final clauses.

Alsace-Lorraine Restored

Germany by the terms of the treaty restores Alsace-Lorraine to France, accepts the internationalization of the Saar basin temporarily and of Danzig permanently, agrees to territorial changes towards Belgium and Denmark and in East Prussia, cedes most of upper Silesia to Poland and renounces all territorial and political rights outside of Europe, as to her own or her allies' territories; and especially to Morocco, Egypt, Siam, Liberia and Shantung. She also recognizes the total independence of German Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Army Reduced to 100,000

Her army is reduced to one hundred thousand men, including officers; conscription within her territories is abolished; all forts 50 kilometres east of the Rhine razed; and all importation, exportation and nearly all production of war material stopped. Allied occupation of parts of Germany will continue till reparation is made, but will be reduced at the end of each of three five year periods if Germany is fulfilling her obligations. Any violation by Germany of the conditions as to the zone 50 kilometres east of the Rhine will be regarded as an act of war.

U-Boats Prohibited

The German navy is reduced to six battleships, six light cruisers and 12 torpedo boats without submarines and a personnel of not over 15,000. All other vessels must be surrendered or destroyed. Germany is forbidden to build forts controlling the Baltic, must demolish Helgoland, open the Kiel canal to all nations and surrender her 14 submarine cables. She may have no military or naval air forces except one hundred unarmed seaplanes until October 1st, to detect mines and may manufacture aviation material for six months.

Germany Not in League

The League of Nations is accepted by the allied and associated powers as operative and by Germany in principle but without membership. Similarly an international labor body is brought into being with a permanent office and an annual convention. A great number of international bodies of different kinds and for different purposes are created, some under the League of Nations, some to execute the peace treaty. Among the former is the commission to govern the Saar basin till a plebiscite is held 15 years hence;
the high commissioner of Danzig, which is created into a free city under the league, and various commissions for plebiscites in Malmody, Schleswig and East Prussia. Among those to carry out the peace treaty are the reparations, military, naval, air, financial and economic commissions, the international high court and military tribunal to fix responsibilities and a series of bodies for the control of international rivers.

Germany Accepts Responsibility

Germany accepts full responsibility for all damages caused to allied and associated governments and nationals, agrees specifically to reimburse all civilian damages beginning with an initial payment of 20,000,000,000 marks, subsequent payments to be secured by bonds to be issued at the discretion of the reparations commission. Germany is to pay shipping damage on a ton for ton basis by cessation of a large part of her merchant, coasting and river fleets and by new construction; and to devote her economic resources to the rebuilding of the devastated regions.

Freedom of Transit

She agrees to return to the 1914 average nation tariffs, without discrimination of sort; to allow allied and associated nationals freedom of transit through her territories, and to accept highly detailed provisions as to pre-war debts, unfair competition, internationalization of roads and rivers, and other economic and financial clauses. She also agrees to the trial of the ex-kaiser by an international high court for a supreme offense against international morality and of other nationals for violation of the laws and customs of war. Holland to be asked to extradite the former Kaiser and Germany being responsible for delivering the latter.

Problems Left For Solution

tion between the allied and associated powers, notably details of the disposition of the German fleet and cables, the former German colonies and the values paid in reparation. Certain other problems such as the laws of the air and the opium, arms and liquor traffic are either agreed to in detail or set for early international action.

The Nations Involved

The preamble names as parties of the one part, the United States, the British empire, France, Italy and Japan, described as the five allied and associated powers and Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, China, Cuba, Ecuador, Greece,
Guatemala, Haiti, the Hedjaz, Honduras,
Siam, Czechoslovakia, Panama, Peru,
Poland, Portugal, Roumania, Serbia, Siam, Czechoslovakia, and Uruguay, who with the five above are described as the allied and associated powers, and on the other part, Germany.

War Ends When Treaty Is Signed

It states that: Bearing in mind that on the request of the then imperial

Contestants Enter Appeal—Case Will Go to Superior Court For Trial

The contest on the will of the late James J. Dolan which commenced before Judge Chamberlain at East Cambridge yesterday was finished at noon today. The court allowed the will and the contestants entered an appeal. The case will go to the superior court.

The will was offered for probate by William A. Hogan, who was named as executor. He was represented at the hearing by John J. Hogan and Kerwin and Reilly of Lowell. The contestants are Terrence O'Donnell of Springfield and Bridget Moriarty of Ireland. The property is estimated at $125,000.

Sec. Baker Says Last Man of
A.E.F. Will Be Out of France by August

Estimate Based on Movement
of 300,000 Men a Month
to United States

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Secretary Baker announced today that, by August, the last man of the American Expeditionary Forces would have been withdrawn from France. He said this estimate was based on the movement of 300,000 men a month to the United States.

Already the American forces in France have been reduced from the army of occupation. Plans have been completed to supply the force in Germany through Antwerp and Rotterdam, removing the necessity for maintaining the 700-mile line of communication from Brest. The French ports will be maintained, however, for the withdrawal of the A. E. F.

More than half of the expeditionary force has now left France and as the withdrawal progresses facilities which were used for those forces are being turned back either to private owners or to the municipalities to which they belonged.

THE FIRST CALL ON STRAW HATS

First call on straw hats pretty soon.

May 15, a week from tomorrow, is the official date for the debut of the bonnets, but local hat dealers have already stocked up and if the weather man plays many more stunts like that of last Monday, June and July will be ignored and Merrimack street will blossom forth into summer headgear.

The prices range from $2 to $5 for the common variety of straws, about the same as last year, but the dealers claim that the quality is much better. Panamas, of course, range above these prices as far as $12.

Hon. James M. Curley will be the speaker at a big mass meeting in the interests of Irish freedom in Association hall next Sunday evening. This meeting will mark the formal opening of the campaign to secure funds for the Irish cause. A thorough canvass of the city will be made.

Arrangements for a whist party to be conducted in the rooms of the Y.M.C.A. on the evening of May 15 were discussed at a meeting of the 101st auxiliary last evening. The proceeds will be devoted to the welcome fund for the boys of the regiment. The auxiliary also voted to accept an invitation to take part in the Centralville parade next Saturday.

Lieut. George D. Crowell, formerly of the Fourth Pioneer Regiment, but now with the 77th Division, has returned from France and is now stationed at Camp Devens in charge of the men of the 77th Division of New York who did not wish to take part in the big New York parade earlier in the week. Lieut. Crowell was formerly a member of Co. G of the old Sixth Regiment.

The annual examination for applicants who desire to obtain teachers' certificates of the third grade will be held June 21 at the Lowell high school at 9 a. m. Applicants who wish to take this examination should notify Supt. Hugh J. Molloy in writing three weeks before the date of the examination. No applications will be received after that time.

A beautifully illustrated lecture on "Wandering Under the Southern Cross" was given last evening at the Centralville M.E. church by Rev. Chas. E. Spaulding, D.D., district superintendent of Methodist Episcopal churches of Worcester. The speaker toured South America for four months visiting Methodist missions there and all his views were secured during his travels.

The following firemen will begin their two weeks' vacation next Friday: Michael E. Egan, John N. Emerson, Joseph F. Fontaine, Jay D. Ismond, William J. Lane, Martin F. McNally, Berry F. Simpson and Edson S. Barnes.

Frank Coburn, secretary of the committee of veterans in charge of the Memorial day celebration has invited Mayor Thompson to participate in the parade on the afternoon of the holiday.

PASTOR ESCAPES RENT PROFITEERS BY MOVING HIS FAMILY INTO CHURCH

Driven to extremities by extortionate rents, the Rev. S. O. Tyndall, a Brooklyn, N. Y., pastor, has moved his family into his church, part of which he has turned into a comfortable home, with all the conveniences of life on a trans-continental Pullman. Dr. Tyndall's action started the movement in New York to turn churches into homes for victims of rent profiteers. The balcony of the Greenwood Heights Reformed church is the doctor's study by day and the children's bedroom by night. Mother and father sleep in the Sunday school room. All the beds are folded up on Sabbath morning, and made into couches. In the basement is the combination kitchen-parlor-dining room. Here are the gas stove, a sewing machine, table, chairs, rugs and icebox.

Commissioner George D. Marchand today received a check amounting to $175 from Simon B. Harris in payment for the two parcels of property sold by Mr. Harris for the city last week on the land taken over for the erection of an addition to the Morey school. The purchaser was John H.

Wetters who paid $1825 for the property. From this was deducted advertising expenses and Mr. Harris' fee as auctioneer.

A birthday party was given to Master James C. Williams at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. James S. Williams, 802 Lakeview avenue last evening in honor of 10th anniversary of his birth. A pleasant evening was spent by his many young friends who gave him many presents. All kinds of games were played, songs were sung and recitations were given. Refreshments were served and violin selections were given.

Among the soldiers who have recently returned from overseas and who have filed their war record at the office of the city clerk is Private William C. Geary of 555 Broadway, who served with Co. A of the 101st Engineers. Private Geary enlisted with Co. C of the old Sixth regiment June 11, 1917, and was later transferred to the 101st Engineers. He participated in battles at Chemin des Dames, Champagne, Troyon and the Meuse-Argonne sector. He was killed July 15, 1918.

TURKEY BONES START FIGHT

Huns Resent Evidences of
the Doughboys' Easter
Banquet—Some Scrap

Capt. Walter Austin Tells of Being Fired On With
Shells From Lowell

BOSTON, May 7.—"It was only a bag of turkey bones, slung over the top into the German trenches by a mischievous American doughboy, but it started a beautiful scrap, and, incidentally, it was the beginning of the first battle in which I took part," said Capt. Walter W. Austin of the 104th Infantry.

"Can you beat that for a reason for starting a battle? It may not have been the only cause, but I'll bet it had a lot to do with it.

"It was Easter Sunday, 1918, and as is customary on Thanksgiving, Christmas Day and Easter Sunday, our boys were given turkey. And I guess the sight of those bones made the Huns envious and also irritated them, perhaps because they felt that the Americans had food to throw away, while they had barely enough to feed their men.

"Well, they started the scrap, but it is needless to say who finished it. Our boys finished it, as they did every big fight 'over there.' The Germans sent over word asking what troops we were, British or Canadians. The answer our boys sent back was typical of American: 'Come over and find out.' The Germans came over and they found out.

the machine we were using, which they believed must be some new and wonderful invention. They thought it must be some kind of cannon fired like a machine gun.

"An interesting incident occurred at Apront, which well illustrates the spirit of our men. The Germans made frequent raids and on one of these visits they captured one of our men. Our commanding officer gave the men a 'hailing out' and declared that we would never live down the disgrace of having a man taken without a fight. As a matter of fact the man had been badly wounded and would never have been captured if he had not been injured so that he could not fight.

"At any rate we received the reprimand and the boys never forgot it. They determined that the next time the Germans came over they would show the enemy something, as well as demonstrating to the commanding officer that they were not 'yellow.'

"The next day the Germans started an attack. To a man the doughboys jumped out of the trenches onto the ground in front of the parapet and started throwing hand grenades while they sang 'Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here.'

Owes Him His Life

"It was in front of Mont-See that we were astounded to find that we were being fired on with shells that came from Lowell, the home of many of our boys. They had been made in Lowell, shipped to the Russians and captured by the Germans, who fired them at us.

"To a Gloucester boy, Louis E. Johnson of 35 Grove street, I probably owe my life. It was at Belleau Wood on July 18, at 5 o'clock in the morning, three hours after the opening of the fight, that I received a piece of shrapnel in the left leg. Louis Johnson found me lying there, and bleeding profusely. He bound my leg with my first-aid pack, and then with his own. And then, under heavy fire, he remained with me at the risk of his own life, talking to me and praying with me, while the bullets rained overhead. Had it not been for his coolness and courage under fire, and his knowledge of tying a sailor's knot, I would not be here today. I recommend him for a citation, but he has not received it as yet.

"I want to speak a word about Chaplain John DeValles of New Bedford, who was with us. I know he has been complimented a great many times, but too much cannot be said about him. I have often seen him crawl out under fire to administer to some poor fellow who was 'going west.' It made no difference what the fellow's religious beliefs were, Jew or Gentile, he was one of Fr. DeValles' boys just the same.

"Once he found an old, discarded piano in a village behind the lines. He paid for having it repaired and then had it transported to the trenches, even to the front line. And the other chaplains were just as considerate and just as sacrificing. They served who ever needed their help and risked death many times."

"The execution of six Chinese at Parris by Villa has been confirmed. Edgar Koch, German consul in Parris, saved the lives of two other Chinese by hiding them in his home. As far as can be learned from Mexican arrivals from Parris, the six Chinese and the three Herrears were the only ones executed.

VILLA BAND IN FIGHT AT JIMINEZ

EL PASO, Tex., May 7.—Rumors of fighting between government troops and Villa rebels at Jiminez continued to be received here yesterday. American mining men consider it probable that a small engagement occurred there yesterday, as part of Villa's band left Parris in that direction recently.

Parris has been abandoned by Villa and has not yet been reconquered by the federal forces, who fear he laid a trap.

The execution of six Chinese at Parris by Villa has been confirmed. Edgar Koch, German consul in Parris, saved the lives of two other Chinese by hiding them in his home. As far as can be learned from Mexican arrivals from Parris, the six Chinese and the three Herrears were the only ones executed.

Villa's whereabouts is unknown but his bands are scattered. He issued a statement at Parris saying he was not fighting the home guards of the state and would not kill any of those forces if they refrained from assisting the federals.

FLYING CIRCUS THRILLS BOSTON

Mayor Peters Makes Flight
in Plane With Former
Congressman Connolly

BOSTON, May 7.—Air fighting as it was carried on over the battlefields of Europe was exemplified yesterday when a mimic "show" was put on over the common as a part of the selling campaign of the Fifth Victory loan. Thousands of spectators who lined the walks of the common and of adjoining streets, admired the skill and daring of the young aviators who manned the planes.

Thousands of pigeons, who for years have been unmolested on the common, were ousted by the seven noisy monsters and fled in terror to distant points, where they perched chattering their dismay and resentment.

Mayor Peters accompanied the Flying Circus from Franklin Field, where it assembled, to the common and back, as a passenger, with Maj. Maurice Connolly, formerly a member of congress from Iowa, who served with the mayor in the house. This feature of the day's "show" marked the first flight taken by a public official here since the trip of the last Postmaster Murray between

Mayor Peters, like many of the other occupants of the planes, dropped handbills advertising the Victory loan, as his plane made the journey to and from the common.

According to schedule, the "show" was to have consisted of an attack on an observation balloon—termed in the parlance of the airmen "picking on a cripple"—but because of technical difficulties it was impossible to get the "cripple" into the air yesterday. This will be done this morning, however, and the balloon will remain over the common during the remainder of the loan drive. At night it will be illuminated by rays from the enormous searchlights that have been lighting up the clouds for a week.

"Hop On" at Franklin Field

The seven planes "hopped off" at Franklin Field at 2.30 and flew to the common where the thousands were waiting. In charge of the planes were American, French and British aces who are touring New England boosting the loan. They reached the common a few minutes later.

First a lone plane appeared at a high rate of speed, circled the common and made off to the north. Then other planes came on in diamond formation. Stunts that made the crowd gasp at the possibility of more names in the casualty list then became the order. Imitation bombs advertising the loan were released and showered down upon the crowd. Just to show what they could do in the way of maneuvers, the young aces looped the loop, side slipped until it seemed as if they would strike the ground before righting their planes, corked, nosed, dived, and did all the other tricks known to experienced airmen.

One machine came within range of an anti-aircraft gun. Immediately a bomb was fired into the air and, to the outlookers it seemed, the gunner made a direct hit, for the machine promptly dropped toward the earth as if out of control. It twisted and turned and stopped until it reached a low level. Then the aviator straightened it out and gracefully rose to safety.

The machines literally skimmed the heads of the crowd, sailing so low that their pilots could be easily seen by the spectators. After displaying the laws of gravity and possibility of disaster, the planes circled the common once more and made the return trip to Franklin Field.

At 4.15 the machines were transferred to a train and started for Concord, N. H., where the circus will exhibit today. Monday it showed in Rutland, Vt.

Mayor Peters was the object of considerable banter as he climbed into his machine at Franklin Field. "Eddie" Parke, his secretary, accompanied the mayor to the field, and as the latter got aboard, "Eddie" with a broad grin, said, "Well, so long, Mr. Mayor." "What are you grinning at?" returned the mayor. "If anything happens to me I'll come back and haunt you, see if I don't."

Mayor Enjoys the Flight

The mayor was attired in a regulation army aviator's outfit. He enjoyed the trip greatly, he said upon his return, and he hoped the loan would go as high as he had been.

The squadron is in charge of Major Henry J. Miller, flight commander, and its personnel includes 26 officers and 60 enlisted men. Its itinerary extends from New York to Jacksonville, and includes 36 cities. Following are the aces and their records: Capt. H. W. Woodcock, British, 29 Hun planes, six of them on one day; Maj. Gerald Y. C. Maxwell, British, 31 planes; Lieut. John O. Donaldson, Cornell, 15, with the highest record among the American aces in this outfit, eight planes; Lieut. Jesse C. Grech, also Cornell, 19; Lieut. James C. Hall, six planes; Lieut. Albert Cantoni, Italian, six planes; Capt. Arthur E. Simons, Leroy E. Garis, Harry M. Smith, Fred B. Wickers, Lieut. George T. Wise, American, and Maj. Maurice Connolly, Representative from the 3d Iowa district, the only congressman to enter the American air service.

Other flyers are Lieuts. Melvin H. Kelleher, Raymond T. Birdsell, John Routon, Jean de St. Mart, George C. McDonald, William P. Sharon, George T. White, Bert R. Blah, Grissom E. Haynes and Guy Stewart. Lieut. Isaac City is engineering officer, Lieut. Albert J. McPherson is detachment commander and H. C. Cruiger traffic officer.

When To Gather Roots and Herbs

For medicinal purposes, roots and herbs should be gathered when their medicinal properties are at their best. For instance, roots of annual plants should be dug just before their flowering season, and roots of biennial or perennial plants after the tops have dried. All these things are taken into consideration in gathering the roots and herbs, many tons of which are used annually in preparing that most successful of all remedies for woman's ills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—Adv.

CAUCUS OF AMERICAN
LEGION TOMORROW

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—Hundreds of delegates arrived today for the three-day caucus of the American Legion, which opens tomorrow.

The temporary executive committee: Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Bonaparte Clark and Eric Wood, chairman, vice chairman and secretary, respectively, appointed at the Paris caucus last March, is here. They emphasize that the organization will be non-partisan and non-political and will be a fraternal organization for world war veterans.

More than 1000 delegates are expected to attend the opening session, as each state is allowed a representation equal to twice its congressional representation. Committees to facilitate the work of the caucus were named today.

The object of the caucus is to draw up a tentative constitution, arrange a place for the first convention next November and decide on a permanent name for the organization. Officers also will be chosen.

More than 4,000,000 are expected to join the association. All who were in the service at any period during the war are eligible to membership.

RECEPTION TO SAILORS AND SOLDIERS

An enthusiastic meeting of the C.M. A.C. was held last evening in the quarters of the organization in Pawtucket street. The meeting was presided over by President Adolphe Brasseur and the attendance was large. Considerable routine business was transacted and the matter of a big celebration for the members of St. Joseph's St. Louis and Notre Dame de Lourdes parishes, who have served Uncle Sam either as soldiers or sailors in the great world war, was discussed at length and it was finally voted to call a meeting of representatives of the various fraternal and social organizations of the city for the purpose of making plans for the big event. Rev. L. N. Bechard, O.M.I., chaplain of the association, Rep. Henry Achin, Navier A. Delisle, Joseph L. Lamoureux and others spoke in favor of the plan and the date of the meeting was set as Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the hall of the association. In the course of the business meeting 23 new members were initiated and a committee was appointed to arrange a game tournament with the members of Club City-Oyens-Americans.

IRISH ENVOYS VISIT FAMILIAR SCENES

DUBLIN, May 7.—Edward F. Dunne of Illinois who is in Ireland as a representative of the Irish societies in the United States yesterday visited Trinity college, where he was educated. Afterwards he drove in a motor car, accompanied by Prof. Edward De Valera, Arthur Griffiths and Count Plunkett, the Sinn Fein leaders, to St. Patrick's college at Maynooth, where he dined with President McCallery.

Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia who is on the same mission as former Gov. Dunne, spent the morning near Carlow, his parental home, going thence by motor to Maynooth. The ecclesiastical students gave the visitors an enthusiastic welcome.

In Dublin nationalist circles the better is expressed that the visit to London of Frank P. Walsh, another of the American delegation is not as stated in connection with private business, but due to negotiations regarding Ireland now proceeding. The Sinn Fein deny this interpretation while unionists assert that Mr. Walsh's visit points to a hitch in obtaining a safe-conduct to Paris for the Sinn Fein leaders. Influential unionists are making strong efforts to prevent the visit of the Sinn Fein to the French capital.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Below is what the press agents of the different theatres say of the current attractions and of others to come.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Once again Miss Jane Salisbury and Mr. Julian Noy, the leading woman and man of the Emerson All Star Players, demonstrate in a most convincing manner their exceptional versatility in the portrayal of stage characters in the presentation of the week's attraction, "Old Lady 21," which is scoring such decided hits with the patrons. Mr. Noy is seen in the role of the elderly sea captain who is forced to sell his house and make provisions for the removal of himself and wife, while Miss Salisbury is seen as the aged wife. Both characterizations are quite out of the ordinary but they are handled in a most acceptable way by both. See the play and be convinced what is said of their work.

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Tarzan, the mysterious—the question mark—holds the centre of attention at the R. F. Keith theatre this week. Thousands have wondered just what he is—and are still wondering. The answer has not yet been made. Everybody will want to look him over, see him decide his own fate, and take a guess at just what he is.

The remainder of the bill is more than ordinarily good. Stephens and Hodge are the classicists of the musical comedy acts, have many followers, and Frank Mullane, the story-teller and singer, is a top-notch quantity all of the time. The Amores Sisters, "those French girls," sing, dance and inject much comedy into their lively songs and dances. Their physical culture stunts are literally a corker. Klein Brothers, in comedy, Aubrey & Riche, dancers, and Frank Mackley, banjoist, complete this remarkably good bill.

THE STRAND

By special arrangement with the owners of the picture, the management of the Strand has been able to secure the use of the great film story, "Out of the Fog," in which the wonderful Russian artist Nazimova is featured, for the last three days of the week. This is done to meet public demand. The picture was scheduled to be shown for the first three days of the week only, but the demand has been so great that the management decided to hold it the full week, if possible. Telegraphic communication with the New York representative, and at extra added expense, consent was granted to hold the picture for the full week. This announcement will, no doubt, meet with the hearty approval of all lovers of high grade photoplays who have been unable to attend the performances earlier in the week. Out of the Fog is a most remarkable picture play and in it the star finds new fields for the demonstration of her exceptional emotional powers and dramatic skill.

This arrangement will provide for a big triple bill for the week-end, and the prices will remain the same. Besides the above, Evelyn Nesbit (Thaw)

LEONARD EAR OIL

Relieves Deafness, Stops Head Noises

Nine out of ten cases of Deafness and Head Noises are caused by catarrhal mucus (matter) in the Eustachian Tube, which connects the nose and the ears. Leonard Ear Oil removes the mucus, opens up the tube and the other air passages of the head, and the result is improved hearing and relief from Head Noises. It is not put in the ears, but is "rubbed in Back of Ears" and inserted in the nostrils, and common sense directions for Care of Hearing, which accompany each bottle, tell you exactly how to take care of your own case. Do not be misled by substitutes or imitations. The only genuine "EAR OIL" is A. O. Leonard Ear Oil. It is the original and has been on the market since 1907, and every year it has relieved hundreds of people of their Ear Troubles. No matter how long you have been deaf, nor how deaf you are or what caused your deafness, or how many things you have already tried which have failed to relieve you, Leonard Ear Oil has relieved many such cases as your own. Why not you?

Joseph Braman, Notary Public No. 221, City and County of New York.

Dear Mr. Leonard—Having had my hearing completely restored by Leonard Ear Oil, I feel it an obligation to let you and others know what it has done for me. My deafness was caused by catarrh and I had been growing worse for years. I had become so deaf I was considering giving up my regular business because of my deafness. It was necessary for me to hear well in my regular work. After using less than two bottles of Leonard Ear Oil I hear as well as ever and am still on my job. Sincerely yours, JOSEPH A. SHOT DOWN BY SAILOR

CHICAGO, May 7.—A man who failed to stand or remove his hat during the playing of the National Anthem is in a hospital today, having been shot twice by a sailor guard after the man had furnished a revolver among hundreds of spectators at a Victory loan celebration yesterday.

The man, who gave his name as Joseph Goldard, was taken to the Bridge hospital with wounds in his arm and thigh, and in addition to the revolver, was found to have a knife and razor.

LOWELL FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION

That the drive for new members by the Lowell Fish and Game association is going along successfully was proven at last night's meeting in Odd Fellows building when 62 applicants were accepted with a single ballot by the vote of the body.

The meeting was called to order by President Simon B. Harris and the records of the annual meeting were read by Secretary Holt. Remarks were made by Senator A. W. Colburn of Braintree and D. S. Ponzner of the Lowell war camp community service. A large amount of routine business was disposed of and a re-stocking committee, in compliance with the request of the state commission was appointed as follows: Secretary Willis S. Holt, Vice President O'Hair and A. E. Ryan.

The new members who were accepted by the organization are as follows:

A. W. Gustafson, Philip McGuire, J. R. Sharpe, Robert B. Riley, Peter G. O'Brien, W. C. Livingston, M. C. Cramble, J. V. O'Brien, W. Newman, R. M. Locke, W. H. Hickey, C. Lawson, Oscar E. Joly, D. W. NEW YORK, May 7.—After almost half a century of transporting persons convicted of crime from the Tombs and other places of detention to railroad stations to start on their journey to prisons, the famous "Black Maria" wagon has been discarded in favor of automobiles. The two horses that have drawn the ancient conveyance for many years, have been pensioned.

Lowell Man Says Goldine Took Rheumatism Out of Knees

Mr. John Cox, 48 East Merrimack st., who is a slacker tender at Massachusetts mill, and well known in this city as one of the greatest sufferers from this disease in Lowell, has said: "For over a year I had rheumatism in my knees. They were swollen badly and so sore I could not stand it to have anything touch them. Nights I had to sleep with the bed clothes between my knees in order to ease the pain. No one knows how I suffered unless they have had it like I did. I felt I must have relief at once, and when I saw how many Lowell people were giving their testimonials to Goldine, and how quick they got help, I decided to try it. I have taken only one bottle and the soreness is all out of my knees, and the swelling has left one knee entirely and is nearly gone from the other. I sleep fine nights now for I am free from pain. I don't think I would have tried Goldine at all if they had published statements from other towns, but being just Lowell people I had faith in it and am glad I did. You may publish my statement as many times as you please for if any one suffered from rheumatism like I did they should know about it. Tell them Goldine is the best rheumatism medicine I ever got hold of and will help them right away. It did me."

Mr. Cox is right when he said, "If you have rheumatism you want relief at once." The fact that fifty people in Lowell have already given their testimonials of the help they have gotten from Goldine is proof that it does the work. Goldine No. 1 is used for stomach, nerve and heart trouble; Goldine No. 2 for rheumatism and kidney trouble. Not one medicine for all diseases; not a patent medicine, but one that has produced the results in Lowell. Come and talk it over with me at Carter & Sherburne's Drug Store. I do not diagnose or prescribe, but will be glad to help you if you need it.

38 KOREAN AGITATORS SENT TO PRISON

SEOUL, Korea, April 18.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Thirty-eight Korean agitators at Pyeongyang have been sentenced to prison for periods ranging from six months to two years. Similar sentences were imposed upon Koreans by the court at Taikoo. About 2400 agitators who were arrested at Seoul and its suburbs have been released by the police after admonition.

A great many public market places in the country have been closed because it was found that disturbances arose on market days.

Three Korean patients who were undergoing treatment for wounds at the Severance missionary hospital, have been removed to jail, the police charging that they were implicated in riots which broke out in the outskirts of Seoul.

SMASH REGULAR ARMY BUILD UP NAT. GUARD

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—The National Guard Association of the United States must work to smash the regular army and build up the national guard, Lieut. Col. Bennett Clark, son of Speaker Champ Clark of the house of representatives, declared in an address at the closing session of the association's convention last night, following his election as president of the organization. He said the regular army should be large enough only to do police duty.

James A. Drane of Washington, following Clark's address said he believed Col. Clark did not really mean what he said when he declared the "regular army should be smashed."

Harvey J. Moss of Washington state, temporary chairman, asked Col. Clark if he wished to modify the assertion. "No," emphasized Clark. "I meant every word I said."

Col. Clark was administration officer of the 35th Division and recently received his discharge.

MYSTERY STORY OF THE WEEK

Tarzan, the unknown, the unfathomable, the missing link of this week's B. F. Keith program is here. Missed train connections caused his absence on Monday, but he took his proper place at the head of the bill yesterday and there will remain, shrouded in mystery, for the remainder of the week. Tarzan looks like an ape, he acts like one, and yet he does many of things humans do. He is one of the biggest sensations ever seen in Lowell, but no every-day critic can attempt to place him in his proper place in the scheme of things. The individual spectator must decide for himself.

MOLLY VARNUM CHAPTER

The annual meeting of the Molly Varnum chapter, D.A.R., was held yesterday afternoon at the Spaulding house in Pawtucket street. The regent, Mrs. Charles E. Howe, presided. After the reading of the minutes, the secretary and treasurer and various committees, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Charles E. Howe, regent; Mrs. Charles C. Baron, vice regent; Miss Julia T. Pevoy, treasurer; Mrs. E. T. Rowell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. George E. Bicknell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Otis L. Humphrey, registrar; Miss Florence Young, historian; Mrs. Laforest Beals, Mrs. Rufus E. Corlew, Miss Abbie M. Morrison and Mrs. Edward M. Tucke, board of managers.

VOTE TO HOLD DRILL

A special meeting of Camp Four, Uniform Rank, I.O.O.F., M.U., was held last evening in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, with W. C. Frank B. Bowles in the chair. The attendance was large and considerable business was transacted. It was voted to hold a drill on the Bunting grounds on Friday evening, May 16 at 6.30 o'clock, and also to go to Maynard June 1 to participate in the memorial services to be conducted by Assabet lodge. Other routine business was transacted and interesting remarks were made by Brig. Gen. Willis Bowles, William Hudson, John W. Foster and Harry Stack.

LOS ANGELES PRIMARIES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 7.—Returns early today from nearly one-half the vote in the primary yesterday indicated that Meredith P. Snyder, former mayor, who was leading in the mayoralty race and Mayor F. T. Woodman, would be the nominees to go before the people at the election in June.

Ward 2, Chicago, has just had a cleanup, and the total number of tin cans collected and piled at eight points in the ward was 109,557.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisided coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Multisided coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

Frail, Sickly Children Improve Rapidly on Vinol

The reason we so strongly recommend Vinol for frail, sickly children is because it is a non-secret remedy which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptones and Glycophosphates—but no oil—the very elements needed to build them up. It is delicious to the taste, and children love it.

These Two Mothers Have Proved This.

"My little daughter, 13 years old, overworked and was run-down, tired all the time, nervous, had headaches, couldn't eat and had to stay out of school. Vinol has built her up. She has a good appetite, no more headaches and has returned to school again."—Mrs. Lester Andrews.
"My little boy was weak, puny, and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. Vinol was recommended and it built up his strength and made him healthy. Now he romps and plays like other children. We certainly believe in Vinol for children."—Harley Clay.

SIX IMPORTANT QUESTIONS

There are six important questions the prospective buyer of advertising space in a Lowell newspaper may reasonably and logically ask himself in regard to the service the paper can give him and the character of the people reached by the paper. These six questions are as follows:

1. Has the newspaper a large circulation in the advertiser's trade territory?
2. Is this circulation representative of the buying power of that territory?
3. Do the newspaper's readers want what the advertiser has to sell?
4. If they do, are they able to buy what the advertiser has to sell?
5. Will the advertiser's message be read by them in the evening—the most favorable time for consideration?
6. Is this newspaper the most effective means of reaching a vast majority of possible buyers of the advertiser's product?

Examine all the Lowell papers conscientiously and see if they satisfactorily all the requirements as intimated by these six questions. Some of them fall far short of it. But there is one paper that registers 100 per cent. all right in the test. It is

LAWRENCE STRIKE

Public sympathy is with the city of Lawrence in its prolonged trouble with a class of mill operatives who have made unreasonable demands for increased wages and shorter hours, and refuse to return to work until their demands are conceded. It is their privilege to remain idle as long as they please and in the exercise of this right nobody is justified in interfering with them or in dictating what they should do. On the other hand, however, these strikers should remember that the mill owners have rights that must be respected. They have their money invested in manufacturing enterprises and they know what they can afford to pay and what they cannot afford. It is their business and not that of the operatives to say how long the mills will run or what rate of wages shall be paid. We surmise that the mill owners in this case, as in others, would meet reasonable demands half way if they did not find an attempt to coerce them by revolutionary agitators imported from abroad. To such agitators they will grant no concession and they will fight any such coercion to the last ditch. In doing so, they are only exercising their rights as American citizens and as business men who have their capital invested in the textile industry.

The operatives have resorted to violence against the majority who have remained at work and as a result, the city of Lawrence has been obliged to call assistance from the police departments of neighboring cities. The police authorities have also secured a machine gun to be manned by discharged soldiers who have been trained to the use of such weapons during the war. It is to be hoped that there will never be any need of resorting to such extreme measures to preserve public order, but apparently the city authorities of Lawrence are determined that if riots be precipitated and if the strikers continue to attack those who choose to remain at work, serious results may follow. There may be bloodshed and innocent people are likely to suffer as well as those who are guilty. For this reason, it is hoped that the strikers who are following the counsel of revolutionary leaders and are opposed by the regular textile unions, will see that their best policy is to declare the strike off and return to work.

If they should do this, we are satisfied that the mill owners will do what is fair in regard to wages and hours of work; but they will not be coerced by the I.W.O., the socialists or the Bolsheviks.

FIRST STREET

First street still remains an eyesore to our city and, in some ways, also, a source of danger to those who pass over that route in automobiles. It is rather disgraceful to our city that north and south of our splendid state roads exist, while within the city limits there is such a detestable piece of road as that which leads out from Bridge street to the city line. The county has increased by $5000 the sum which it intended to expend for the construction of the river boulevard, and the state will do its share. It is now up to the city of Lowell to furnish its quota of the expense. That alone holds back the work. This appropriation should be made without delay. The project has been in the air for a good many years, and in view of the situation and the need of having a decent road to connect our city with the state highway, the city should do its share. The money to be appropriated for this improvement would be well spent. The state highway commission will do the work, but it will not make a start until the necessary appropriation is made.

The question of starting work on this river boulevard may be tangled up with the project of constructing an athletic field on the First street oval. Thus the whole matter would be delayed. We feel that the boulevard should be constructed as planned, leaving the athletic field to be considered afterwards. If the boulevard is to be thrown into curves to accommodate the athletic field, its value would be greatly lessened and a source of danger would be provided which the present plan of the engineers would eliminate.

The municipal council should deal with this question as soon as possible, in order to avoid complications which may put the whole matter over for another year.

GEN. WOOD'S BOOM

The republican leaders are putting out presidential booms for different men, apparently for the purpose of finding out which will appeal most strongly to party sentiment. Some time ago, a boom was launched for Gen. Pershing, but it aroused so little enthusiasm that the matter has been dropped. Now it is Gen. Wood that is being boomed as the prospective party candidate. He is a protégé of the late Col. Roosevelt, a man who was jumped ahead in military matters in the Spanish-American war, apparently without any particular reason beyond the fact that he stood well with the ruling powers of the time.

Early in the war, there was a great appeal in favor of sending him across the ocean in charge of a division; but President Wilson did not see fit to follow the suggestion of Gen. Wood's backers. Consequently, he remained at home training men for the service, and hence he will be unable to capitalize in a political way any glory from the battlefield. He imagines he has a grievance even as had Col. Roosevelt, because of not being selected for a high command in France.

It appears that Hon. Charles F. Hughes is remaining quietly in the background awaiting developments, although by political custom he should be the logical candidate.

Hiram Johnson of California, is boomed by his friends and largely also by himself as a Rooseveltian candidate. He is not the slump of candidate, however, that the republicans want and hence his boom is not received with much enthusiasm. Thus far, the republican leaders have been as unsuccessful in finding a suitable candidate as they have been in working up campaign issues.

Unless the democratic defeat themselves by mismanagement, they do not seem to be in much danger from any plans, policies or even candidates put forward by the republican party.

PEACE TREATY

The German commissioners at Paris will today have placed in their hands a "scrap of paper" of more than usual importance, and one which they are not likely to tear up and cast to the winds as they did with the treaty that guaranteed the neutrality of Belgium. The Germans see that the terms of peace are more acceptable and more lenient than they themselves would offer an enemy under like conditions. Had they been the victors instead of the vanquished, they would pile burdens of debt upon France, Belgium, Italy, England, the United States and every other power that opposed them. They would indeed be the dictators of the world and would have realized their dream of "Deutschland über Alles." But a kind fate has decreed otherwise and the Germans realize that resistance or refusal to sign the treaty of peace would only bring upon them fresh troubles which they are unprepared to meet.

RECALLING THE DECLARATION

To immortalize the signers of the senatorial "round robin" against the League of Nations, the Republican Publicity association, apparently as the proxy of the Republican National committee, issued a colorful lithograph entitled "The Second Declaration of Independence." Embedded in the text of this "declaration" were the portraits of republican senators who sought imperishable fame—and votes—by their sudden and violent outcry against President Wilson's proposal.

But it has become evident that these senators fear this particular brand of immortality. It threatened to become undying obloquy. Unlike the signers of the true Declaration of Independence, these senators have not continued steadfast. They have begun to weaken and qualify and apologize. And now the "declaration"—portraits, Old English text, illuminations and all—has been withdrawn from circulation. Copies of it will be more inaccessible in a few weeks than the original declaration is after 143 years. The signature of Senator Penrose is thus denied the chance to grow as familiar to the eyes of American school children as that of John Hancock!

In this suppression of the "second declaration" there is comfort for the public, as there must be also for the republican senators. It evidences a better appreciation of American sentiment than the issuance of this grotesque document did. It purported to be a manifesto of independence. Developments in the last two months have convinced the public, if not its republican signers, that it was an exhibition of impudence.

RETURNING SOLDIERS

There is some complaint from soldiers who have returned from Europe as to the crowded conditions of the transports. It is not surprising that dissatisfaction should arise, considering the fact that some of the transports carried from 12,000 to 14,000 men. It must be impossible to provide adequately for the comfort and convenience of so many men upon any ship, however large. There is apparently no need of crowding the men like cattle on a transport. The war is over now. There are no submarines lying in wait, but still there is the possibility of accident from floating mines and this alone should be sufficient to prevent the loading of so many men upon a single transport. If there were ships enough to convey munitions, food and soldiers across the ocean during the war, surely there is a sufficient number now to bring the soldiers home without overcrowding.

Jess Willard, by present report, is to fight in Toledo, July 4th. At last we know where Jess wants to fight. It apparently wasn't in France and among the boom, boom stuff, by a long shot. One of the most derisive things you can say about an American is—to pick up a bit of slang—that he "makes a sucker play." Well, every red blooded American who separates himself from his good money to see Jess increase his already substantial fortune next July 4th, and does so in knowing that Jess refused not only to fight for democracy in France but for the war charities in America, will be making the worst kind of a "sucker play."

Maj. Gen. Wood and his supporters may think they have found a Moses, but here in New England we who know something about this alleged New Hampshire prophet could tell the general that all who accept him as a leader, invariably never get out of the wilderness, and remain in the same complexity of mind the original Moses is said to have been in when the light went out.

A Boston paper says Secretary Daniels lunched with the king Wednesday at Windsor, and that it was probably a red letter day for one of them. It arouses one's curiosity. Which of the gentlemen does the Boston paper believe to be a tiresome luncheon guest?

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

I know of several Lowell men who are considering the idea of having two telephone lines in their homes, one for business and the other for gossiping. One man told me today that he had tried for 45 minutes to get his home, just after a prominent wedding, and because his business was not a matter of life or death, the operator would not interrupt the conversation to permit him to ask one short question. It would seem the telephone company might establish some sort of a system by which operators would be allowed to cut off a line for a few seconds if the matter is not one of grave importance. I am quite certain that in the majority of cases neither of the parties using the line would complain if the circumstances were explained.

We are in receipt of a beautifully engraved invitation to attend the Pan-American Aeronautic convention, exposition and aeronautic contests being held this month at Atlantic City, N. J. It is not because we received the invitation that this paragraph is being written, but because of the fact that a convention is being held which has to do with the use of the air as travel lanes. Would you have dreamed it 10 years ago? With us you say no. Shoemen, clothing salesmen, college fraternities, etc., meet in glorious convention assemblies yearly without causing very much ado among the populace in general, but here is an actual gathering of airmen, fliers, pilots and men interested in the construction and development of stable air vehicles. Here are just a few of the most important "numbers" on the program: Contest for the Pulitzer trophy to be awarded to the aviator covering the greatest distance in non-stop flight from anywhere to Atlantic City, or from Atlantic City to anywhere during May; contest for the Atlanta Journal, $1750 cash prizes to be awarded to the three aviators who make the best record in non-stop flight from Atlanta to Atlantic City carrying the Atlanta Journal; contest for the Curtis marine flying trophy and $1000 prize for aviator who makes the longest flight with seaplane; contest for the Boston Globe trophy and $1750 in cash prizes for the aviator making the best record from Boston to Atlantic City; the same prizes for flights from Detroit and Cleveland offered by newspapers of those two cities; $3000 aero efficiency prizes for aeroplanes of different horsepower; $25,000 for the Atlantic City Aero club as a transatlantic flight prize; Col. William A. Bishop "Aero of Aero" trophy contest from Toronto to Atlantic City or from Atlantic City to Toronto; demonstrations and tests of aircraft and motors to prospective purchasers and government representatives. And lots more.

I understand that the people who are conducting the publicity end of the Fifth Victory Loan drive are not sparing any expense to put the necessity of the campaign firmly in the mind of the public. Of course, the newspapers of the country as well as their advertisers are devoting thousands of dollars worth of space to the interests of the loan, but in addition, the speaking campaign organized for the Fifth loan is said to outrank any of its predecessors. Civilians who have patriotically given of their time in past campaigns to put the loan across have been offered $10 a day and expenses to go on a speaking tour, while soldiers are getting $5 a day for such service, my informant tells me. I don't believe that there have been in previous campaigns such demonstrations as that which we had here in Lowell last Friday and certainly, that must cost a penny for transportation alone.

Here is a communication that describes an instance in which a group of boys performed a real act of kindness and charity in a truly boyish fashion:

Lowell, Mass., May 1st, 1919.

To the Man About Town:
The following is a true story of our attention some few weeks ago and after investigating, we find the facts are true.

Two boys, who attend the Sacred Heart Parish school, were rather in a perplexed state as to how funds for the purchase of shoes and other little necessities for one of their less fortunate playmates, who was in dire need of these articles.

After much planning, they finally decided the best way was to "run a show" for the night, clearing out of boxes, hoards, etc., and made a very fine haul after they had created a stir and decorated the stage with various borrowed flairs. Benches were constructed from the boards, boxes, etc., found on the premises, and a sign was made and erected outside advertising the date, price of admission, etc. For children the fee was 5 cents which entitled one to a seat, but these young financiers also advertised that a less amount would be accepted but there would be no seat for less than that.

The main thing now was to procure the "talent" for the show. There was Johnnie's little sister who spoke great pieces with her doll and carriage, etc., and did not stand over the words or forget; there was Bill's sister and her chum and two of the church choir girls. There was also a few who could do "fancy dances" and had costumes for the same. In fact they were finally obliged to refuse some of the proffered entertainers.

When the show was about to start one of the revenue officers, hearing of the entertainment and its object, put in an appearance for admission and was promptly charged 45 cents and was given a seat in the front row an armchair being hastily borrowed from a nearby house. After the show he said he got his money's worth.

Needless to add, the show was a grand success and when the total amount received was counted, there was a little less than $5. After the shoes and other articles were purchased and given the boy, there was enough left to furnish the "talent" and the helpers with ice cream cones.

We think these boys are to be commended for their very good work.

The girls of Rockford, Ill., have formed a "Cootie Club." Their slogan is, "We stick closer than a brother." It may be some comfort to know, however, that tickets and time-tables are still obtainable at the railroad depot.

A good many have been heard to say that the $300,000 spent for the celebration in Boston would have been spent to better advantage had it been distributed among the soldier boys in whose honor it was staged.

Mrs. India Meyer, Greenville, O., accuses her husband of possessing a "hostile mind," and asks for a divorce. A fellow with that sort of a mind and a few bricks in his arms would be a nuisance around the house, wouldn't he? We'll say so.

No, little sister, there's nothing wild or fabulous about the members of the Zoo club. We don't know why "Zoo" was picked as the name for the club. But we can assure you there is nothing about any of the members, so far as our acquaintance carries, that savors of the jungle or circus menagerie in any way. Furthermore, we can state on good authority that the fellow who attempted to climb a tree in Merrimack street yesterday was not a member of the Zoo club.

The Name of Jeanne d'Arc

Your correspondent Owen Merrihew hopes to see the Maid of Orleans known under her right name, Jeanne d'Arc, and not Jeanne d'Arc, as generally used. He also claims that the name "d'Arc" is clearly Celtic, the same as the Irish Darragh or the Scotch Darrach.

Whenever he will look into the history of La Pucelle he will see his mistakes. There are only two derivations for that name. Her ancestors might have hailed from a place Arc—and I remember years ago to have seen her ancestry traced to some Arc in Italy. Her mother's case is similar: called Isabeau Romee de Vouthan, she was not a noblewoman but simply came from the village of Vouthan.

D'Arc is written in French also D'Arques. And as the family bore in the coat of arms bow and arrows we readily see how they became "the archers," or "from the archery."

When Jeanne was ennobled the king permitted her to bear the name Du Lys. This name we find as Day, Dail, Dailly, Dailly, Dailie, Dailly, Dailly, Dailly, Du Lix, Dullix, Dailix, Dailix, Nobody would claim Jeanne D'Arc as Irish. These encrptions are due to the "thick language of the Lorraine clime."

As far as nobility is concerned, the "d'Arc" did not signify it in Jeanne d'Arc's time, nor was the apostrophe used in the 15th century. One wrote then Darc as well as Dorleans and Darcencon.—Letter in New York World.

To hear, to inhale, to see,
And the world is ever and bright,
The dawn shines sweet with light,
And a perfume haunts the night.

The sky and the sea and hill,
And the clamorous tongue is still,
But the pent heart finds release,
In the dream of a deep, deep peace,
Till the soul of the world shall cease.

ANTI-AMERICAN ATTACKS IN JAPANESE PRESS

TOKIO, May 7.—(By the Associated Press)

The anti-American campaign in the Japanese press continues with renewed force. Up to the present no serious overt acts have been committed against Americans or American property. Evidence exists, however, that the newspaper agitation, which has spread to virtually all the leading journals of the empire, is inciting popular feeling against Americans and thus paving the way to possible open demonstrations.

Representative Japanese deplore the press campaign and have begun to criticize the government for its failure to check the literary outbursts, on the ground that they are going so far that they are liable to engender ill-feeling. The participants in a mass meeting held Sunday, at which some anti-American speeches were delivered, announced their intention of continuing the demonstration in front of the American embassy. The police, however, interfered and prevented this step.

The belief is expressed here that the basis for the agitation is fear of the growing influence of the United States in international affairs, as evidenced by her position at the peace conference and that it will act as a curb on what are regarded as Japan's legitimate aspirations in China and Siberia.

Yesterday's newspapers printed articles accusing Americans and British in China with exciting the Chinese to her position at the peace conference and that it will act as a curb on what are regarded as Japan's legitimate aspirations in China and Siberia.

At a meeting of the Kokuminto party held in Osaka, a resolution was passed declaring that recognition of the Monroe Doctrine by the League of Nations should be interpreted as recognition of Japan's predominance in the far east.

Last evening final arrangements for the affair were made by the committee of 100 in charge, and the following program was mapped out: Concert by K. of C. orchestra, 8 to 9; grand march at 9:10; general dancing 9:30 until 1 a. m. During intermission ice will be served. The hall has been decorated more elaborately for this occasion than ever before, and as every member of the council who has been in the national service is expected to appear in uniform, the scene should be a most brilliant one.

In addition to all these attractive features, the intrinsic purpose of the ball itself—the benefiting of local charities—should serve to draw a capacity attendance. Four local organizations, St. John's hospital, St. Peter's orphanage, the French-American orphanage and the K. of C. guild, will be the beneficiaries of the affair and the entire proceeds will be divided among these organizations.

In addition to Governor Coolidge and Congressman Rogers, various state officers of the order, leading military and naval officers and municipal officials will be present to make the ball one of the most successful and auspicious events ever conducted by Lowell council.

WILL MADE DURING BATTLE DISALLOWED

PITTSFIELD, May 7.—While under artillery fire in France in April, 1918, Private Michael Mierzowski of Co. F, 104th Infantry, made his will on two sheets of Y.M.C.A. paper, which he mailed to his mother two days before he was killed, April 13. Mayor William C. Moulton filed the will for probate yesterday. Beginning the will, Mierzowski wrote: "We are in such a place that my head is nearly split with bombardment."

He inclosed an insurance card and cautioned his mother to keep it, writing, "If I do not come back then you will get $5000." The court disallowed the will because of a technicality. The mother, Mary Mierzowski, will, however, receive the insurance by regular payments.

NEW GOVERNOR GENERAL OF CANADA

LONDON, May 7.—It is understood that the Duke of Devonshire will shortly retire as governor general of Canada and the Mail says that the office will be offered to the Earl of Athlone, brother of Queen Mary, who would have succeeded the duke previously had it not been for his duties with the British army.

CAPT. "ARCHIE" ROOSEVELT AND MRS. ROOSEVELT IN BOSTON FOR VACATION

BOSTON, May 7.—Capt. "Archie" Roosevelt arrived in Boston yesterday from New York and he and Mrs. Roosevelt are the guests of ex-Lieut. Gov. Grafton D. Cushing at his home, 29 Chestnut street.

Last night Capt. Roosevelt said he was in town for a few days' vacation and has made no definite plans for the future.

Mrs. Roosevelt was formerly Miss Grace Lockwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Clair Lockwood of 230 Commonwealth avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood are now in New Orleans.

Yesterday at the Copley-Plaza Capt. Roosevelt met Lieut. G. H. Pendleton of New York city, of the 15th Machine Gun Battalion, who wears two wound stripes. The two swapped war experiences.

A Gardiger, Mr. man went fishing and caught four brook trout and a rabbit. While he was fishing down a stream he saw the rabbit near him, and for fun let out his line and dropped the hook down in front of bunny; then he gave a little jerk on the line, and the hook caught the rabbit in the lower jaw.

Treaty of Peace

agreed as follows:

Relations to be Resumed

From the coming into force of the present treaty the state of war will terminate. From the moment and subject to the provisions of this treaty official relations with Germany and with each of the German states, will be resumed by the allied and associated powers.

SECTION ONE

League of Nations.—The covenant of the League of Nations constitutes section one of the peace treaty which places upon the league many specific places upon the league many specific in addition to its general duties. It may question Germany at any time for a violation of the neutralized zone east of the Rhine as a threat against the world's peace. It will appoint three of the five members of the Saar commission, oversee its regime, and carry out the plebiscite. It will appoint the high commissioner of Danzig, guarantee the independence of the free city and arrange for treaties between Danzig and Germany and Poland. It will work out the mandatory system to be applied to the former German colonies, and act as a final court in part of the plebiscites of the Belgian-German frontier, and in disputes as to the Kiel canal, and decide certain of the economic and financial problems.

An international conference on labor is to be held in October under its direction, and another on the international control of ports, waterways and railways is foreshadowed.

Membership.—The members of the league will be the signatories of the covenant and other states invited to accede, who must lodge a declaration of accession without reservation within two months. A new state, dominion, or colony may be admitted provided its admission is agreed by two-thirds of the assembly. A state may withdraw upon giving two years' notice, if it has fulfilled all its international obligations.

Assembly.—The assembly will consist of representatives of the members of the league and will meet at stated intervals. Voting will be by states, each member will have one vote and not more than three representatives.

Council.—The council will consist of representatives of the five great allied powers, together with representatives of four members selected by the assembly from time to time; it may cooperate with additional states and will meet at least once a year. Members not represented will be invited to send a representative when questions affecting their interests are discussed. Voting will be by states. Each state will have one vote and not more than one representative. Decision taken by the assembly and council must be unanimous except in regard to procedure, and in certain cases specified in the covenant and in the treaty, where decisions will be by a majority.

Armaments.—The council will formulate plans for a reduction of armaments for consideration and adoption. These plans will be revised every 10 years. Once they are with any party to the dispute which complies with it; if a member fails to carry out the necessary measures. The council will formulate plans for the establishment of a permanent court of international justice to determine international disputes or to give advisory opinions. Members who do not submit their case to arbitration must accept the jurisdiction of the assembly. If the council, less the parties to the dispute, is unanimously agreed upon the rights of the members agree that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which complies with its recommendations. In case a recommendation by the assembly is adopted, no member must exceed the armaments fixed without concurrence of the council. All members will exchange full information as to armaments and programs, and a permanent commission will advise the council on military and naval questions.

Prevention of War.—Upon any war, or threat of war, council will meet to consider what common action shall be taken. Members are pledged to submit matters of dispute to arbitration or inquiry and not to resort to war until three months after the award. Members agree to carry out an arbitral award and not to go to war concurred in by all its members represented on the council and a simple majority of the rest, less the parties to the dispute, will have the force of a unanimous recommendation by the council. In either case, if the necessary agreement cannot be secured, the members reserve the right to take such action as may be necessary for the maintenance of right and justice. Members resorting to war in disregard of the covenant, will immediately be debarred from all intercourse with other members. The council will in such cases consider what military or naval action can be taken by the league collectively for the protection of the covenants and will afford facilities to members co-operating in this enterprise.

PROPOSE TO FIGHT BOTH DRY LAWS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 7.—The constitutionality of both the war dry law, effective July 1, and the constitutional amendment effective next January was attacked by delegates attending the annual convention of the National Liquor Dealers' association, which opened here yesterday.

A decision was virtually reached to fight both measures and the opinion was freely expressed that the country would not go "dry" until next January, if at all. Politicians who were "cajoled or driven into a panic of fear to enact national prohibition" were denounced by the delegates and by Pres. William Seckel.

"President Wilson has learned the sentiment of the soldiers in the field, and he has heard from the folks at home, who were caught napping and did not realize that the constitutional amendment deprived them of their rights and liberties," declared Pres. George Carroll of the New Jersey Liquor Dealers' league.

Mr. Seckel declared that when the call was issued in August, 1918, for a national conference in Philadelphia they found the prohibitionists had "stacked the cards on them." He called for a large fund to conduct the defense campaign and asserted that the "battle is on." The congressional committee's report was particularly bitter in its arraignment of congress.

NINE PERISHED IN COLUMBUS FIRE

COLUMBUS, O., May 7.—The death last night of Mrs. Ida Belle Joyce, 35 years old, brought the number of dead in Monday night's apartment building fire to nine. Mrs. Joyce was the first of the injured in hospitals to die, although Charles Speakman, whose wife leaped to her death, cannot live, physicians say. Twelve others in hospitals are seriously hurt. Eight of the dead perished in the building and from leaping from its upper floors.

MURDER OF YOUNG TEACHER CLEANED UP

GREENSBURG, Penn., May 7.—Mystery surrounding the murder of Miss Emma Austrow, aged 19, of Latrobe, near here, was cleared late Monday, according to Sergt. McLaughlin of the state constabulary, when James Crawford, 35, is said to have confessed that he was a party to the crime and implicated another man, who is under arrest. The latter's name is being withheld until he has been examined by authorities.

According to the police, Crawford, who resides near the Derry Township schoolhouse, where Miss Austrow was a teacher, said that his accomplice shot the girl when she refused to accompany them.

A report from Latrobe says that a mob of 200 persons quickly formed when it became known that authorities at Greensburg had announced that James Crawford had confessed that he took part in the murder of Miss Emma Austrow, the 19-year-old school teacher of this city. Authorities pleaded with the crowd to disperse, but instead the mob boarded three automobile trucks and started on the way to Greensburg.

MR. LAVIGNE BUYS MORE PROPERTY

Frank Lavigne, the local liquor dealer, has purchased the real estate at the corner of Mt. Washington and Pawtucket streets. This property consists of a beautiful reinforced concrete structure containing six tenements. In addition there is also a large tract of land in Mt. Washington street. Mr. Lavigne has bought from Dr. George Constantinos and the final papers were signed today. The property is assessed for $3150.

Mr. Lavigne owns several houses in Walker street and Moody street, his last purchase being that of the three large blocks known as Gregoire's place in Moody street, which is assessed for over $15,000 and which was formerly owned by Avila Sawyer.

Learn to see more, hear more, taste, smell and touch more accurately. Exercise the senses deliberately every day.

1.—Put aside unhealthy images and ideas. Don't fight them particularly, but simply turn the attention to something interesting and healthy.

2.—Increase the accuracy and rapidity of your thinking. Exercise the mind while at work and at play; the good mind is both firm and swift.

3.—Strengthen and control your attention. Always attend wholly to the matter in hand; your capacity will increase by this exercise. Never let attention dwell on the useless or the painful.

4.—Study your own normal positions and movements, and adopt them consciously when standing or sitting. Your natural attitudes are the best for you.

5.—Learn to relax. Muscular relaxation removes fatigue, both physical and mental.

6.—Learn to practice. If you find a thing hard to do but desirable, figure out exercises. Your capacity will rise along the well known "practice curve."

to complete the city's quota. Some of this is in sight, but how much no one knows. The team reports are just as much a mystery to the campaign managers as they are to the public at large, but too much faith must not be put in the premature predictions that everything will come out all right. Everything will not come out all right unless every man and woman does his and her share. With the rest of New England and entire country, Lowell faces a hard task and if obligations are forgotten or deliberately set aside, the loan will fail and the splendid records of our previous loans will be marred beyond repair.

A national bank examiner in the city yesterday said that he could not understand why the savings banks of the country didn't take every possible cent in subscriptions they could lay their hands on, even to the limit of going into debt by so doing. He said it will be a long time before the government presents the opportunity to get in on such a sweet and safe proposition as the present bond issue, especially from the savings bank standpoint as they are tax exempt.

Several of the Lowell banks are considering the question of increasing their original purchases and one or two of these may be reported at tonight's meeting, which will be addressed by Com. John Jacob Rogers. There are also several other large subscriptions to be reported by teams and it may be that the city will be able to see clear water ahead by tomorrow evening.

The New England loan committee has offered four captured German cannons to the four New England towns or cities having the largest percentage of individual subscriptions to the present loan in their respective classes. The classes are designated as follows: Over 50,000, between 20,000 and 50,000 and under 20,000 population. The number of subscriptions will be decided by the official returns in the hands of the Federal Reserve bank in Boston when the loan has closed.

With the days of the Victory loan drive becoming fewer Lowell's chances of having an airplane flying overhead as a campaign feature are daily growing less. Lawrence has had a plane. Boston a whole flock of them and today little Concord, N. H., is experiencing the brand new sensation of seeing the travelling "Flying Circus" do stunts over the New Hampshire capital building. The planes of the travelling stunt artists passed through Lowell last night in express cars, but that is just about as near as the city will come to seeing any air vehicles for the present.

The idea of having a machine bring a bale of cotton here from the south and have one of our dandy mills transform it into print cloth to be flown back again seems to have stagnated. Mayor Thompson has been carrying on wire correspondence with Capt. Charles J. Glidden of the air service and the last word received by the Lowell executive was to the effect that notice would be forwarded when the plans for the flight were completed. As yet no word has been received and it begins to look like a "never."

The Lowell and it could be arranged, in fact is arranged now, and the city would give the visiting airman and his wife of the town the welcome of his young life. The local public is crazy to see a plane and is considerably wrought up over the fact that rival Lawrence was able to pull strings hard enough to get one while we go "airshipless." The fact that a dozen or more plans passed through here last night only adds insult to injury and greatly aggravates the city's wounded pride. Why not by 'em over the city, and let us at least get a peek at them, instead of sending them through to New Hampshire via the B. & N. without as much as "we are sorry."

Daily Health Talks

The Best Way to Treat
Constipation

BY S. C. BABCOCK, M. D.

The medical books name many drugs that will move the bowels. The drug store shelves are loaded down with laxatives, purgatives and pills. The trouble with most of them is that they are only a temporary relief. The effect is short-lived. Constipated people know that pills work all right for a little while, but they soon lose their effect, and a change has to be made to something else. The constant taking of pills results in a form of bowel inactivity that is difficult to cure. The system becomes so accustomed to laxative drugs that the organs just won't work without them, and so the pill habit becomes a bad one. Constipation used to be treated by the use of Pile Ointment, Dr. Pierce's, Buffalo, N. Y., seems to have the right idea. He says the bowels should first be gently moved with Pile Ointment. Pile Ointment, in the meantime, laxative foods only should be eaten. Figs, prunes, olive oil, spinach, bran, vegetables and fruits are fine for constipation. Chew every bite thoroughly, eat little meat, and be as active as possible. Now, doesn't that seem sensible? Pile Ointment will start the bowels working right; then it is up to you to keep them right by right eating. Try Pile Ointment for sick headache, coated tongue, biliousness, dizziness, torpid liver or break up a cold. They are just what Dr. Pierce's Anodyne Pile Ointment will overcome any case that can be overcome by medical treatment. Try it right now.

Dr. Pierce's Anodyne Tablets are intended for people who suffer from kidney disorders—whose backs ache, and whose systems are over-run with uric acid. Nearly everybody has too much uric acid. Anodyne Tablets dissolve uric acid quickly, as they are made double strength.

U. S. SEAPLANES MAY START TOMORROW

NEW YORK, May 7.—Commander John H. Towers in charge of the United States Navy's proposed transatlantic flight, announced today that weather forecasts were fairly favorable for a start tomorrow morning on the first day's cruise to Halifax.

Despite a steady rainfall, he said, the NC-1 would be taken out today for a flight to adjust controls. The NC-3 and NC-4, he stated, were ready to take the air and would not leave their hangars today.

ECONOMIC EXPERTS IN STORMY SESSION

PARIS, May 7.—(Ilavus).—The discussion at the meeting of the allied and German economic experts at Versailles yesterday was very spirited, the Journal says. Most of the discussion concerned the exchange of iron ore from Lorraine for German coal. The newspaper adds:

"Finally the energy and good sense of the allies had the better of German stubbornness."

The Petit Parisien says there will be a maximum delay of one month before the signing of the peace treaty, according to the Havas Agency.

DEATHS

FITZGERALD—Mr. James Fitzgerald, a resident of Centralville for over 50 years and a devout and constant attendant of St. Michael's church since its organization, died this morning at his home, 21 West Third street, after a long illness which he bore with true Christian fortitude. Mr. Fitzgerald was born in Ireland and came to Lowell with his parents when a small boy and has made his home in Centralville since. He was one of the pioneer supporters and builders of St. Michael's parish, and a member of the Holy Name society since it was organized. He is survived by his wife, Margaret, three daughters, Misses May and Annie Fitzgerald and Mrs. Daniel Scullin, and two sons, Joseph and James Fitzgerald, all of Lowell.

FARRINGTON—Southwell Farrington died yesterday. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Myra Blanche Farrington.

INGALLS—Frank A. Ingalls, aged 14 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingalls, died this morning at the home of his parents, 11 Osgood avenue. YAKON—Joseph, aged 7 months and 1 day, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Yakon, died yesterday at the home of his parents, 78 Worthen street. Burial took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon in St. Michael's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers Amodeo Archambault & Sons.

RAFFERTY—Paul Rafferty, aged 3 years, 11 months and 2 days, died last evening at the home of his parents, George and Lena Constantino Rafferty, 9 Basset street. He leaves besides his parents, four brothers.

FUNERALS

BOYLES—The funeral services of Mrs. Fannie M. Boyles took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert C. Gault, 1001 North Main street, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Ernest C. Bartlett, pastor of the Grace Centre Congregational church, officiating. Miss Anna Boyles sang appropriate selections. The bearers were Robert C. Gault, Harold Fox, Walter P. Thibault and Albert Tully. Burial was in St. Michael's cemetery where the burial service was read by Rev. Mr. Bartlett. The funeral was under the direction of Undertakers Young & Blake.

DUFFY—The funeral of Lester T. Duffy was held from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Duffy, 175 Westford street, yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Asa Reed Dills, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church. There were many beautiful floral offerings. Burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Geo. W. Hooley.

FOSTER—The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Foster took place this morning at 9:30 from her late home, 6 West Burnside avenue, and was very largely attended. The services were very largely attended. The bearers were relatives and friends. At 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Michael's church by Rev. Thomas Heagerty. The Gregorian chant was sung by the choir, the solos being sustained by Mr. Thomas P. Boulger and Miss Margaret Griffin. The choir sang "The Lord's Prayer." The bearers were Messrs. James Riley, James Proctor, William Marley, James Collins, William Reed and Patrick Kent. There were many beautiful floral offerings and spiritual bouquets. The burial took place in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery where the first prayers were read at the grave by Rev. Thomas Heagerty. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertakers Young & Blake.

McNEAGOR—The funeral services of John McNeagor took place yesterday at the home of Young & Blake, 1001 North Main street, at 10 o'clock. The services were conducted by Rev. George Street, pastor of the Holy Trinity Greek church where services were held. Burial took place in Westlawn cemetery.

LEMPERIS—The funeral of George Lemperis took place yesterday afternoon from the home of C. H. Molloy's Sons and was largely attended. The funeral procession included a band and about 100 of the friends of the deceased walked as an escort to the body to the Holy Trinity Greek church where services were held. Burial took place in Westlawn cemetery.

SALVATION ARMY HAS STRIKING POSTER

For the publicity work which will aid the Salvation Army in its appeal to the people of Lowell for the contribution in the week of May 19 of $25,000 for the home service fund of the organization, copies of a striking poster arrived at the local headquarters today.

This picture, which will be prominently displayed in the streets and stores of Lowell, is the work of Fred Duncan, a designer of poster and magazine covers. It depicts the work the Salvation Army performs among the poor. The central figure is a Salvationist. The poster prominently shows the now famous slogan of the Salvation Army, "A man may be down, but he's never out," and the cause for which the appeal is made.

Adjutant Clark announced today that the Lowell Elks have pledged themselves to do their best to put the organization over the top in the coming drive, and have elected Samuel Scott as chairman of a committee to organize teams to help in securing subscriptions when the campaign opens.

HELD IN $500 ON CHARGE OF OPERATING AN ILLEGAL WHISKY STILL.

BOSTON, May 7.—Samuel Forsyth of Salem who was arrested Monday in Bevery charged with operating an illegal whisky still, pleaded not guilty before Federal Commissioner Hayes today. He was released under $500 bail and the case set down for a hearing May 21.

HE WAS A STRANGE ACTING STRANGER

The Highlands, or at least the neighborhood in and around Foster and Gibson streets, believes it may at this time have a little pet mystery of its own.

Yesterday forenoon housewives in the vicinity of the two streets mentioned a man about 45 years old, tall, thin, sallow complexioned, dressed in a blue suit, dodging in and out of backyards and altogether acting in a strange and unusual manner.

Some women declare they heard him ejaculate a number of times, "I've got it, I've got it," but all information as to what he referred to in making this remark, seems to be hazy and indefinite. The general impression is that he may have been a demented man, probably harmless. It is recalled that there was such an instance in the Highlands district about a year ago this time and that the family of the demented man learning he was loose in the neighborhood, came and took him away.

It was a time of more or less terror and anxiety in the neighborhood yesterday forenoon, because of the man's strange actions and children were

Piction and Movies Outdone

Scenario writers evidently never dreamed that the story of a man like William J. Parfitt would be accepted by the public as plausible—else they would have floated such a story into the motion picture theatres. A case like his evidently never occurred to the dramatists and novelists—or they would have made money for themselves by making copy of it.

—Knitting says—All stories must have a beginning. This story must start:

Many years ago in England lived two sisters, Kate and Harriet Parfitt, and their brother, William Joseph Parfitt.

England seemed a crowded, uncomfortable, hard-to-get-along kind of a country in which to live, so the three emigrated, the two sisters to New South Wales, the brother to America. The sisters have lived ever since in Australia. The brother, now about 45 years old, never returned to England, has never seen his sisters. He married an American woman, considered himself thoroughly American and is called by his neighbors 100 per cent patriotically American.

Unanswered Letters

Some people grow wealthy quick in Australia. Both sisters married in New South Wales. Harriet married a man named Coolgarde. Coolgarde died a number of years ago leaving his widow immensely rich in money, land and sheep. Mrs. Coolgarde died in January of 1918. She left no children. The estate she left was appraised at 125,000 pounds sterling, equivalent in American money to about $500,000. Her only heirs were of course her married sister, Kate, living in New South Wales, and the brother, William Joseph Parfitt, living in the New England states, 10,000 miles from Australia.

The married sister Kate and her husband knew the estate could not be probated and divided until the missing brother, William, had signed certain Australian affidavits and preferably come to Australia to claim his inheritance. So, not knowing hardly what to do, she enlisted the help of the Young Men's Christian association in Melbourne, Australia, to help her find her brother, inform him of his great windfall, and try to have him come to Australia.

Hands Across the Pacific

The Melbourne Y. M. C. A. accepted the commission. Its officials believed Parfitt lived in New England. Near Boston it was thought. So the facts in the case were sent to Boston Y. M. C. A. with the request that it assign a man to find the missing heir.

Mr. Knightley, the welfare secretary was assigned to the task. Through the postal officials of Lowell and Chelmsford, he secured Parfitt's address. He wrote to him and explained the Australian matter in detail. His communications, which started as far back as last November, were provided with return addresses, so Knightley felt confident Parfitt was receiving them all right. He could not understand Parfitt's silence. It did not occur to him that the Westford farmer had put his happiness and satisfaction with his present mode of life above all considerations of money, no matter how large the sum.

Yesterday Mr. Knightley, who is a man about 45 years of age himself, came to Lowell, on his way to solve the mystery—for such it had come to be—of himself to him—of the missing heir. He says he was determined to find what it was Parfitt had in Westford of so much value that he apparently would not exchange it for his inherited wealth in Australia. He returned to Boston last night, after an afternoon spent in Westford, somewhat discouraged over the result of his quest but with the satisfaction and knowledge that he knew why Parfitt had ignored all his letters and communications. He says he has at last found one man who asserts he has found earthly happiness and is so well satisfied with it that he will not exchange it for money.

The Secretary's Story

The story of William Parfitt and his indifference to his legacy probably cannot be told better than Mr. Knightley told it to The Sun yesterday, as follows:

"I found Mr. Parfitt to whom I had written for many months about this Australian legacy, working in Westford, this afternoon. I told him I had come to put the case to him as to whether he believed he ought to go to Australia and claim his legacy, not only as justice to himself, his wife and his children, but as a matter of justice to his sister, whom we understand cannot secure her share until her brother has signed certain affidavits and preferably come to New South Wales, and look after his interests."

"I rather felt that possibly Parfitt's finances would not permit the expenditure of the money necessary to take him alone to Australia, to say nothing of the expense of passage for his wife and two children. To this end I advised Parfitt that arrangements might be made so that, if he would signify his willingness to go to Australia, the Melbourne Y.M.C.A. would be advised, and upon such advice, would cable Boston Y.M.C.A. a sight draft, upon presentation of which, at a Boston or Lowell bank, sufficient money would be forthcoming to take him to Australia, to pay his fare and that of his family to Australia or, to pay his fare alone, and at the same time, leave money enough for his family's support until he should return."

Priceless Happiness

"Thus the matter was clearly and persuasively laid before Parfitt this afternoon as he worked steadily cutting the grass in front of his little home. I suppose my mission and my work is at an end. I assume so from the fact that when I called Parfitt's attention to the fact that possibly if he was against accepting this huge sum of money, as a matter of justice, his two children should be considered, he intimated to me—and not too gently, that he would be glad if I attended to my own affairs! Under the circumstances I do not know that I can do anything more than to report to our brethren in Melbourne what has failed of accomplishment and await their next move, or the next move of Parfitt's sister, Kate, if she decides to make any next move."

300,000 DRAFT EVADERS ARE STILL AT LARGE

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Nearly 300,000 draft delinquents are at large throughout the United States, according to unofficial estimates from the war department and the department of justice.

Benjamin A. Matthews, assistant United States attorney for the southern district of New York, has been in Washington for the past two days in an effort to have the records of registrants in New York district turned over to the United States attorney there to facilitate the work of running down the delinquents.

Assistant Adjutant General Kerr, stated yesterday that the draft records were packed in boxes and that it would be impracticable to attempt to get at them at this time for the use of the department of justice. He said the department hoped to have a location for the records by the end of this month and that work would begin immediately on the filing and indexing of all the records.

At the department of justice it was explained that where the army had certified that a registrant had been classified as a delinquent the certification had been made to that department and work looking to his arrest had begun. There are many cases, however, where agents of the department find it necessary to look further into the draft records.

Of the larger number of men classed as delinquents, the department of justice explained, thorough investigation has proved that the men were not really evading the draft. Incidents have been shown where men classed as delinquents by draft boards had been inducted into the service in other districts.

CAPT KATHERINE RICHARDS

ADVICE TO MOTORISTS BY CAPTAIN RICHARDS

Captain Katherine Richards, commandant of the Woman's Motor Corps of the National League for Woman's Service, writes exclusively for The Sun practical advice to the woman motorist.

And Captain Richards is an authority.

Captain Richards' first article for women motorists will be printed in The Sun tomorrow.

The corps now has 65 branches in as many cities, and includes more than 4500 women in its membership.

Its members have co-operated in all kinds of war work. Now it is engaged in ambulance work, in transporting wounded soldiers from transports to hospitals, and in taking convalescent soldiers for rides.

Captain Richards has been commander of the New York corps since January, 1918. She has given all her time to the work since. She is responsible for the training and operations of the 135 enlisted members of her command, each of whom gives at least two days a week and many all of their time to the motor corps work.

GREAT LAKES DISTRICT LED IN SHIPBUILDING

WASHINGTON, (Correspondence)—First honor in the building of ships during the war was awarded by the shipping board to the ninth, or Great Lakes district. Held by canal restrictions to a lighter type of vessel than was built on the seaboard, the district did not produce so many net tons as other sections, but outstripped all other districts in the number of ships.

In one year it put into service 135 more vessels than were delivered from all American yards in the year before the United States entered the war.

At the outbreak of the war Great Lakes yards, which had developed a highly efficient type of cargo carrier, were at work on 100 bottoms for foreign account. All were requisitioned by the shipping board, and the first ship turned over to the board under its war program was the Limoges, a 2300-ton freighter, built at Toledo. Twenty-seven ships were finished and put to sea before the canals froze in 1917.

While winter gripped the lakes new work was continued and the existing fleet, even old boats which had been laid up were overhauled. Summer saw every available craft worked and over-worked as never before. Keeping the stream of grain, iron ore, coal and manufactures moving toward the east for shipment to the men in Europe.

At the opening of navigation, 20 ships slipped from the ways and work was carried forward at increased speed. In November a total of 28 ships—nearly one a day—was put into service by Great Lakes yards.

The total for 1918 was 163 new freight carriers, all of them steel except one. The smallest yard on the lakes, having only three ways, delivered 13 ships and finished a 14th only a little late for delivery before the ice closed navigation. Between the end of November and the end of March six more were launched. All were 4200-ton boats.

One yard built a 3500-ton ship in 34 days. Another launched a 3400-ton hull in 28 days, a record which was clipped to 24 days by another plant soon after. That record stood only a little while, for still another yard launched a 3500-ton ship in 17 days after the laying of the keel and delivered it complete 14 days later.
Expansion of the yards to meet the war's demands gave the Lakes a total of 112 berths, 79 for cargo ships and 33 for tugs. While the average total number of river gangs in the Great Lakes district is only 10 per cent of the nation's total, they point proudly to a record of delivering 30 per cent of the country's total ship tonnage.
Additional contracts for 416 ships of 4200 tons each have been placed in the district since the last requisitioned ship

WILSON MEETS PERSHING

Confer on Pact For Safe-guarding France Against Renewed Hun Aggression

PARIS, May 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Wilson had an appointment with General Pershing for 2 o'clock this afternoon, probably in relation to the three power pact under discussion for safeguarding France against renewed German aggression.

PARIS, May 7.—(Havas.) France, the United States and Great Britain have concluded an agreement giving supplementary guarantees for France and security for the peace treaty. The Echo de Paris says. It adds that Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George today will draft in final form the additional pact which will not be secret.

Treaty of 80,000 Words

blage attended by delegates of 22 nations which are parties to the peace pact.

This notable document, on which the leading statesmen of the various nations, with a swarm of experts have been working since the convening of the peace conference on Jan. 18, is introduced by an extensive preamble, embodying the assertion of authority upon which the treaty is based.

First Chapter League Draft

The first chapter is the covenant of the League of Nations, the text of which already has been printed. Of the 14 principal sections, one contains stipulations with regard to frontiers which materially change the map of Europe. Military, naval and air terms are dealt with in another section, while still another is devoted to the subject of reparations. Political stipulations for Europe, on the one hand, and outside of it on the other, are dealt with in separate divisions of the document.

The treaty, it is noted, has to do with Germany alone, except insofar as it is required that she accept agreements made by the allies with the other central powers.

The document, long as it is, is shorter than was indicated by some of the forecasts, which estimated its length at 100,000.

The treaty is not printed in German. The text is in French and English, on opposite pages.

The terms of the treaty spell the end of Germany as a military power. She is deprived of virtually all of her fleet, her army is cut down to nominal dimensions and through which she might seek to work militarily to rehabilitate herself. Economically, also, the future course of Germany is hedged about with stipulations intended to insure her ability to pay the indemnity demanded by the allies and to prevent her from exploiting her old-time resources as a struggling competitor of the nations about her which the overran and devastated during the war.

Thus, for instance, Germany for a period of years at least, will be deprived of the coal output of the rich Saar basin, which goes to France in repayment of the damage caused by the destruction of the French coal mines. She likewise is compelled to make restitution for the damage in other ways done to France, Belgium and other countries which suffered depredations in various forms. She is made to realize that her more than four years' career of destruction must be made good.

HISTORY OF THE PEACE CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press.)

The treaty handed to the Germans today at Versailles is the result of the work of the representatives of the allied and associated powers arrayed against Germany who convened officially on January 18, less than four months ago. The time between the armistice, Nov. 11, and January 18, was occupied in preparing claims and reports, in the selection of delegates and in their travel to Paris.

Wilson at Brest Dec. 12

President Wilson and the American delegates sailed from New York on Dec. 4, 1918 and when the president set foot at Brest on Dec. 12, he was the first American president to visit Europe while in office. The intervening months before the opening of the conference was spent by the president in becoming acquainted with allied statesmen and in visiting England, Italy and parts of France.

Clemenceau Made Chairman

The first act of the peace conference at its meeting on January 18, was to elect Georges Clemenceau, premier of France, as chairman. On January 21 the conference adopted the proposal that all Russian factions meet on the Princes Islands to discuss the Russian situation. Nothing ever came of the proposal. Three days later the conference ordered fighting over disputed territory to cease.

League of Nations

The plan for a League of Nations was conceived in by the conference on Jan. 24, and a committee was appointed to draw up a covenant. Discussion in the supreme council, or Council of Ten, which included two representatives from Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States, then turned to the form of the future government of territory freed from enemy rule and on January 30 the conference accepted the plan of mandatory for colonies and backward nations.

commission reported the covenant it had prepared. President Wilson left Brest on February 15 on his return to the United States. He arrived at Boston on Feb. 24, and after explaining the league covenant and making several speeches, started on his return to France on March 5 and reached Brest on May 13. Meanwhile the work of the Council of Ten had continued except for the interruption incident to the attempt to assassinate Premier Clemenceau on Feb. 15.

The "Big Four"

The various commissions of the conference continued their labors uninterruptedly. On March 26 in order to speed up the work the Council of Ten was broken up in two bodies, a Council of Four and a Council of Foreign Ministers. The Council of Four was composed of Premiers Orlando, Clemenceau, Lloyd George and President Wilson.

Wilson Summoned Ship

A future in conference circles was created on April 7, when President Wilson summoned the transport Geo. Washington to come to Brest at once and it was reported he intended to return home. A statement on reparations and frontier questions, it was reported at the time, was believed to have prompted his action.

On April 11 at a plenary session the conference adopted the report of the international labor legislation committee and on April 14 the reparations demands to be made on Germany were announced. On April 16 the Germans were invited to send delegates to receive the treaty.

The Plume Question

With the German treaty near completion the question of Italy's claims in the Adriatic came to the front. On April 23, President Wilson issued a statement that Plume could not be long to Italy. The Italian delegation announced its intention of leaving Paris and on April 24, Premier Orlando started for Rome. Scarcely had he departed than the vanguard of the German delegation reached Versailles on April 25, followed on April 30 by the principal delegates. Previously the Germans had expressed the intention of sending "messengers" to receive the treaty, but finally were compelled to send delegates with full powers.

Geneva Sent of League

In the absence of the Italian delegates the conference on April 28 adopted the revised covenant of the League of Nations. Geneva was selected as the seat of the league, and Sir Eric Drummond of Great Britain was made first secretary-general.

Agreement on Shantung

On April 30 the Council of Three reached an agreement on the question of Shantung which gave the territory to the Japanese who are to turn it over later to the Chinese.

First Meeting With Germans

The first meeting with the Germans took place on May 1, when credentials were exchanged at Versailles. Today Premier Orlando and the other Italian delegates returned to Paris in time for the handling of the peace treaty to the Germans.

Former Bolshevik Ambassador at Berlin Seized by Polish Forces at Vienna

COPENHAGEN, May 7.—When Polish forces captured Vienna recently they seized and shot Adolph Joffe the former Russian Bolshevik ambassador at Berlin, according to Polish newspapers received here.

Adolph Joffe was first chairman of the Russian peace delegation at Brest Litovsk and after the signing of the treaty was appointed ambassador to Germany. The new German government expelled him late in November. He returned to Berlin in mid-December and was said to have brought money to aid the Spartacists in their activities against the government. He was expelled again in January.

OF 54

(By Newspaper Enterprise Association.)
VENAICHIE, Wash., May.—No wife can ever be sure she has severed her husband from his mother's apron strings.

The mother-in-law problem—as old as Eve's disapproval of Cain's wild bride—may bob up for the mother of 50 as well as for the wife of 20.

The case of Mrs. Ellen S. Cooley proves it—a case perhaps gently consoling to mothers, but certainly disquieting to wives.

Mrs. Cooley, 32, is suing her husband, Ferdinand Cooley, 70, for divorce on the ground that his mother, 94, has alienated his affections.

For the better part of 15 years, the aggrieved wife says, she and Cooley were as happy as honeymooners a third of their age. She was a wealthy spinster of 67 when he, a beau of 55, courted and won her in Muskegon, Mich.

After the wedding, Mrs. Cooley says, she and her husband moved to a small house in Washington, D. C., where they lived for a year. Then, she says, her husband's mother came to live with them.

At first, Mrs. Cooley says, she and her husband got along well with the mother-in-law. But, she says, after a while, the mother-in-law began to interfere in the household.

She says she and her husband had a fight one day because the mother-in-law had taken the children to her room. She says she and her husband had a fight one day because the mother-in-law had taken the children to her room.

GERMANS FLEE FROM EXPLOSION

Series of Explosions Near Brussels Kills Many—Houses Demolished

BRUSSELS, Tuesday, May 6 (By the Associated Press).—A depot of German ammunition containing shells and bombs of every calibre and many gas shells has been exploding since yesterday morning at the railway station at Greenendael, six miles south of Brussels, where Canadian troops were inspected by King Albert eight days ago. The depot has been under guard of 150 Belgian soldiers and 600 German prisoners have been at work near it. It is believed there are many killed and wounded, but the number of victims will not be known for several days.

Many houses in the neighborhood have completely collapsed and windows and roofs for two miles around the scene of the explosion have been shattered. It is reported that while workmen were unloading a wagon filled with shells a detonator exploded in the hands of a German prisoner, setting fire to the ammunition boxes. After the explosion the German prisoners broke the barbed wire cordons surrounding the camp and fled in all directions through the woods. Only 150 have been arrested since.

LOWELL TEACHERS HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

A garland of pleasure, besprinkled with blossoms of happy music and wit, was the annual banquet of the Lowell Teachers' organization, held last evening at the State Normal school with several hundred teachers and fortunate invited guests present to enjoy the occasion.

Dr. Frederick W. Hamilton, former president of Tufts college, and at present a member of the state board of education, was the speaker of the evening and his address was most acceptably up to the minute—so much so that it embraced a reference to the use of a machine gun at the Lawrence strike.

Following an excellent dinner, a brief program of entertainment was carried out and included a feature in the presence of four high school seniors who danced with all the grace and abandon of devotees of the art of Tadora Duncan. They were the Misses Esther Whitman, Jeannette Chevalier, Eleanor Sutton and Louise Harrigan. The Lenox Ladies' orchestra furnished music for the evening and Albert Edmund Brown led in community singing.

Miss Genevieve Lawrence, president of the organization, presided and introduced Principal John J. Mahoney who introduced the speakers of the evening after extending a hearty welcome.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson was first introduced and in opening, told of his inevitable embarrassment at talking before an audience of school teachers.

He regretted the inadequacy of training evident among school teachers in some parts of the country and said that he believed the meagre amount of pay received a big factor in this condition. He advocated more leniency in the matter of allowing school boards to handle their own money.

Dr. Hamilton was the next speaker. He characterized the present times as opportunity for serious interest in the future welfare of the country. He was sure that the teachers had a deep interest in the citizenship of the nation and he believed that woman suffrage would soon be granted.

He said that most people were of the opinion that civilization had today advanced to such an extent that private wars were no longer possible. He cited the present Lawrence strike and recent telephone strike as examples to prove that this was not so. Strikes, he declared, were nothing more than private wars and by allowing people to strike, the law sanctions such wars.

He did not like to see strikers in Lawrence who have pulled guns on policemen crying baby when the latter bring a machine gun into play. What he wished to emphasize, he said, was that as long as we resort to private warfare for settling our disputes, our civilization is only half built.

Coming down to the teachers themselves and their relation to organized labor, he said that he regretted the fact that the Boston teachers were considering joining the American Federation of Labor but he could see no other way for them to get what they wanted. He urged the development of a system of industrial law which shall secure for the employer and employee what rightly belongs to each so that instead of building up civilization with one hand and tearing it down with the other, we shall build with both hands. Henry H. Harris, principal of the Varum school, was the next speaker and he made brief appeal for the Victory loan. The spirit of thanksgiving alone, he declared, should make us want to dig down.

Supt. Hugh J. Molloy contrasted the condition of the country today with that of a year ago and said that the one way to prepare for war was to prepare men. The teachers, he affirmed, had done a noble part in this work.

He was of the opinion that the public will never pay teachers enough because teachers will always find more than their monetary remuneration in the profession. He warned his listeners not to listen to people who urge them to ally themselves with organized labor.

Next came a tribute to those present who had served in the world war and the initial number was the singing of popular and patriotic songs under Mr. Brown's direction.

BURNING MOTILERS' DAY

CLEVELAND, May 7.—Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, founder of the National Mothers' Day association today sent the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America the following message.

"Announce mothers' day next Sunday, May 11. No flowers to be used. Rich people to buy Victory bonds and thrift stamps instead."

UNIFORM IS "ABUSED"

Soldiers Protest Men Begging, Peddling and Shining Shoes While in Uniform

CAMP DEVENS, May 7.—Some form of protest from men still in the service and stationed at this camp is expected to be made within the next few days about what they term "abuse of the United States uniform." Many men here have complained that on their visits to Boston they have seen numbers of men wearing the United States uniform begging, peddling and shining shoes, arousing the sympathies of the public through the clothing they wear.

They complain also that a number of men who obviously had held commissions in the service are to be seen about Boston wearing just enough of their uniforms to show that they have been officers. This they term a disgrace to the service as the men are not properly dressed, and they propose to see if something cannot be done to stop it. Some declare they believe many of the beggars and peddlers to be impostors.

TAX MANUFACTURERS OF DRINKS, NOT RETAILERS

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Regulations for administration of the 15 per cent tax on near-beer and other beverages made of cereals, and the 10 per cent tax on manufacture of soft drinks, provide that the assessment is against the original manufacturer in the case of near-beer, even though he sells to another concern which bottles and sells the products. If the beverage is subjected in the process to any reworking, sales by the second manufacturer also are taxable. The tax is on the manufacturer's price, not the retail price.

The tax on soft drinks, as differentiated from soda fountain products, is on unfermented grapejuice, ginger ale, root beer, pop beer, artificial mineral waters, apple juice, and other fruit juices. The tax is paid by the manufacturer and these articles are exempt from soda fountain taxes.

POOR LEATHER USED IN ARMY SHOES

BOSTON, May 7.—Thomas Sherwood, formerly a leather buyer for the A. J. Bates Shoe Co., of Webster, testified in the federal court yesterday that Frank I. Sears, vice president and general manager of the company, told him that no money would be made on a contract for army shoes, except by "skinning" on the leather.

Sherwood and Sears were placed on trial, charged with conspiring to defraud the government, and to bribe inspectors.

Sherwood pleaded guilty. He was the first witness called in the trial of Sears. He said that Sears told him he had not included overhead and salesmanship charges in figuring on the contract and that the only profit he would make would be by "skinning" on leather. Subsequently, Sherwood said, 50,000 overshoes were purchased by the Bates company, at an average of 45 cents a pair, which was nine cents below the market price. Later, he said, 45,000 pairs of overshoes, of $2 iron were purchased, while the contract called for nine iron. He said that undershoes were bought at 16 cents a pair when the market price was 25 cents.

He testified that Sears told him not to employ strangers at the factory, as he understood that the government was placing shoemakers, who were acting as secret agents, in factories which were making army shoes. The Bates Co. contract was for 114,000 pairs of shoes at an average price of $1.60 a pair.

LIBERTY LOAN TOTAL $2,150,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Subscriptions to the Victory loan had reached approximately $2,150,000,000 today. This was an overnight increase of about $90,000,000. This was navy day in the loan campaign and bond sales were expected to receive a substantial boost as a result of the challenge to the country to match the navy.

This morning the navy's subscription to the loan was more than $12,000,000 which is considered a better record than for the corresponding time in the fourth loan, because of the reduced personnel.

Twenty-five shipyards have gone over the top in bond purchases, totaling $8,000,000.

KILLED WOMAN AND SHOT HIMSELF

PITTSBURGH, May 7.—After he had shot and killed Mrs. Mary Winebrenner, aged 48, proprietress of a North Side rooming house here yesterday, Charles Martin, aged 42, of Lawrence, Mass., is alleged to have turned the weapon on himself, firing a bullet into his neck. He is in a critical condition in the Allegheny General hospital.

Police, attracted by five shots, rushed into the building and found Mrs. Winebrenner dead, in a pool of blood in the kitchen of her apartment. On the third floor, Martin was found unconscious in bed.

Frank Hurd, a roomer, said he heard two shots and opened his door. Hurd declared Martin was standing at his door and turned the revolver upon him, saying, "you're next." Hurd said he begged Martin not to shoot him and the latter then ran to the third floor. The cause of the tragedy has not been determined.

An identification card bearing the names of James and John Martin, the latter a fireman of Lawrence, Mass., was found among Martin's effects.

KILLED BY AUTO TRUCK

Boy Crushed to Death and Two Chums Injured When Car Leaped Onto Sidewalk

BOSTON, May 7.—When he tried yesterday afternoon to make the turn from Amory street into Porter street, Jamaica Plain, with a big auto truck, Charles Curwin, an employee of the Halfpenny Brewing company, misjudged the curb, mounted the sidewalk and, after killing a boy and injuring two other children, crashed into the front of a one-story grocery store, demolishing it. The machine came to a stop amid a large quantity of scattered groceries, splintered wood and broken glass.

The boy killed was Melvin Benson, 11, of 284 Amory street. He, with Harry Rosewell, 11, of 147 Boylston street and Hazel Wood, 6, of 2 Jess street, was playing in front of the store when the big truck began its destructive journey. The Benson lad was instantly killed, being crushed beneath the wheels. The other children were seriously, but not, it is thought, fatally injured. The Rosewell boy suffered fractures of three ribs and contusions of the head and body. Hazel Wood was badly cut on the right foot and received multiple abrasions. The injured boy was taken to the city hospital in the ambulance of station 13 and the little girl was treated by a nearby physician.

In the store at the time of the accident was Clementine G. Norman, the proprietor. She was badly scared, but unhurt.

On the auto truck, beside Curwin, were two helpers. They and Curwin also escaped injury. The auto truck was not badly damaged but the damage to the store will amount to several hundred dollars.

Curwin was arrested on the charge of manslaughter.

REVOLUTIONISTS SET UP GOVERNMENT

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Tuesday, May 6.—Costa Rican revolutionists have issued a proclamation naming Julio Acosta provisional president and soliciting recognition of the new administration by Central American republics. Telegraphic communication has been suspended between Nicaragua and Costa Rica since the Costa Rican telegraph operators have abandoned the frontier office at La Cruz.

MAY BUY VICTORY BONDS WITH FUND

Contrary to the opinion of City Treasurer Fred H. Rourke, City Solicitor William D. Regan has ruled that the principal of the Haywood Wright fund may be invested in Victory notes as suggested by Mayor Perry D. Thompson at yesterday's meeting of the municipal council. The solicitor today sent the following letter to Commissioner Donnelly on the matter:

Lowell, Mass., May 6, 1919. Mr. James E. Donnelly, Commissioner of Finance, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: In answer to your query in re-investment of the principal of the Haywood Wright fund in Victory Liberty notes, I beg to say that according to the provisions of the last will and testament of Haywood Wright, the only restrictions with reference to the fund given to the city are that the principal shall be allowed to accumulate interest for a definite period of time and that the interest shall then be applied to some public purpose in the city of Lowell.

As the purchase of Victory Liberty notes with the principal of this fund is a placing of the fund at interest and is in pursuance of the mandate of the will, it is my opinion as a matter of law that the treasurer of the city of Lowell has a right to make such an investment, even without any formal vote of the municipal council.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM D. REGAN, City Solicitor.

Not To Resign—Never Advocated Public Hangings of I.W.W. Members

CLEVELAND, May 7.—Mayor Ole Hanson of Seattle, Wash., speaking here yesterday on his tour of the country in the interest of the Victory loan, issued a statement denying stories published throughout the country quoting him as saying that he was going to resign as mayor of Seattle, to take the law in his own hands, and advocating public hangings of the I.W.W.'s and anarchists.

Mayor Hanson's statement follows: "Certain stories are being printed in the press quoting me as saying that I would resign as mayor of Seattle and take the law in my own hands and advocate public hangings of the I.W.W.'s. 'Every such statement published is absolutely untrue in substance and in fact. I have never advocated lawless acts by anyone at any time. I desire this denial to be as sweeping as possible.'"

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

"I just did it for fun" was the defense offered by William E. Crawford of Ayer when he was called before Judge Fisher in police court today to answer to the charge of forging a worthless check on the Wamsott bank of this city. Crawford was arrested later yesterday afternoon by Inspector Walsh.

According to the inspector's story a woman named Mrs. Mary Christie presented a check at Saunders' market yesterday afternoon, and it was found to be a forgery. The woman said she received it from Crawford, and directed the officer to the latter's room, where several other blank checks were found. Crawford pleaded guilty to forging the check, and not guilty to uttering and publishing it. A continuance was granted for one week, bail being set at $300.

The sequel to a young riot on Market street, which occurred two weeks ago, and in which one of the participants emerged with a damaged optic came to trial today when George Giatas, one of the alleged principals in the affair, was charged with assault and battery on Dionysios Sakalarias. The affair was considered from all angles and Giatas found guilty. He was ordered to pay a fine of $20 and appealed.

Joseph F. Silva was found guilty of operating a motor cycle without a license and paid a fine of $2. Joseph LeDuc was charged with breaking and entering a house now in process of construction, the property of a local real estate man, and stealing chisels, planes and other carpenter's tools. The case was continued until Saturday, and he was ordered to furnish bail to the amount of $300. Several minor larceny and assault cases were called and continued, and a handful of drunken offenders paid small fines or drew down brief sentences to jail.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. William E. Hanley, of Deerfield, Mass., and Miss Margaret B. Fleming, of 167 Myrtle street, this city, were married Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Michael's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Lynch. Miss Anna A. Fleming, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, the best man being Mr. John J. Hanley, brother of the groom. After an extended honeymoon trip to New York and Washington, the happy couple will make their home in Deerfield, Mass.

BIG DECREASE IN FREIGHT TRAFFIC

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Decrease of freight traffic this year owing to cessation of war manufactures, is shown by a report of Director General Hines issued in connection with his explanation of the government's deficit of $192,000,000 in operation of railroads for the first three months of the year.

In March the railroads recorded 28,552,000,000 ton miles as compared with 37,706,000,000 in March last year. In February the roads hauled 25,681,000,000 ton miles, as compared with 29,687,000,000 in the same month last year and in January they hauled 30,307,000,000 against 31,619,000,000 in January, 1918.

"It is impossible on the basis of three months to predict the results for the year as a whole," says Mr. Hines, "although it is believed the results will be very much less unfavorable if, as seems to be generally anticipated, there shall be an important resumption of business later in the year, especially if the great corps now in prospect shall be realized."

SOLDIERS EXEMPT FOR CIVIL SERVICE

WASHINGTON, May 7.—President Wilson, in an executive order, cabled from Paris, has directed the Civil Service commission to exempt soldiers, sailors and marines from physical requirements for any civil service position upon certification by the federal board of vocational education that the applicant has been specially trained and qualified for the position.

ARMY TRUCKS FOR PUBLIC ROADS

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Twenty thousand motor trucks, valued at $15,000,000 have been turned over to the Department of Agriculture by the war department to be distributed to state highway departments through the bureau of public roads. The trucks must be used on road construction work.

48 HOURS FOR SHOE SHOPS IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, May 7.—A 48-hour working week will be effective in shoe factories of this city, beginning May 12, according to a vote by the Manufacturers' association.

TRADE BOARD CALLS SHIPPERS' MEETING

The board of trade has called a meeting of all the shippers of this city at its rooms next Friday morning at 10 o'clock for a free and full discussion relative to the shipping business in Lowell. Representatives of the Boston & Maine and N. Y. N. H. & Hartford railroads will be present to explain plans for establishing a shipping guide for the use of local shippers.

REPUBLICANS WIN IN BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Md., May 7.—For the first time in 30 years, the Republicans elected a mayor yesterday, when state's Attorney William F. Broening defeated George Weems Williams, his democratic opponent.

MILLION MORE NEEDED HERE

Airplane Feature Does Not Seem Sure—German Cannon For Prizes

The only large Victory loan subscription which came to light this morning was an additional $10,000 purchase by the W. H. Bagshaw Co., through the Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust Co. This makes a total subscription of $60,000 by the Bagshaw Co., along with a $10,000 purchase by the Hy-Carbo Co., a subsidiary corporation. The Union National bank reported buying today as lighter than any previous time during the drive, and of the approximately $15,000 worth of bonds bought there this morning all but about $2000 is credited to surrounding towns. Patrons of the City Institution of Savings subscribed for $16,100 worth of bonds this morning, making that bank's total, including their own purchase of $1,200,000, approximately $1,230,000. This is all placed through the Appleton National bank.

The town of Ayer, which had only $31,000 subscribed out of a quota of $170,000 came to life today when the savings bank of the town took $25,000 worth of bonds, and will probably double this amount before Saturday night. Groton is pretty sure to oversubscribe her quota and other towns in the district will probably go "over the top" before Saturday.

Local interest in the Victory loan today centers in the meeting of the division canvassing members in Edison hall at 6.30 o'clock this evening. At both of the two previous meetings of the team workers, subscriptions amounting to a million dollars were received, and if this good record continues tonight, Lowell will be in a very fair way to finish her job by Saturday night. If, on the other hand, the reports tonight fall very much short a million, the road is going to be hard and thorny between now and Saturday.

Approximately $1,275,000 is needed

President Issues Call by Cable For Congress To Meet May 19

Will Be Impossible For President To Be Present on Opening Day

WASHINGTON, May 7.—President Wilson issued a call by cable today for special session of congress to meet Monday, May 19.

Secretary Tamm, in making the announcement, said it would be impossible for the president to be here on the opening day. The date was much earlier than democratic leaders had expected.

White House officials said that in naming an early date for the session, President Wilson was guided largely by the advice of Secretary Glass as to the necessity of passing annual appropriation measures which failed in the closing days of the last session.

General expectations are that soon after it meets, the new congress will investigate charges made in connection with the conduct of the war.

Senator Lodge today issued a call for a republican conference to be held May 14 for the purpose of perfecting an organization in the senate and Representative Mondell, who will be republican floor leader at the coming session, announced that a conference of republican house members would be held on May 17.

Some administration leaders believed the president had called the extra session earlier than had been anticipated in order that congress might perfect its organization and dispose of the more important appropriation measures before the treaty was ready for consideration.

Germany's Acceptance of Terms Means Complete Surrender to Allies and Associated Powers

NEW YORK, May 7.—An official summary of the peace treaty, delivered to the German delegates at Versailles by the representatives of the associated powers, was made public here today by the committee on public information. It follows:

Treaty Handed to Germans
In addition to the securities afforded in the treaty of peace, the president of the United States has pledged himself to propose to the senate of the United States, and the prime minister of Great Britain has pledged himself to propose to the parliament of Great Britain in engagement, subject to the approval of the council of the League of Nations, to come immediately to the assistance of France in case of unprovoked attack by Germany. The treaty of peace between the 27 allied and associated powers on the one hand and Germany on the other was handed to the German plenipotentiaries at Versailles today.

Longest Treaty Ever Drawn
It is the longest treaty ever drawn. It totals about 80,000 words divided into 15 main sections and represents the combined effort of over a thousand experts working continually through a series of commissions for three and a half months since January 18. The treaty is printed in parallel pages of English and French, which are recognized as having equal validity. It does not deal with questions affecting Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey except insofar as binding Germany to accept any agreement reached with those former allies.

Summarized Sections
Following the preamble and deposition of powers comes the covenant of the League of Nations as the first section of the treaty. The frontiers of Germany in Europe are defined in the second section; European political classes given in the third; European political classes given in the fourth. Next are military, naval and air terms; the fifth section followed on prisoners of war and military graves and a seventh on responsibilities. Reparations, financial terms, and economic terms are covered in sections eight to ten. Then comes the aeronautic section, ports, waterways and railways section, the labor covenant, the section on guarantees and the final clauses.

Alsace-Lorraine Restored
Germany by the terms of the treaty restores Alsace-Lorraine to France, accepts the internationalization of the Saar basin temporarily and of Danzig permanently, agrees to territorial changes towards Belgium and Denmark and in East Prussia, cedes most of upper Silesia to Poland and renounces all territorial and political rights outside of Europe, as to her own or her allies' territories, and especially to Morocco, Egypt, Spain, Liberia and Shantung. She also recognizes the total independence of German Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Army Reduced to 100,000
Her army is reduced to one hundred thousand men, including officers; conscription within her territories is abolished; all forts 50 kilometers east of the Rhine razed; and all production of war material stopped. Allied occupation of parts of Germany will continue till reparation is made, but will be reduced at the end of each of three five year periods if Germany is fulfilling her obligations. Any violation by Germany of the conditions as to the zone 50 kilometers east of the Rhine will be regarded as an act of war.

U-Boats Prohibited
The German navy is reduced to six battleships, six light cruisers and 12 torpedo boats without submarines and a personnel of not over 15,000. All other vessels must be surrendered or destroyed. Germany is forbidden to build forts controlling the Baltic, must demolish Heligoland, open the Kiel canal to all nations and surrender her 14 submarine cables. She may have no military or naval air forces except one hundred unarmed seaplanes until October 1st, to detect mines and may

SAYS U. S. MUST REBUILD WORLD

Secretary Glass Pleads For Victory Loan at Boston Symphony Hall

Rear Admiral Dunne Thanks God Americans Are Not Quitters

BOSTON, May 7.—"Uncle Sam is in the biggest international game the world has ever seen. It is up to us to furnish him with a big stack of red, white and blue chips," exclaimed Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunn at the big Liberty Loan rally in Symphony hall last evening, to the great amusement of 3600 men and women who appreciated the ward room flavor of the figure applied to the Liberty loan. Admiral Dunn, who spoke as a substitute for Rear Admiral William S. Sims, who was confined to his hotel with a cold, but sent a humorous little note of regret in rhyme, shared the honors of the evening with Carter Glass, secretary of the treasury. Gov. Cochrane presided, the Pop concert orchestra furnished splendid music, and Herbert Smith of the musical service of the army led the great audience in patriotic singing that was full of spirit and feeling.

Must Not Be a "Bankers' Loan"

Sec. Glass aimed throughout his address in behalf of the fifth loan to make it clear that he has no sympathy with the proposition heard in some quarters, that this should be a bankers' loan. On the contrary, he maintained that the money of the banks is needed for the developing of industry and commerce and the people at large are under as much obligation to invest generally this time as they were during the war. He expressed confidence that not a man or woman who had a son at the front will refuse to help this loan, which is to pay the cost of the great victory won by their sons for the civilization.

He asserted that a popular subscription in the present loan is desirable among other reasons, to make the mass of Americans appreciate that they are all stockholders in their government, to inculcate the saving habit among the people "who hitherto have been sadly lacking in that regard," and finally to enable us to shoot to pieces this abominable Bolshevism, which will be easy when the generality of the people have a stake in the government. He declared that the people should have impressed upon them the importance of good order in government.

A World Is to Be Rebuilt

"A world is to be rebuilt," said he, "should we timidly pause and debate who should rebuild it? Who is there to rebuild it but this great nation of ours? This great enterprise should be started right here in Boston by the blaze of furnaces, the whirl of mills and the din of 1000 industries."

"Men of steady judgment have said that we must approach this and future loans in a distinctly cold-blooded, commercial mood, from an investment point of view. Some say it will be impossible to appeal again to the patriotism of the American people. I should despair of my country if it were true. If we so quickly forget the obligations of war I should doubt our ability to cope with the problems of peace."

After comparing the war sacrifices of some of the allied countries with those of this country, where trade immensely increased and gold continually piled up, and referring to the approximately 60,000 American soldiers who gave their lives in the war, the speaker said: "We should not dishonor the memory of these soldiers, or diminish their glory, by haggling over the cost of war and talking of our sacrifices."

"This is more than a Victory loan," said he; "it is a loan of thanksgiving to God for sustaining the spirit and stirring the valor of the soldiers who defeated the Hun. If we are to suppress all patriotic sentiment and regard this loan as simply a commercial proposition, then somebody else may have my job. I wish that men who counsel that policy could have seen the evidence of the valor and suffering of the soldiers that I saw in France."

When Huns Made French Flags

In reference to the traditional German charge that the United States is ruled by the commercial spirit, Sec. Glass related that when he arrived with a congressional delegation at Lille, France, after the evacuation by the Germans, he found the city bedecked with allied and American colors and learned that as "commercial" had been the spirit of the Germans that they had made the flags themselves and sold them to the French that they might celebrate the German defeat.

In concluding, he said: "There are 1,500,000 American boys in France and Germany who must be maintained in comfort and brought home in safety and provided with employment on their return. While congress has written off the books $15,000,000 of authorizations, for which public funds would have been expended had not the war suddenly terminated, the government is still expending more than $1,000,000,000 per month to meet the honorable commitments of the country. The honor of the government is involved. Being your government, it is your honor that is involved, and I know that the appeal of the American government to the American people will meet a response, of which the nation will be proud."

Admiral Dunn Leads Sims

Rear Admiral Dunn told something of the achievements of Admiral Sims during the war, remarking in connection therewith that the war was won by destroying the submarine menace and that the means which accomplished that were depth charges and listening devices. He paid high tribute to the captains and crews of American merchant ships "who submitted cheerfully to naval authority and customs and by so doing helped much to win the war."

He said that the United States had on the other side 360 ships, 5000 officers and 75,000 men, and that had the American people been wise enough to have had 250 destroyers in time "Germany would never have forced us to enter the war."

He gave these figures as to subscriptions within the United States navy to the previous Liberty loans: First, $3,000,000; second, $11,000,000; third, $15,000,000; fourth, $15,000,000; total, $54,000,000.

The admiral urged that everybody forget political partisanship in the matter of the Victory loan. "Outside the three-mile limit there are no democrats or republicans," he said. "We are only Americans, and thank God, Americans are not quitters."

LOWELL MOOSE HOLD CONCERT AND DANCE

Associate has been last evening the scene of a pretty gathering, the occasion being a concert and dance in observance of the eighth anniversary of Lowell lodge, 618, Loyal Order of Moose. The attendance was large, the concert and dancing numbers were very enjoyable and all in all the affair was a huge success.

In the early part of the evening musical numbers were given by Broderick's orchestra and later the following program was given: Vocal selections, Francis A. Connor, James E. Donnelly and Miss Alice Dine; Spanish dance, Misses Dora and Marie Dewire; Scotch dance, pupils of Miss Blanche Perrin and readings, Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall. General dancing was started at 9 o'clock and continued until a seasonable hour, fees being served during intermission.

The committee responsible for the success of the affair was: General manager, Edward Goodson; assistant general manager, David A. Hartnett; floor director, Ernest P. Parsons; assistant floor director, Mose D. Boucher; chief aid, John E. MacCallum; Aids: Charles W. Richards, P. R. Monahan, A. T. Gungas, Arthur D. Courtois, George F. Ellis and Chas. A. McQuarrie; Edward St. Leger, chairman; Thomas M. Keegan, secretary; John M. Hogan, treasurer.

The officers of Lowell lodge for the present year are: Dictator, David A. Hartnett; vice dictator, Ernest P. Parsons; orator, Charles A. McQuarrie; secretary, Thomas M. Keegan; treasurer, John M. Hogan; trustees, John P. Curtin, Patrick R. Monahan, Chas. W. Richards; outer guard, John P. Tansey; inner guard, A. Pierre Glin-

PIANO RECITAL BY BLIND PIANIST

Sunday afternoon Mr. Joseph A. Marshall, the blind pianist, gave an excellent recital at Mr. William Heller's studio. He was assisted by Mrs. Evelyn S. Donnelly, soprano, who delighted the audience with her artistically rendered numbers and fine quality of music. Mr. Marshall, as at former recitals, delighted those who were privileged to hear him play, but on this occasion when the program called for artistic and intelligent interpretation of the great masters' works he more than surprised his audience and program made during the past winter recital at Mr. William Heller's studio.

The Wee One burrowed her pink nose deeper in Mother's neck, more cuddly than usual. Mother knew what was coming. National Biscuits were again in demand and she smiled, thinking of her little ones.

"Wee wants a party," came the half-smothered confession. "A party!"

"Away to-day, and Mother must make time to make little cakes for Wee."

The Wee One burrowed her pink nose deeper in Mother's neck, more cuddly than usual. Mother knew what was coming. National Biscuits were again in demand and she smiled, thinking of her little ones.

"Wee wants a party," came the half-smothered confession. "A party!"

"Away to-day, and Mother must make time to make little cakes for Wee."

"Wee wants sweet cakes," came the next confession. "Nice party."

Sec. Baker Says Last Man of
A.E.F. Will Be Out of
France by August

Estimate Based on Movement
of 300,000 Men a Month
to United States

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Secretary Baker announced today that, by August, the last man of the American Expeditionary Forces would have been withdrawn from France. He said this estimate was based on the movement of 300,000 men a month to the United States.

Already the American forces in France have been divorced from the army of occupation. Plans have been completed to supply the force in Germany through Antwerp and Rotterdam, removing the necessity for maintaining the 700-mile line of communication from Brest. The French ports will be maintained, however, for the withdrawal of the A. E. F.

More than half of the expeditionary force has now left France and as the withdrawal progresses facilities which were used for those forces are being turned back either to private owners or to the municipalities to which they belonged.

First call on straw hats pretty soon.

May 15, a week from tomorrow, is the official date for the debut of the bonnets, but local hat dealers have already stocked up and if the weather plays many more stunts like that of last Monday, time and tide will be ignored and Merrimack street will blossom forth into summer headgear.

The prices range from $2 to $5 for the common variety of straws, about the same as last year, but the dealers claim that the quality is much better. Panamas, of course, range above these prices as far as $12.

PASTOR ESCAPES RENT PROFITEERS BY MOVING HIS FAMILY INTO CHURCH

Driven to extremities by extortionate rents, the Rev. S. O. Tyndall, a Brooklyn, N. Y., pastor, has moved his family into his church, part of which he has turned into a comfortable home, with all the conveniences of life on a trans-continental Pullman. Dr. Tyndall's action started the movement in New York to turn churches into homes for victims of rent profiteers. The balcony of the Greenwood Heights Reformed church is the doctor's study by day and the children's bedroom by night. Mother and father sleep in the Sunday school room. All the beds are folded up on Sabbath morning, and made into couches. In the basement is the combination kitchen-parlor-dining room. the machine we were using, which they believed must be some new and wonderful invention. They thought it must be some kind of cannon fired like a machine gun.

An interesting incident occurred at Apremont, which well illustrates the spirit of our men. The Germans made frequent raids and on one of these visits they captured one of our men. Our commanding officer gave the men a 'bawling out' and declared that we would never live down the disgrace of having a man taken without a fight. As a matter of fact the man had been badly wounded and would never have been captured if he had not been injured so that he could not fight.

"At any rate we received the reprimand and the boys never forgot it. They determined that the next time the Germans came over they would show the enemy something, as well as demonstrating to the commanding officer that they were not 'yellow'."

"The next day the Germans started an attack. To a man the doughboys jumped out of the trenches onto the ground in front of the parapet and started throwing hand grenades while they sang 'Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here'."

Owen Him His Life

"It was in front of Mont-Sec that we were astounded to find that we were being fired on with shells that came from Lowell, the home of many of our boys. They had been made in Lowell, shipped to the Russians and captured by the Germans, who fired them at us."

"To a Gloucester boy, Louis E. Johnson of 25 Grove street, I probably owe my life. It was at Belleau Wood on July 15, at 5 o'clock in the morning, three hours after the opening of the fight, that I received a piece of shrapnel in the left leg. Louis Johnson found me lying there, and bleeding profusely. He bound my leg with my first-aid pack, and then with his own. And then, under heavy fire, he remained with me at the risk of his own life, talking to me and praying with me, while the bullets rained overhead. Had it not been for his coolness and courage under fire, and his knowledge of tying a sailor's knot, I would not be here today. I recommend him for a citation, but he has not received it as yet."

"I want to speak a word about Chaplain John DeValles of New Bedford, who was with us. I know he has been complimented a great many times, but so much has not been said about him. I have often seen him crawl out under fire to administer to some poor fellow who was 'going west'. It made no difference what the fellow's religious beliefs were, Jew or Gentile, he was one of Mr. DeValles' boys just the same."

"Once he found an old, discarded piano in a village behind the lines. He paid for having it repaired and then had it transported to the trenches, even to the front line. And the other chaplains were just as considerate and just as sacrificing. They served who ever needed their help and risked death many times."

VILLA BAND IN FIGHT AT JIMINEZ

EL PASO, Tex., May 7.—Rumors of fighting between government troops and Villa rebels at Jiminez continued to be received here yesterday. American mining men consider it probable that a small engagement occurred there yesterday, as part of Villa's band left Parral in that direction recently.

Parral has been abandoned by Villa and has not yet been recaptured by the federal forces, who fear he laid a trap.

The execution of six Chinese at Parral by Villa has been confirmed. Edgar Koch, German consul in Parral, saved the lives of two other Chinese by hiding them in his home. As far as can be learned from Mexican arrivals from Parral, the six Chinese and the three Herreases were the only ones executed.

Villa's whereabouts are unknown but his hands are scattered. He issued a statement at Parral saying he was not fighting the home guards of the state and would not kill any of those forces if they refrained from assisting the federals.

TURKEY BONES START FIGHT

Huns Resent Evidences of
the Doughboys' Easter
Banquet—Some Scrap

Capt. Walter Austin Tells of Being Fired On With
Shells From Lowell

BOSTON, May 7.—"It was only a bag of turkey bones, slung over the top into the German trenches by a mischievous American doughboy, but it started a beautiful scrap, and incidentally, it was the beginning of the first battle in which I took part," said Capt. Walter W. Austin of the 104th Infantry.

"Can you beat that for a reason for starting a battle? It may not have been the only cause, but I'll bet it had a lot to do with it."

"It was Easter Sunday, 1918, and as is customary on Thanksgiving, Christmas Day and Easter Sunday, our boys were given turkey. And I guess the sight of those bones made the Huns envious and also irritated them, perhaps because they felt that the Americans had food to throw away, while they had barely enough to feed their men."

"Well, they started the scrap, but it is needless to say who finished it. Our boys finished it, as they did every big fight 'over there.' The Germans sent over word asking what troops we were, British or Canadians. The answer our boys sent back was typically American: 'Come over and find out.' The Germans came over and they found out."

Thoughtful Americans Crazy
The Germans thought the Americans were crazy because of their wonderful spirit and their fighting and they thought the American artillerymen were drunk because of the way they fired the guns. They had never heard of any one firing on the recoil until the Yankees went over there. Even the French, who were considered the greatest artillerymen in the world, thought it wonderful. Some of the Huns that we captured asked me

FLYING CIRCUS THRILLS BOSTON

Mayor Peters Makes Flight
Congressman Connolly

BOSTON, May 7.—Air fighting as it was carried on over the battlefields of Europe was exemplified yesterday when a "mimic show" was put on over the common as a part of the selling campaign of the Fifth Victory loan. Thousands of spectators who lined the walks of the common and of adjoining streets, admired the skill and daring of the young aviators who manned the planes.

Thousands of pigeons, who for years have been unmolested on the common, were ousted by the seven noisy monsters and fled in terror to distant points, where they perched chattering their dismay and resentment.

Mayor Peters accompanied the Flying Circus from Franklin Field, where it assembled, to the common and back, as a passenger, with Maj. Maurice Connolly, formerly a member of congress from Iowa, who served with the mayor in the house.

This feature of the day's "show" marked the first flight taken by a public official here since the trip of the last Postmaster Murray between

Mayor Peters, like many of the other occupants of the planes, dropped handbills advertising the Victory loan, as his plane made the journey to and from the common.

According to schedule, the "show" was to have consisted of an attack on an observation balloon—termed in the parlance of the circus "tickling on a crisscross"—but because of technical difficulties it was impossible to get the "crisscross" into the air yesterday. This will be done this morning, however, and the balloon will remain over the common during the remainder of the loan drive. At night it will be illuminated by rays from the enormous searchlights that have been lighting up the clouds for a week.

"Hop On" at Franklin Field

The seven planes "hopped off" at Franklin Field at 2:30 and flew to the common where the thousands were waiting. In charge of the planes were American, French and British aces who are touring New England boosting the loan. They reached the common a few minutes later.

First a lone plane appeared at a high rate of speed, circled the common and flew to the north. Then other planes came on in diamond formation.

Stunts that made the crowd gasp at the possibility of more names in the casualty list then became the order. Imitation bombs advertising the loan were released and showered down upon the crowd. Just to show what they could do in the way of maneuvers, the young aces looped the loop, side slipped until it seemed as if they would strike the ground before righting their planes, corkscrowed, nose dived, and did all the other tricks known to experienced aviators.

One machine came within range of an anti-aircraft gun. Immediately a bomb was fired into the air and, to the onlookers it seemed, the gunner made a direct hit, for the machine promptly dropped toward the earth as if out of control. It twisted and turned and stopped until it reached a low level. Then the aviator straightened it out and gracefully rose to safety.

The machines literally skimmed the heads of the crowd, coming so low that their pilots could be easily seen by the spectators. After defying the laws of gravity and probability of disaster, the planes circled the common once more and made the return trip to Franklin Field.

At 4:15 the machines were transferred to a train and started for Concord, N. H., where the circus will exhibit today. Monday it showed in Rutland, Vt. Mayor Peters was the object of considerable interest as he climbed into his machine at Franklin Field. "Eddie" Burke, his secretary, accompanied the mayor to the field, and as the latter got aboard, "Eddie" with a broad grin, said, "Well, so long, Mr. Mayor."

"What are you grinning at?" returned the mayor. "If anything happens to me I'll come back and haunt you, see if I don't."

The mayor was attired in a regulation army aviator's outfit. He enjoyed the trip greatly, he said upon his return, and he hoped the loan would go as high as he had been.

The squadron is in charge of Major Henry J. Miller, flight commander, and its personnel includes 26 officers and 60 enlisted men. Its itinerary extends from New York to Jacksonville, and includes 30 cities. Following are the aces and their records: Capt. H. W. Woodcock, British, 23 Hun planes, six of them on one day; Maj. Gerald Y. C. Maxwell, British, 31 planes; Lieut. John O. Donaldson, Cornell, 19, with the highest record among the American aces in this outfit, eight planes; Lieut. James O. Creech, also Cornell, 19; Lieut. James C. Hall, six planes; Lieut. Albert Cantoni, Italian, six planes; Capt. Arthur E. Simonin, Leroy E. Garris, Harry M. Smith, Fred R. Winters, Lieut. George T. Wise, American, and Maj. Maurice Connolly, Representative from the 3d Iowa district, the only congressman to enter the American air service.

Other flyers are Lieuts. Melvin G. Kelleher, Raymond T. Birdsall, John Roullet, Jean de St. Marc, George C. McDonald, William P. Shanon, George T. White, Bert R. Blair, Grissom B. Haynes and Guy Stewart. Lieut. Isaac City is engineering officer, Lieut. Albert J. McPherson is detachment commander and H. C. Crueger traffic officer.

Toneka clubwomen have started a movement to have householders in the same locality cut the grass on the same day, so as to keep the lawns uniform.

When To Gather Roots and Herbs

For medicinal purposes, roots and herbs should be gathered when their medicinal properties are at their best. For instance, roots of annual plants should be dug just before their flowering season, and roots of biennial or perennial plants after the tops have dried. All these things are taken into consideration in gathering the roots and herbs, many tons of which are used annually in preparing that most successful of all remedies for woman's ills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.—Adv.

CAUCUS OF AMERICAN

LEGION TOMORROW

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—Hundreds of delegates arrived today for the three-day caucus of the American Legion, which opens tomorrow.

The temporary executive committee: Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt, Benet Clark and Eric Wood, chairman, vice chairman and secretary, respectively, appointed at the Paris caucus last March, is here. They emphasize that the organization will be non-partisan and non-political and will be a fraternal organization for world war veterans.

More than 1000 delegates are expected to attend the opening session, as each state is allowed a representation equal to twice its congressional representation. Committees to facilitate the work of the caucus were named today.

The object of the caucus is to draw up a tentative constitution, arrange a place for the first convention next November and decide on a permanent name for the organization. Officers also will be chosen.

More than 4,000,000 are expected to join the association. All who were in the service at any period during the war are eligible to membership.

RECEPTION TO SAILORS AND SOLDIERS

An enthusiastic meeting of the C.M. A.C. was held last evening in the quarters of the organization in Pawtucket street. The meeting was presided over by President Adolphe Brasseur and the attendance was large. Considerable routine business was transacted and the matter of a big celebration for the members of St. Joseph's, St. Louis and Notre Dame de Lourdes parishes, who have served Uncle Sam either as soldiers or sailors in the great world war, was discussed at length and it was finally voted to call a meeting of representatives of the various fraternal and social organizations of the city for the purpose of making plans for the big event. Rev. L. N. Harland, O.M.I., chaplain of the association, Rep. Henry Akin, Xavier A. Delisle, Joseph L. Lamoureux and others spoke in favor of the plan and the date of the meeting was set as Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the hall of the association. In the course of the business meeting 22 new members were initiated and a committee was appointed to arrange a game tournament with the members of Club City-Americans.

IRISH ENVOYS VISIT FAMILIAR SCENES

DUBLIN, May 7.—Edward F. Dunne of Illinois who is in Ireland as a representative of the Irish societies in the United States yesterday visited Trinity college, where he was educated. Afterwards he drove in a motor car, accompanied by Prof. Edward De Valera, Arthur Griffiths and Count Plunkett, the Sinn Fein leaders, to St. Patrick's college at Maynooth, where he dined with President McCarbery.

Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia who is on the same mission as former Gov. Dunne, spent the morning near Carlow, his parental home, going thence by motor to Maynooth. The ecclesiastical students gave the visitors an enthusiastic welcome.

In Dublin nationalist circles the belief is expressed that the visit to London of Frank P. Walsh, another of the American delegation is not as stated in connection with private business, but due to negotiations regarding Ireland now proceeding. The Sinn Fein leaders deny this interpretation while nationalists assert that Mr. Walsh's visit points to a hitch in obtaining a safe-conduct to Paris for the Sinn Fein leaders. Influential nationalists are making strong efforts to prevent the visit of the Sinn Fein leaders to the French capital.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Once again Miss Jane Salisbury and Mr. Julian Noy, the leading woman and man of the Emerson All Star Players, demonstrate in a most convincing manner their exceptional versatility in the portrayal of stage characters. In the presentation of the week's attraction, "Old Lady 21," which is scoring such decided hits with the patrons, Mr. Noy is seen in the role of the elderly sea captain who is forced to sell his house and make provisions for the removal of himself and wife, while Miss Salisbury is seen as the aged wife. Both characterizations are quite out of the ordinary, but they are handled in a most acceptable way by both. See the play and be convinced what is said of their work.

R. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Tarzan, the mysterious—the question mark—holds the centre of attention at the R. F. Keith theatre this week. Thousands have wondered just what he is—and are still wondering. The answer has not yet been made. Every one will want to look him over, see his strange antics, and take a guess at just what he is.

The remainder of the bill is more than ordinarily good. Stephens and Hollister in one of the classiest of musical comedy acts, have many followers, and Frank Mullane, the story-teller and singer, is a top-notch quantity all of the time. The Amores Sisters, "those French girls," sing, dance and inject much comedy into their work. Their physical culture stunt is literally a corker. Klein Brothers, in comedy; Aubrey & Ritchie, dancers; and Frank Mackley, banjoist, complete this remarkably good bill.

THE STRAND

By special arrangement with the owners the pictures, the management of the Strand has been able to secure the use of the great film story, "Out of the Fog," in which the wonderful Russian artist Nazimova is featured. For the last three days of the week, this is done to meet public demand. The picture was scheduled to be shown for the first three days of the week only, but the demand has been so great that the management decided to hold it the picture for the full week. This announcement will, no doubt, meet with the hearty approval of all lovers of high grade photoplays who have been unable to attend the performances earlier in the week. "Out of the Fog" is a most remarkable picture play and in it the star finds new fields for the demonstration of her exceptional emotional powers and dramatic skill.

This arrangement will provide for a big pile bill for the week-end, and the prices will remain the same. Besides the above, Evelyn Nesbit (Thaw)

Relieves Deafness, Stops Head Noises

Nine out of ten cases of Deafness and Head Noises are caused by catarrhal mucus (matter) in the Eustachian Tube, which connects the nose and the ears. Leonard Ear Oil removes the mucus, opens up the tube and the other air passages of the head, and the result is improved hearing and relief from Head Noises. It is not put in the ears, but is "Rubbed in Back of Ears" and inserted in the nostrils, and common sense Directions for Care of Hearing, which accompany each bottle, tell you exactly how to take care of your own case. Do not be misled by substitutes or imitations. The only genuine "EAR OIL" is A. O. Leonard Ear Oil. It is the original and has been on the market since 1907, and every year it has relieved hundreds of people of their Ear Troubles. No matter how long you have been deaf, nor how deaf you are or what caused your deafness, or how many things you have already tried which have failed to relieve you, Leonard Ear Oil has relieved many such cases as your own. Why not you?

A Testimonial That Has Been SWORN TO 11-12-18.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 13th day of November, 1918.

Joseph Brannan, Notary Public No. 221, City and County of New York.

Dear Mr. Leonard—Having had my hearing completely restored by Leonard Ear Oil, I feel it an obligation to let you and others know what it has done for me. My deafness was caused by catarrh and I had been growing worse for years. I had become so deaf I was considering giving up my regular business because of my deafness. It was necessary for me to hear well in my regular work. After using less than two bottles of Leonard Ear Oil I hear as well as ever and am my regular work. Sincerely yours, JOSEPH A. STAFFORD, 351 West 145th St., New York City.

will appear in her greatest attraction, "Thou Shalt Not," the story of a modern Magdalen. It's the recital of a young girl who was forced into a life of sin because she trusted her sweet heart rather than her parents. The wide and sympathetic appeal of the subject should display Miss Nesbit's talents at their best.

Albert Ray and Elmer Fair, the new William Fox Players, will be seen in a comedy drama called "Married in Haste." Mr. Ray has been engaged as the star. It was his remarkable talent displayed by both these young people on the screen, it is said, that caused Mr. Fox to place them on his list. They are a couple of decidedly clever youngsters, full of pep and charm, and, according to reports, have made a picture that is one long roar of laughter. At the same time the story has a moral that is worth while.

A rom mix comedy, one of those rip-roaring creations with all kinds of good humor in the action and story, will be an added attraction, while the newest Universal Weekly and the latest song numbers will help round out a bill that will commend itself to all.

LOWELL EAGLES WILL HOLD BANQUET

A regular meeting of Lowell eagle, E.O.E., was held last evening in English hall, Harrington building, Central st., with worthy President David J. Hackett in the chair. Secretary John M. Hogan reported for the anniversary committee, stating that all arrangements had been made for the banquet to be held May 13. A communication was received from the Victory Loan committee and it was voted to pur-

It was voted to conduct a ladies' night in the near future and interesting remarks were made by Brethren Quinn, O'Keefe, Hughes, Flynn, Desjardins and Hackett. In attendance at the meeting were visiting brethren from Lynn, Salem, Worcester and Philadelphia. It was announced that delegates from the aerle will visit Worcester and Webster aerles during the coming week, while members and officers will attend a large class instruction to be held at Maynard Sunday, May 15.

SHIPPING BOARD BUSINESS TO BE TRANSACTED IN GROSS INSTEAD OF DEADWEIGHT TONS

WASHINGTON, May 7.—All business of the shipping board hereafter will be transacted in gross instead of deadweight tons, conforming with the usage of all the other nations of the world in that respect.

Deadweight tons represent cargo-carrying capacity and frequently give an entirely erroneous indication of a vessel's size.

Gross tonnage is the cubical content. The Leviathan, for instance, is rated as only 15,000 deadweight tons, but is actually 45,000 gross tons in size, most of the space being consumed in passenger arrangements.

SHOT DOWN BY SAILOR FAMOUS "BLACK MARIA"

CHICAGO, May 7.—A man who failed to stand or remove his hat during the playing of the National Anthem is in a hospital today, having been shot twice by a sailor guard after the man had flourished a revolver among hundreds of spectators at a Victory loan celebration yesterday.

The man, who gave his name as Joseph Goddard, was taken to the Bridgwell hospital with wounds in his arm and thigh, and in addition to the revolver, was found to have a knife and razor.

Samuel A. Hagemann, apprentice seaman, who shot Goddard, returned to the Great Lakes naval training station today and was put under guard pending a naval inquiry into the shooting.

LOWELL FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION

That the drive for new members by the Lowell Fish and Game association is going along successfully was proven at last night's meeting in Odd Fellows building when 62 applicants were accepted with a single ballot by the vote of the body.

The meeting was called to order by President Simon B. Harris and the records of the annual meeting were read by Secretary Holt. Remarks were made by Senator A. W. Colburn of Deane, and B. S. Ponzner of the Lowell war camp community service. A large amount of routine business was disposed of and a re-stocking committee, in compliance with the request of the state commission was appointed as follows: Secretary Willis S. Holt, Vice President O'Heir and A. A. Ryan.

The new members who were accepted by the organization are as follows:

A. W. Gustafson, Philip Maguire, J. R. Sharpe, Robert B. Riley, Peter G. W. C. Livingston, M. C. Crymble, J. V. Ohlson, W. Nicholas, R. H. Locke, W. H. Hickey, C. Lawson, Oscar L. Kelly, P. W. Lynch, Albert C. Webster, R. E. Jones, Arthur Whitson, F. M. Liberty, L. E. Herne, B. P. Perring, B. O. Page, J. C. Fox, Sidney Fryer, R. H. Elliott, P. W. Lottier, James O'Sullivan, A. S. Howard, H. A. Libbey, L. L. Fay, Max Katz, Rev. Chaucer Hawkins, Henry L. Bourke, William J. Carroll, Fred N. Welf, Larkin T. Trull, Oscar B. White, E. M. Poyer, Frank Goldman, R. E. Farrington, Harry Hall, Maj. W. E. Jones, R. D. Dukes, Max Carr, R. C. Dexter, G. A. Taylor, Herbert C. Chapman, E. J. McGuire, G. A. Evans, O. C. McFarland, E. Buckley, A. H. Wyman, F. Hall, J. J. Horses Pensioned and Wagon Discarded in Favor of Automobile

NEW YORK, May 7.—After almost half a century of transporting persons convicted of crime from the Tombs and other places of detention to railroad stations to start on their journey to prisons, the famous "Black Maria" wagon has been discarded in favor of automobiles. The two horses that have drawn the ancient conveyance for many years, have been pensioned.

Mr. John Cox, 48 East Merrimack st., who is a slasher tender at Massachusetts mill, and well known in this city was one of the greatest sufferers from this disease in Lowell. He said: "For over a year I had rheumatism in my knees. They were swollen badly and so sore I could not stand it to have anything touch them. Nights I had to sleep with the bed clothes between my knees in order to ease the pain. No one knows how I suffered unless they have had it like I did. I felt I must have relief as once, and when I saw how many Lowell people were giving their testimonials to Goldine, and how quick they got help, I decided to try it. I have taken only one bottle and the soreness is all out of my knees, and the swelling has left one knee entirely and is nearly gone from the other. I sleep fine nights now for I am free from pain. I don't think I would have tried Goldine at all if they had published statements from other towns, but being just Lowell people I had faith in it and am glad as you please for if any one suffered from rheumatism like I did they should know about it. Tell them Goldine is the best rheumatism medicine I ever got hold of and will help them right away. Tell them I did me."

Mr. Cox is right when he said, "If you have rheumatism you want relief at once." The fact that fifty people in Lowell have already given their testimonials of the help they have gotten from Goldine is proof that it does the work. Goldine No. 1 is used for stomach, nerve and heart trouble. Goldine No. 2 for rheumatism and kidney trouble. Not one medicine for all diseases; not a patent medicine but one that has produced the results in Lowell. Come and talk it over with me at Carter & Sherburne's Drug Store. I do not diagnose or prescribe, but will be glad to help you if you need it.

38 KOREAN AGITATORS SENT TO PRISON

SEOUL, Korea, April 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Thirty-eight Korean agitators at Pyeong-Yang have been sentenced to prison for periods ranging from six months to two years. Similar sentences were imposed upon Koreans by the court at Taiku. About 2400 agitators who were arrested at Seoul and its suburbs have been released by the police after admonition.

A great many public market places in the country have been closed because it was found that disturbances arose on market days.

SMASH REGULAR ARMY BUILD UP NAT. GUARD

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—The National Guard Association of the United States must work to smash the regular army and build up the national guard, Lieut. Col. Bennett Clark, son of Speaker Champ Clark of the house of representatives, declared in an address at the closing session of the association's convention last night, following his election as president of the organization. He said the regular army should be large enough only to do police duty. James A. Drane of Washington, following Clark's address said he believed Col. Clark did not really mean what he said when he declared the "regular army should be smashed."

Harvey J. Moss of Washington state, temporary chairman, asked Col. Clark if he wished to modify the assertion. "No," emphasized Clark. "I meant every word I said."

Col. Clark was administration officer of the 25th Division and recently received his discharge.

MYSTERY STORY OF THE WEEK

Tarzan, the unknown, the unfathomable, the missing link of this week's B. F. Keith program is here. Missed train connections caused his absence on Monday, but he took his proper place at the head of the bill yesterday and there will remain, shrouded in mystery, for the remainder of the week. Tarzan looks like an ape, he acts like one, and yet he does many of things humans do. He is one of the biggest sensations ever seen in Lowell, but no every-day critic can attempt to place him in his proper place in the scheme of things. The individual spectator must decide for himself.

VOTE TO HOLD DRILL

A special meeting of Camp Four, Uniform Rank, I.O.O.F. M.U., was held last evening in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, with W. C. Frank E. Bowles in the chair. The attendance was large and considerable business was transacted. It was voted to hold a drill on the Bunting grounds on Friday evening, May 16 at 6.30 o'clock, and also to go to Maynard June 1 to participate in the memorial services to be conducted by Assabet lodge. Other routine business was transacted and interesting remarks were made by Brig. Gen. Willis Bowles, William Hudson, John W. Foster and Harry Stack.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisilf coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful will make an abundance of rich creamy lather, and cleanses the hair rings out easily. The latter part of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Multisilf coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very clean, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

Frail, Sickly Children Improve Rapidly on Vinol

The reason we so strongly recommend Vinol for frail, sickly children is because it is a non-secret remedy which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycophosphates—but no oil—the very elements needed to build them up. It is delicious to the taste, and children love it.

These Two Mothers Have Proved This.
Bainbridge, N.Y. "My little daughter, 13 years old, overworked and was run-down, tired all the time, nervous, had headaches, couldn't eat and had to stay out of school. Vinol has built her up. She has a good appetite, no more headaches, and has returned to school again."—Mrs. Lester Andrews.
Williamson, W. Va. "My little boy was weak, puny, and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. Vinol was recommended and it built up his strength and made him healthy. Now he romps and plays like other children. We certainly believe in Vinol for children."—Harley Clay.

DOUBLE KNOCKOUT ENDS
BOUT AT PLAYHOUSE

A double knockout in the semi-final bout between Young Kearney of Centralville and Young Avilla of the "Nats," was the feature of the meeting of the Triangles A.C. at the Playhouse last night. This unusual development came in the fourth round and terminated a very exciting and hard hitting contest, which honors practically even up until both men hit the canvas. The strange ending brought all the fans to their feet and the theatre rocked with enthusiasm. Avilla hit Kearney in the stomach and Kearney caught Avilla on the chin. Both dropped, and Referee Mack began to count the fatal ten over the men. He continued with eyes on the two boxers until six was reached. Here Avilla got up and staggered to his corner. The referee turned his back and continued to toll off the seconds over Kearney. The Centralville lad took the full count, and the referee pointed to Avilla. But during the excitement Avilla's seconds helped him to his corner, a violation of the rules of boxing. The official, however, did not see the infraction and ruled accordingly.

Kearney's friends protested the decision, and as a result the boys were rematched to appear next Friday night. In the main bout, George Rivet proved no match for Pat Reed and the one-punch sensation had little trouble in beating the Canadian "champion" in four rounds. Reed, a south-paw fighter, had his opponent completely baffled and got the jump right at the start and never gave Rivet a chance. Reed proved to be a very hard hitter and gave Rivet a terrible pounding in the third round. Reed continued his attack in the fourth and after showering Rivet with blows, backed him to the ropes and let go a "beast" to the jaw for a sleep-producer. While Rivet was outclassed from the start, he was considered gameness and his willingness to "take it" made a hit with the fans.

In the preliminaries, Dinky Welsh and Dave Martin boxed a five round, and Young Stone won from Tony Discini in the first round.

NAME SECTIONS FOR THE AMATEUR SCHEDULE

N.E.A. Special to The Sun.
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., May 7.—Amateur baseball is developing so rapidly the National Baseball Federation has been broken up according to the geography. Secretary Tom Nokes in outlining the plans for the 1919 championship series today gave out the divisions decided on. They take in the biggest towns in the country with the exception of the Pacific coast and other far west states.

These sections are to decide their own champions. The sectional divisions will then play in semi-finals to decide which teams will fight it out for the national title in the final early in the fall.

The entries for the annual inter-city championship series of the federation for Class A (amateurs), Class AA (industrial) and Class AAA (semi-professionals) close on July 1. The schedule for the series will be adopted at a meeting to be held at Cincinnati July 7.

This is how the country is divided:

- Middle West—Cleveland, Detroit, Toledo, Indianapolis, Columbus, Dayton, Cincinnati and Louisville.
- Central West—Kyron, Canton, Massillon, Pittsburg, Johnstown, Buffalo.
- Eastern—Baltimore, Washington, Richmond, Wilmington, Trenton, Philadelphia, New York, Bethlehem, Harrisburg, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton.
- Southern—New Orleans, Houston, Tex., Mobile, Birmingham, Ala., Atlanta, Savannah.
- Southwest—Kansas City, St. Louis, Memphis, Omaha, Lincoln, Des Moines.
- Northwest—Minneapolis, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Duluth, Chicago, Winnipeg, Canada.

Other cities will naturally be included in each of the different sections from time to time if they can get organized and wish to compete.

LOWELL HIGH PLAYS
WOBBURN TOMORROW

Woburn high comes to this city tomorrow afternoon to meet the Lowell high school ball losers at Spaulding park. Lowell will have a game from Woburn in the latter city earlier in the season and should repeat the dose tomorrow. On Saturday Nashua high comes down to play the Lowell boys. Both contests should result in Lowell victories for the team is going along smoothly now and should win most of its remaining games.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The Bowers A. C. would like to meet any 10 or 11-year-old team in the city on Saturday afternoon. Send challenges through this paper.

The Crystals won their first game of the season last Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Chestnut A. C. in 12 innings, 9 to 8. Parley's pitching featured.

The Root Mills defeated the B. & M. freight office team, 4 to 1, on the South common Saturday. The fighting of Eraburdy and the pitching of Cox, the latter allowing but one hit, were the features of the game.

The Edison school team of the Grayman league won its fourth straight game yesterday when the Bartlett nine was defeated on the South common, 10 to 1. The battery work of Smith and Carr featured.

The Unity A. C. defeated the Blossom Stars yesterday, 11 to 2. The Unity boys will play the Federals Saturday afternoon on the former nine's grounds.

The Warriors would like a game with the Emeralds or any other 17-year-old team in the city. Answer through this paper.

CARLSON AND McREA IN GOOD FORM FOR BOUT

Howard McRea, the sturdy Cambridge fighter, and Harry Carlson, the Brooklyn "live wire," have posted for a fight guaranteeing appearance and weight for their 12-round bout at the Crescent tomorrow night, and indications point to a "who's" of a contest. McRea and Carlson are both "beats" for mixing it, and can give each other the best of them. They are noted for their ability to stand toe-to-toe and swap, a feat that boxing fans greatly enjoy. The pair have trained hard to the match and will be in top form when the bell rings.

PITCHERS' BATTLE

Red Sox Make Only Two Hits But Win, 2 to 0

BOSTON, May 7. Caldwell and Harper fought a pitching duel throughout a hard battle yesterday, the Boston pitcher getting the verdict, 2 to 0. The Red Sox made only two hits to three for Washington. After Harper passed Villi in the second inning, Scott died out to Mahan. Foster threw a wild pitch to force Villi on Walters' grounder and both runners advanced a base when Harper's inside leg strike was a wild pitch. Both scored a moment after on loopers single past second.
The score:
Boston 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 — 2 21
Batteries: Caldwell and Walters;
Harper, Craft and Finch.

CHICAGO 3, DETROIT 1

CHICAGO, May 7.—Chicago won a pitchers' battle from Detroit, 3 to 1, yesterday in the presence of several thousand soldiers and sailors, including several ambulance loads of wounded. Williams held the Tigers to four hits, Boland was hit harder, but the White Sox won on a fumble by Hammon. Jackson's three-bagger and Folger's sacrifice fly. Score:
Detroit 0 1 0 0 0 2 0 0 — 1
Batteries: Boland and Yelle; Williams and Seabell.

ST. LOUIS 3, CLEVELAND 2

CLEVELAND, O., May 7.—St. Louis defeated Cleveland, 3 to 2, yesterday in 12 innings before a large crowd that included 3000 soldiers and sailors.
Coulter's next to last pitch, a curve, scored the tying run in the ninth. His big catch, Jacobson and Verber decided the contest. Jacobson featured white, after he had a sacrifice in the sixth to six times to the plate. The score:
St. Louis 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 1 1 0 2 — 3 13
Cleveland 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 — 2 13
Batteries: Davenport, Londermilk, Setherton and Saverold; Coulter, Morton and O'Neill.

PHILADELPHIA 3, NEW YORK 2

PHILADELPHIA, May 7.—Shannon's single in the tenth in the yesterday gave Philadelphia its first home victory over New York, 3 to 2. The Yankees made more than twice as many hits as the locals and had opportunities to score in nearly every inning, but generally they could not put the runs over. They were wild and not particularly effective, but when they threatened to tighten and except upon one occasion held the visitors safe. Score:
Philadelphia 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 1 — 3 42
New York 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 — 2 10 1
Batteries: Perry, Stebbins, Kinney,

DIAMOND NOTES

All the owners of the Pittsburgh ball park wanted was 10 per cent. of the profits as rental. That hardly seems enough, they should demand and receive the entire profits, less 10 per cent.

With Bill Carrigan, Fred Parent and Heinie Wagner handling franchises and teams, the N.E.L. will resemble a subsidiary corporation of the Boston Americans. They ought to produce tight defense clubs at least, and we can see Lewiston going after that one first.

Joe Bush and Sam Jones are needed in a hurry to patch up the warring Red Sox pitching staff, and maybe Ingalls might lead Barrow Dutch Leonard and Ernie Shore for a little while.

Duffy Lewis found the going pretty rough in Boston and just escaped any-lute disgrace by getting a hit his last time up in the last game of the New York series. It was the only one he made in Boston, but the former Red Sox will get going before long and be the same dangerous hitter as of yore.

Mr. Barrow of the Red Sox is very earnest in his invitation to all young pitchers in or around Boston to come to Fenway park during forenoon practice and work out with the regulars.
Star might be unceremonious this way as well as not.

Connie Mack's team had no trouble "getting on" in their series with Washington. It was "getting across" that bothered them. In two games the Athletics had 32 men left on bases, one of the most conclusive proofs that a team is building up individual batting averages with no help to the team as a whole, and wholly lacking in timely hitting.

New names are still bobbing up in the lineup of the Philadelphia Americans and we gather that Connie is not at all sure of his team as yet. Two or three years ago, or for quite some time after he broke up his McInnis-Pollock-Barry-Baker combination, his lineup changed daily and players dismored and faded like magic over in Phillie.

Which reminds us of a double-header we witnessed at Fenway in the summer of 1916 between the Red Sox and the Athletics. The Sox won the first game, 2 to 1, and for the second, it
Stack trotted out a new third baseman, Hooper, first up in the first inning, rolled one down the third baseline to the end of his club and sent it fully 10 feet over the clock which stood on top of the score board on the left field fence. It was the most prodigious swat within memory.

CAPT. "ARCHIE" ROOSEVELT AND MRS. ROOSEVELT IN BOSTON FOR VACATION

BOSTON, May 1.—Capt. "Archie" Roosevelt arrived in Boston yesterday from New York and he and Mrs. Roosevelt are the guests of ex-Lieut. Gov. Grafton D. Cushing at his home, 20 Chestnut street.

Last night Capt. Roosevelt said he was in town for a few days' vacation and has made no definite plans for the future.

Mrs. Roosevelt was formerly Miss Grace Lockwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas St. Clair Lockwood of 290 Commonwealth avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood are now in New Orleans.

Yesterday at the Copley-Plaza Club, Roosevelt met Lieut. G. H. Pennington of New York city, of the 15th Machine Gun Battalion, who wears two wound stripes. The two swapped war experiences.

A Gardner, Me., man went fishing and caught four brook trout and a rabbit. While he was fishing down a stream he saw the rabbit near him, and for fun let out his line and dropped the hook down in front of bunny; then he gave a little jerk on the line, and the hook caught the rabbit in the lower jaw.

300,000 DRAFT EVADERS
ARE STILL AT LARGE

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Nearly 300,000 draft delinquents are at large throughout the United States, according to unofficial estimates from the war department and the department of justice.

Benjamin A. Matthews, assistant United States attorney for the southern district of New York, has been in Washington for the past two days in an effort to have the records of registrants in New York district turned over to the United States attorney there to facilitate the work of running down the delinquents.

Assistant Adjutant General Kerr, stated yesterday that the draft records were packed in boxes and that it would be impracticable to attempt to get at them at this time for the use of the department of justice. He said the department hoped to have a location for the records by the end of this month and that work would begin immediately on the filing and indexing of all the records.

At the department of justice it was explained that where the army had certified that a registrant had been classified as a delinquent the certification had been made to that department and work looking to that department had begun. There are many cases, however, where agents of the department find it necessary to look further into the draft records.

Of the larger number of men classified as delinquents, the department of justice explained, thorough investigation has proved that the men were not really evading the draft. Incidents have been shown where men classified as delinquents by draft boards had been inducted into the service in other districts.

THE M.T.I. HOLDS
LADIES' NIGHT

A most enjoyable Ladies' night was staged by the entertainment committee of the Matthew Temperance Institute in the organization's rooms last evening and was well attended. The Highland orchestra furnished music and the entertainment program included songs by Fred Swan and Leo Deignan.

The officers in charge of the evening were: General manager, Thomas Tighe; assistant, John Bowers; floor director, Walter Quinn, and aids, William Busby and John Giannina.

In these reconstruction days men and women leaders are needed who literally have "iron in their blood." Pepton combines iron-magnesium in true medicinal form. Gives strength of iron to the blood, nerves and digestion, freshens the complexion, reddens pale cheeks, gives the good cheer of health, reduces danger from colds and exposure. Remember the name, Pepton.

GREAT LAKES DISTRICT
LED IN SHIPBUILDING

WASHINGTON, (Correspondence)—First honor in the building of ships during the war was awarded by the shipping board to the ninth, or Great Lakes district. Held by canal restrictions to a lighter type of vessel than was built on the seaboard, the district did not produce so many net tons as other sections, but outstripped all other districts in the number of ships. In one year it put into service 125 more vessels than were delivered from all American yards in the year before the United States entered the war.

At the outbreak of the war Great Lakes yards, which had developed a highly efficient type of cargo carrier, were at work on 100 bottoms for foreign account. All were requisitioned by the shipping board, and the first ship turned over to the board under its war program was the Limoges, a 2900-ton freighter, built at Toledo. Twenty-seven ships were finished and put to sea before the canals froze in 1917.

While winter gripped the lakes new work was continued and the existing fleet, even old boats which had been laid up or overhauled. Summer saw every available craft worked and over-worked as never before, keeping the stream of grain, iron ore, coal and manufactures moving toward the east for shipment to the men in Europe.

At the opening of navigation, 29 ships slipped from the ways and work was carried forward at increased speed. In November a total of 28 ships—nearly one a day—was put into service by Great Lakes yards.

The total for 1918 was 163 new freight carriers, all of them steel except one. The smallest yard on the lakes, having only three ways, delivered 13 ships and finished a 14th only a little late for delivery before the ice closed navigation. Between the end of November and the end of March six more were launched. All were 1200-ton boats.

Ship Built in One Month

One yard built a 3500-ton ship in 31 days. Another launched a 3100-ton hull in 23 days, a record which was clipped to 24 days by another plant soon after. That record stood only a little while, for still another yard launched a 3500-ton ship in 17 days after the laying of the keel and delivered it complete 14 days later.

Expansion of the yards to meet the war's demands gave the Lakes a total of 112 berths, 79 for cargo ships and 33 for tugs. While the average total number of rivet gangs in the Great Lakes district is only 10 per cent of the nation's total, they point proudly to a record of delivering 30 per cent of the country's total ship tonnage.

Additional contracts for 346 ships of 4200 tons each have been placed in the district since the last requisitioned ship was finished in October, the program to be completed by the close of navigation this year. Since the signing of the armistice, 100,000 tons of shipping have been delivered. Orders also have been placed in the district for 25 steel cargo-tugs, 13 wood cargo-tugs, two steel harbor tugs and 25 harbor tugs.

Completion of the building program, according to officials, will give the Lakes district a record of 447 cargo ships and 79 tugs delivered to the government, the largest number of ships and the largest tonnage built in any district.

LADIES' NIGHT AT LISBON CLUB

It was Ladies' night at the Lisbon club rooms on Central street last evening, and a large number of members and friends of this popular organization were on hand for the occasion. Campbell's Band orchestra furnished music for dancing, which was enjoyed until midnight. The officers of the dance were: General manager, John Sousa; assistant general manager, Manuel Correa, and floor director, M. J. Marchall.

MURDER OF YOUNG
TEACHER CLEANED UP

GREENSBURG, Penn., May 1.—Mystery surrounding the murder of Miss Emma Austraw, aged 19, of Latrobe, near here, was cleared late Monday, according to Serat, McLaughlin of the state constabulary, when James Crawford, 25, is said to have confessed that he was a party to the crime and implicated another man, who is under arrest. The latter's name is being withheld until he has been examined by authorities.

According to the police, Crawford, who resides near the Derry Township schoolhouse, where Miss Austraw was a teacher, said that his accomplice shot the girl when she refused to accompany them.

A report from Latrobe says that a mob of 200 persons quickly formed when it became known that authorities at Greensburg had announced that James Crawford had confessed that he took part in the murder of Miss Emma Austraw, the 19-year-old school teacher of this city. Authorities pleaded with the crowd to disperse, but instead the mob boarded three automobile trucks and started on the way to Greensburg.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

as it brings mental health. Social reforms, even the abolition of poverty, are merely paths to mental health.

The mind needs right conditions, care, exercise, even doctoring, quite as much as the body. Mental ill-health shows itself in nervousness, inefficiency, discontent, unreasonable likes and dislikes, jealousy, fear.

These illnesses are not "insanity" any more than a cold is a "disease"; but they keep our lives from being at their best.

They are rooted in habit, in physical weakness or abnormality, often in bad living conditions. They may be cured by anyone who will pay the price in effort, self-analysis and will-power. The result is worth the price—worth many times the price.

The rules for winning and keeping mental health are the sum and substance of all psychology. If you cannot apply them, get the help of a consulting psychologist. Here are the rules; try them for six months and observe the gain in your happiness:

1—Acquire the habit of emotional control. Do not fear what is called "repression"—conscious repression is a source of strength.

2—Harden yourself to endure slights, criticism, prejudice, dislike, even abuse. This "psychic hardening" is highly important if the mind is to keep unimpaired and healthy. Extreme sensitiveness is unhealthy.

3—Improve the senses. Exercise them. Learn to see more, hear more, taste, smell and touch more accurately. Exercise the senses deliberately every day.

4—Put aside unhealthy images and ideas. Don't fight them particularly, but simply turn the attention to something interesting and healthy.

5—Increase the accuracy and rapidity of your thinking. Exercise the mind while at work and at play; the good mind is both firm and swift.

6—Strengthen and control your attention. Always attend wholly to the matter in hand; your capacity will increase by this exercise. Never let attention dwell on the useless or the painful.

7—Study your own normal positions and movements, and adopt them consciously when standing or sitting. Your natural attitudes are the best for you.

8—Learn to relax. Muscular relaxation removes fatigue, both physical and mental.

9—Learn to practice. If you find a thing hard to do but desirable, figure out exercises. Your capacity will rise along the well known "practice curve."

10—Imitate good models. First realize that you are bound to imitate in almost every act of life. Then surround yourself with the people you want to resemble in given qualities. Keep away from others.

11—Increase your physical and mental "lightness." We walk too heavily, think too heavily, play too heavily.

12—Establish healthy "motivation principles." That is, be sure your ruling motives are good. Don't be impelled by hatred, jealousy, and so on, as many people are even when they do good things.

13—Establish moral relations with other people—normal morally and socially. City dwellers often live in an abnormal world. Many people hardly touch the world at all.

14—Above all, establish a healthy philosophy of living. Have a good goal; you may chance it occasionally, but be sure of what you want to accomplish today, tomorrow, next month and in ten years.

MR. LAVIGNE BUYS MORE PROPERTY

Fred Lavigne, the local liquor dealer, has purchased the real estate at the corner of Mt. Washington and Pawtucket streets. This property consists of a beautiful reinforced concrete structure containing six tenements. In addition there is also a large tract of land in Mt. Washington street. Mr. Lavigne has bought from Dr. George Constantineau and the final papers were signed today. The property is assessed for $3150.

Mr. Lavigne owns several houses in Walker street and Moody street, his last purchase being that of the three large blocks known as Gregoire's place in Moody street, which was formerly owned by Avila Sawyer.

Wilson Meets Pershing

Confer on Pact For Safeguarding France Against Renewed Hun Aggression

PARIS, May 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Wilson had an appointment with General Pershing for 2 o'clock this afternoon, probably in relation to the three power pact under discussion for safeguarding France against renewed German aggression.

PARIS, May 7.—(Havas) France, the United States and Great Britain have concluded an agreement giving supplementary guarantees for France and security for the peace treaty.

The Echo de Paris says it adds that Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George today will draft in final form this additional pact which will not be secret.

Treaty of 80,000 Words
Continued

Large attended by delegates of 23 nations which are parties to the peace pact.

This notable document, on which the leading statesmen of the various nations, with a swarm of experts have been working since the convening of the peace conference on Jan. 18, is introduced by an extensive preamble, embodying the assertion of authority upon which the treaty is based.

First Chapter League Draft

The first chapter is the covenant of the League of Nations, the text of which already has been printed. Of the 14 principal sections, one contains stipulations with regard to frontiers which materially change the map of Europe. Military, naval and air terms dealt with in another section, while another is devoted to the subject of reparations. Political stipulations, on the one hand, and on the other, are dealt with in the remaining sections of the document.

Major treaty, it is noted, has to do with the army alone, except insofar as it is bound up with the acceptance of armistice already by the allies with the other or many powers.

That document, long as it is, is short, will be included by some of the will be, which estimated its length at 80,000 words.

The treaty is not printed in German, the copy is in French and English, on the same pages.

claim terms of the treaty spell the future of Germany as a military power, deprived of virtually all of her army, and she is sharply reduced along lines through which she seeks to work militarily to re-establish herself. Economically, also, the future of Germany is spelled in the treaty.

The ceremony of handing the treaty to the Germans took place in the hall of the Trianon Palace hotel, a spacious, well lighted chamber with tables for the delegates arranged nearly in the form of a square. The presiding officer was Georges Clemenceau, premier of France and president of the peace congress, who sat at the center of the head table with President Wilson and the other American representatives on his right and David Lloyd George, the British premier and his colleagues on the left. Mrs. Wilson was a spectator.

HISTORY OF THE PEACE CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press.)

The treaty handed to the Germans today at Versailles is the result of the work of the representatives of the allied and associated powers arrayed against Germany who convened officially on January 18, less than four months ago. The time between the armistice, Nov. 11, and January 18, was occupied in preparing claims and reports in the selection of delegates and in their travel to Paris.

Wilson at Brest Dec. 13

President Wilson and the American delegates sailed from New York on Dec. 4, 1918 and when the president set foot at Brest on Dec. 13, he was the first American president to visit Europe while in office. The intervening month before the opening of the conference was spent by the president in becoming acquainted with allied statesmen and in visiting England, Italy and parts of France.

Clemenceau Made Chairman

The first act of the peace conference at its meeting on January 18, was to elect Georges Clemenceau, premier of France, as chairman. On January 21 the conference adopted the proposal that all Russian factions meet on the Princes Islands to discuss the Russian situation. Nothing ever came of the proposal. Three days later the conference ordered fighting over disputed territory to cease.

League of Nations

The plan for a League of Nations was conceived in by the conference on Jan. 24, and a committee was appointed to draw up a covenant. Discussion in the supreme council, or Council of Ten, which included two representatives from Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States, then turned to the form of the future government of territory freed from enemy rule and on January 24 the conference accepted the plan of mandatories for colonies and backward nations.

Wilson's Return to U. S.

On February 14 the League of Nation was signed at Versailles, and the treaty was signed by the president on January 28, 1920.

Wilson's Commission reported the covenant of the League of Nations, the text of which already has been printed.

On March 26 in order to speed up the work of the Council of Ten was broken up in two bodies, a Council of Four and a Council of Foreign Ministers. The Council of Four was composed of Premiers Orlando, Clemenceau, Lloyd George and President Wilson.

Wilson Summoned Ship

A furore in conference circles was created on April 7, when President Wilson summoned the transport Geopline to come to Brest at once and it was reported he intended to return home. A stalemate on reparations and frontier questions, it was reported at the time, was believed to have prompted his action.

On April 11 at a plenary session the conference adopted the report of the international labor legislation committee and on April 14 the reparations demands to be made on Germany were announced. On April 18 the Germans were invited to send delegates to receive the treaty.

The Plume Question

With the German treaty near completion the question of Italy's claims in the Adriatic came to the front. On April 23, President Wilson issued a statement that Plume could not belong to Italy. The Italian delegation announced its intention of leaving Paris and on April 24, Premier Orlando started for Rome. Scarcely had he departed than the vanguard of the German delegation reached Versailles on April 25, followed on April 30 by the principal delegates. Previously the Germans had expressed the intention of sending "messengers" to receive the treaty, but finally were compelled to send delegates with full powers.

Geneva Sent of League

In the absence of the Italian delegates the conference on April 23 adopted the revised covenant of the League of Nations. Geneva was selected as the seat of the league, and Sir Eric Drummond of Great Britain was made first secretary-general.

Agreement on Santung

On April 30 the Council of Three reached an agreement on the question of Santung which gave the territory to the Japanese who are to turn it over later to the Chinese.

First Meeting With Germans

The first meeting with the Germans took place on May 1, when credentials were exchanged at Versailles.

Today Premier Orlando and the other Italian delegates returned to Paris in time for the handing of the peace treaty to the Germans.

GERMANS TO SIGN AGAINST INDEMNITY

PARIS, May 7.—The German delegates to the peace congress declare that they will sign the peace treaty but that Germany will not pay an indemnity.

In discussion of peace terms, Germany's spokesmen have invariably drawn a distinction between reparation and indemnity, construing the latter as punitive damages.

MRS. WILSON TO ATTEND SESSION

PARIS, May 7.—The session of the peace congress at which the treaty will be presented to the Germans this afternoon is expected to last 20 minutes, according to the Havas Agency. It will be opened by Premier Clemenceau.

Wife of 82 Goes to Law Over Mother-in-Law

(By Newspaper Enterprise Association)

WENTCHEF, Wash., May.—No wife can ever be sure she has severed her husband from his mother's apron strings.

The mother-in-law problem—as old as Eve's disapproval of Cain's wife—may bob up for the mother of 80 as well as for the wife of 20.

The case of Mrs. Ellen S. Cooley proves it—a case perhaps secretly consulting to mother's, but certainly disquieting to wives.

Mrs. Cooley, 52, is suing her husband, Ferdinand Cooley, 70, for divorce on the ground that his mother, 84, has alienated his affections.

For the better part of 15 years, the aggrieved wife says, she and Cooley were as happy as honeymooners a third of their age. She was a wealthy spinster of 57 when he, a beau of 35, courted and won her in Muskogean, Mich.

Mrs. F.L. Cooley

Persuading her to come to Washington, Cooley invested some of his wife's money in an apple orchard, she says.

Then mother-in-law arrived at the home, and the chestnut stage joke began to develop real burrs for the wife. Cooley, she says, was the dutiful son rather than the devoted husband. He bought a two passenger roadster. There was room for only one of the women. He chose his mother, taking her daily to town and to church on Sundays, while Mrs. Cooley walked or stayed at home.

The venerable mother was given the best room in the house, the wife being relegated to the garret.

"I've even sold the family cow to deprive me of the milk diet prescribed by my doctor," she complains. "And he repeatedly told me he was sadly disappointed in our marriage, finally notifying me to leave the house and never return."

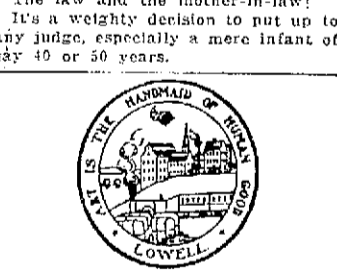

"When I asserted the home was mine, he informed me he had recorded the deed in his name."

"Then he confessed another woman had supplanted me in his affection—meaning his mother. That being so, only divorce was left for me."

"I believe no wife ever entirely weans her husband away from his mother."

Ninety-four and eighty-two competing for the love of seventy!

The law and the mother-in-law! It's a weighty decision to put up to any judge, especially a mere infant of 34 or 50 years.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION

Office of the Superintendent of Schools, Lowell, Mass., May 7, 1919.

On Saturday, June 21, 1919, at the Lowell high school, Kirk and Anne O'Brien, beginning at nine o'clock in the forenoon, there will be a public examination of applicants for Lowell teachers' certificates at the third grade level. The examination will apply to the primary and grammar grades of the schools.

Persons to be eligible to take the examination must be graduates of colleges or normal schools and must have had two years' successful experience as teachers in day schools.

All applicants must signify their intention of taking the examination by notifying the Superintendent of Schools in writing, at least three weeks before the date of such examination, at which time the list will be closed and after which time no new names will be added.

The subjects of the examination will be Arithmetic, English Grammar and Language, United States History and Civil Government, and Principles and Methods of Teaching.

Applicants are advised to forward certificates of graduation and successful experience at the time of sending notice of intention to take the examination.

GERMANS FLEE FROM EXPLOSION

Series of Explosions Near Brussels Kills Many—Houses Demolished

BRUSSELS, Tuesday, May 6 (By the Associated Press).—A depot of German ammunition containing shells and bombs of every calibre and many gas shells has been exploding since yesterday morning at the railway station at Groenendaal, six miles south of Brussels, where Canadian troops were inspected by King Albert eight days ago. The depot has been under guard of 150 Belgian soldiers and 600 German prisoners have been at work near it. It is believed there are many killed and wounded, but the number of victims will not be known for several days.

Many houses in the neighborhood have completely collapsed and windows and roofs for two miles around the scene of the explosion have been shattered. It is reported that while workmen were unloading a wagon filled with shells a detonator exploded in the hands of a German prisoner, setting fire to the ammunition boxes. After the explosion the German prisoners broke the barbed wire cordon surrounding the camp and fled in all directions through the woods. Only 150 have been arrested since.

LOWELL TEACHERS HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

A garland of pleasure, besprinkled with blossoms of happy music, and wit, was the annual banquet of the Lowell Teachers' organization, held last evening at the State Normal school with several hundred teachers and fortunate invited guests present to enjoy the occasion.

Dr. Frederick W. Hamilton, former president of Tufts college, and at present a member of the state board of education, was the speaker of the evening and his address was most acceptably up to the minute—so much so that it embraced a reference to the use of a machine gun at the Lawrence strike. Following an excellent dinner, a brief program of entertainment was carried out and included a feature in the presence of four high school seniors who danced with all the grace and abandon of devotees of the art of Isadora Duncan. They were the Misses Esther Whitman, Jeanette Chevalier, Eleanor Sutton and Louise Harrigan. The Lenox Ladies' orchestra furnished music for the evening and Albert Edmund Brown led in community singing.

Miss Genevieve Lawrence, president of the organization, presided and introduced Principal John J. Mahoney who introduced the speakers of the evening after extending a hearty welcome. Mayor Perry D. Thompson was first introduced and in opening, told of his inevitable embarrassment at talking before an audience of school teachers.

He regretted the inadequacy of training evident among school teachers in some parts of the country and said that he believed the meagre amount of pay received a big factor in this condition. He advocated more leniency in the matter of allowing school boards to handle their own money.

Dr. Hamilton was the next speaker. He characterized the present times as opportunity for serious interest in the future welfare of the country. He was sure that the teachers had a deep interest in the citizenship of the nation and he believed that woman suffrage would soon be granted.

He said that most people were of the opinion that civilization had today advanced to such an extent that private wars were no longer possible. He cited the present Lawrence strike and recent telephone strike as examples to prove that this was not so. Strikes, he declared, were nothing more than private wars and by allowing people to strike the law reactions such wars. He did not like to see strikers in Lawrence who have pulled guns on policemen crying baby when the latter bring a machine gun into play. What he wished to emphasize, he said, was that as long as we resort to private warfare for settling our disputes, our civilization is only half built.

Coming down to the teachers themselves and their relation to organized labor, he said that he regretted the fact that the Boston teachers were considering joining the American Federation of Labor but he could see no other way for them to get what they wanted. He urged the development of a system of industrial law which shall secure for the employer and employee what rights belong to each so that instead of building up civilization with one hand and tearing it down with the other, we shall build with both hands. Henry H. Harris, principal of the Varnum school, was the next speaker and he made brief appeal for the victory loan. The spirit of thanksgiving alone, he declared, should make us want to dig down.

Supt. Hugh J. Molloy contrasted the condition of the country today with that of a year ago and said that the one way to prepare for war was to prepare men. The teachers, he affirmed, had done a noble part in this work.

He was of the opinion that the public will never pay teachers enough because teachers will always find more than mere monetary remuneration in the profession. He warned his listeners not to listen to people who urge them to ally themselves with organized labor.

Next came a tribute to those present who had served in the world war and the initial number was the singing of popular and patriotic songs under Mr. Brown's direction.

DEPORT 1700 SUSPECTS

Buenos Aires Police Are Rapidly Rounding Up Anarchists

BUENOS AIRES, Tuesday, May 6.—The police are rapidly rounding up anarchists and it is stated that 1700 suspects will be deported.

BUY BONDS MOTHERS' DAY
CLEVELAND, May 7.—Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, founder of the National Mothers' Day association today sent the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America the following message:

"Announce mothers' day next Sunday, May 11. No flowers to be used. Rich people to buy Victory bonds and thrift stamps instead."

Soldiers Protest Men Begging, Peddling and Shining Shoes While in Uniform

CAMP DEVENS, May 7.—Some form of protest from men still in the service and stationed at this camp is expected to be made within the next few days about what they term "abuse of the United States uniform." Many men here have complained that on their visits to Boston they have seen numbers of men wearing the United States uniform begging, peddling and shining shoes, arousing the sympathies of the public through the clothing they wear. They complain also that a number of men who obviously had held commissions in the service are to be seen about Boston wearing just enough of their uniforms to show that they have been officers. This they term a disgrace to the service as the men are not properly dressed, and they propose to see if something cannot be done to stop it. Some declare they believe many of the beggars and peddlers to be impostors.

TAX MANUFACTURERS OF DRINKS, NOT RETAILERS

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Regulations for administration of the 15 per cent tax on near-beer and other beverages made of cereals, and the 10 per cent tax on manufacture of soft drinks, provide that the assessment is against the original manufacturer in the case of near-beer, even though he sells to another concern which bottles and sells the products. If the beverage is subjected in the process to any remaking, sales by the second manufacturer also are taxable. The tax is on the manufacturer's price, not the retail price.

The tax on soft drinks, as differentiated from soda fountain products, is on unfermented grapejuice, ginger ale, root beer, pop beer, artificial mineral waters, apple juice, and other fruit juices. The tax is paid by the manufacturer and these articles are exempt from soda fountain taxes.

POOR LEATHER USED IN ARMY SHOES

BOSTON, May 7.—Thomas Sherwood, formerly a leather buyer for the A. J. Bates Shoe Co., of Webster, testified in the federal court yesterday that Frank I. Sears, vice president and general manager of the company, told him that no money would be made on the contract for army shoes, except by "skinning" on the leather.

Sherwood and Sears were placed on trial, charged with conspiring to defraud the government, and to bribe inspectors. Sherwood pleaded guilty. He was the first witness called in the trial of Sears. He said that Sears told him he had not included overhead and salesmanship charges in figuring on the contract and that the only profit he would make would be by "skinning" on leather. Subsequently, Sherwood said, that 60,000 outsoles were purchased by the Bates company, at an average of 65 cents a pair, which was nine cents below the market price. Later, he said, 45,000 pairs of outsoles, of 3% iron were purchased, while the contract called for nine iron. He said that insoles were bought at 15 cents a pair when the market price was 25 cents.

He testified that Sears told him not to employ strangers at the factory, as he understood that the government was placing shoemakers, who were acting as secret agents, in factories which were making army shoes. The Bates Co. contract was for 14,000 pairs of shoes at an average price of $4.50 a pair.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Subscriptions to the Victory loan had reached approximately $2,150,000,000 today. This was an overnight increase of about $50,000,000. This was navy day in the loan campaign and bond sales were expected to receive a substantial boost as a result of the challenge to the country to match the navy.

This morning the navy's subscription to the loan was more than $12,000,000 which is considered a better record than for the corresponding time in the fourth loan, because of the reduced personnel.

Twenty-five shipyards have gone over the top in bond purchases, totaling $3,000,000.

KILLED WOMAN AND SHOT HIMSELF

PITTSBURGH, May 7.—After he had shot and killed Mrs. Mary Winbrenner, aged 45, proprietress of a North Side rooming house here yesterday, Charles Martin, aged 42, of Lawrence, Mass., is alleged to have turned the weapon on himself, firing a bullet into his neck. He is in a critical condition in the Allegheny General hospital.

Policemen, attracted by five shots rushed into the building and found Mrs. Winbrenner dead, in a pool of blood in the kitchen of her apartment. On the third floor, Martin was found unconscious in bed.

Frank Hurd, a roomer, said he heard two shots and opened his door. Hurd declared Martin was standing at his door and turned the revolver upon him, saying, "you're next." Hurd said he begged Martin not to shoot him and the latter then ran to the third floor. The cause of the tragedy has not been determined.

An identification card bearing the names of James and John Martin, the latter a fireman of Lawrence, Mass., was found among Martin's effects.

"TIZ" FOR ACHING, SORE, TIRED FEET

Use "Tiz" for Tender, Puffed-Up, Burning, Calloused Feet and Corns.

People who are forced to stand on their feet all day know what sore, tender, sweaty, burning feet mean. They use "Tiz" and "Tiz" cures their feet right up. It keeps feet in perfect condition. "Tiz" is the only remedy in the world that draws out all the poisonous exudations, which puff up the feet and cause tender, sore, tired, aching feet. It instantly stops the pain in corns, callouses and bunions. It's simply glorious. Ah! how comfortable your feet feel after using "Tiz." You'll never limp or draw up your face in pain. Your shoes won't tighten and hurt your feet.

Get a 25-cent box of "Tiz" now from any druggist. Just think! a whole year's foot comfort for only 25 cents.

BOSTON, May 7.—When he tried yesterday afternoon to make the turn from Amory street into Porter street, Janalea Plain, with a big auto truck, Charles Curwin, an employee of the Haffenreffer Brewing company, misjudged the curb, mounted the sidewalk and, after killing a boy and injuring two other children, crashed into the front of a one-story grocery store, demolishing it. The machine came to a stop amid a large quantity of scattered groceries, splintered wood and broken glass.

The boy killed was Melvin Benson, 11, of 241 Amory street. He, with Harry Roscam, 11, of 147 Boylston street and Hazel Wood, 6, of 2 Jess street, was playing in front of the store when the big truck began its destructive journey. The Benson had been instantly killed, being crushed beneath the wheels. The other children were seriously, but not, it is thought, fatally injured. The Roscam boy suffered fractures of three ribs and contusions of the head and body. Hazel Wood was badly cut on the right foot and received multiple abrasions. The injured boy was taken to the city hospital in the ambulance of station 13 and the little girl was treated by a nearby physician.

In the store at the time of the accident was Clementine G. Norman, the proprietor. She was badly scared, but unhurt.

On the auto truck, beside Curwin, were two helpers. They and Curwin also escaped injury. The auto truck was not badly damaged but the damage to the store will amount to several hundred dollars.

Curwin was arrested on the charge of manslaughter.

REVOLUTIONISTS SET UP GOVERNMENT

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Tuesday, May 6.—Costa Rican revolutionists have issued a proclamation naming Julio Acosta provisional president and soliciting recognition of the new administration by Central American republics. Telegraphic communication has been suspended between Nicaragua and Costa Rica since the Costa Rican telegraph operators have abandoned the frontier office at La Cruz.

MAY BUY VICTORY BONDS WITH FUND

Contrary to the opinion of City Treasurer Fred H. Bourke, City Solicitor William D. Regan has ruled that the principal of the Hapgood Wright fund may be invested in Victory notes as suggested by Mayor Perry D. Thompson at yesterday's meeting of the municipal council. The solicitor today sent the following letter to Commissioner Donnelly on the matter:

Lowell, Mass., May 6, 1919.

Dear Sir:

In answer to your query in re-investment of the principal of the Hapgood Wright fund in Victory Liberty notes, I beg to say that according to the provisions of the last will and testament of Hapgood Wright, the only restrictions with reference to the fund is that the principal shall be applied to some public purpose in the city of Lowell.

As the purchase of Victory Liberty notes with the principal of the fund is in pursuance of the mandate of the will, it is my opinion as a matter of law that the treasurer of the city of Lowell has a right to make such an investment, even without any formal vote of the municipal council.

Sincerely,

WILLIAM D. REGAN, City Solicitor.

WOOD AUCTIONS SALES

LONDON, May 7.—The wool auction sales were resumed yesterday, with offerings of 100 bales. It was a poor selection, but there was a fair demand and good clips advanced 5 per cent. Other grades were unchanged to 5 per cent lower.

MAYOR HANSON'S DENIAL

Not To Resign—Never Advocated Public Hangings of I.W.W. Members

CLEVELAND, May 7.—Mayor Ole Hanson of Seattle, Wash., speaking here yesterday on his tour of the country in the interest of the Victory loan, issued a statement denying stories published throughout the country quoting him as saying that he was going to resign as mayor of Seattle, to take the law in his own hands, and advocating public hangings of the I.W.W.'s and anarchists.

Mayor Hanson's statement follows: "Certain stories are being printed in the press quoting me as saying that I would resign as mayor of Seattle and take the law in my own hands and advocate public hangings of the I.W.W.'s. 'Every such statement published is absolutely untrue in substance and in fact. I have never advocated lawless acts by anyone at any time. I desire this denial to be as sweeping as possible.'"

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

"I just did it for fun," was the defense offered by William E. Crawford of Ayer when he was called before Judge Fisher in police court today to answer to the charge of forging a worthless check on the Wameslet bank of this city. Crawford was arrested last yesterday afternoon by Inspector Wainwright.

According to the inspector's story a woman named Mrs. Mary Christie presented a check at Saunders' market yesterday afternoon, and it was found to be a forgery. The woman said she received it from Crawford, and directed the officer to the latter's room, where several other blank checks were found. Crawford pleaded guilty to forging the check, and not guilty to uttering and publishing it. A continuance was granted for one week, bail being set at $300.

The sequel to a young riot on Market street, which occurred two weeks ago, and in which one of the participants emerged with a damaged optic came to trial today when George Giatas, one of the alleged principals in the affair, was charged with assault and battery on Dionysios Sakalarios. The affair was considered from all angles and Giatas found guilty. He was ordered to pay a fine of $20 and appealed.

Joseph E. Silva was found guilty of operating a motor cycle without a license and paid a fine of $2. Joseph LeDuc was charged with breaking and entering a house now in process of construction, the property of a local real estate man, and stealing chisels, planes and other carpenter's tools. The case was continued until Saturday, and he was ordered to furnish bail to the amount of $300. Several minor larceny and assault cases were called and continued, and a handful of drunken offenders paid small fines or drew down brief sentences to jail.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. William E. Hanley, of Deerfield, Mass., and Miss Margaret B. Fleming, of 107 Myrtle street, this city, were married Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Michael's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Lynch. Miss Anna A. Fleming, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, the best man being Mr. John J. Hanley, brother of the groom. After an extended honeymoon trip to New York and Washington, the happy couple will make their home in Deerfield, Mass.

BIG DECREASE IN FREIGHT TRAFFIC

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Decrease of freight traffic this year owing to cessation of war manufactures, is shown by a report of Director General Hines issued in connection with his explanation of the government's deficit of $192,000,000 in operation of railroads for the first three months of the year. In March the railroads recorded 23,362,000,000 ton miles as compared with 37,706,000,000 in March last year. In February the roads hauled 25,681,000,000 ton miles, as compared with 29,537,000,000 in the same month last year and in January they hauled 30,307,000,000 against 27,619,000,000 in January, 1918.

"It is impossible on the basis of three months to predict the results for the year as a whole," says Mr. Hines, "although it is believed the results will be very much less unfavorable if, as seems to be generally anticipated, there shall be an important resumption of business later in the year, especially if the great corps now in prospect shall be realized."

SOLDIERS EXEMPT FOR CIVIL SERVICE

WASHINGTON, May 7.—President Wilson, in an executive order cabled from Paris, has directed the Civil Service commission to exempt soldiers, sailors and marines from physical requirements for any civil service position upon certification by the federal board of vocational education that the applicant has been specially trained and qualified for the position.

Official Peace Treaty

Condensed Summary of Notable Document Which Was Presented to the German Envoys Before Memorable Assemblage at Versailles Today

German militarism is dead! Peace is at hand and universal peace is guaranteed by international covenant! Today the allied and associated powers submitted to the German delegates at Versailles the treaty of peace, the signature of which by the representatives of the high contracting parties will end the greatest war in all history. As might be expected the treaty is the most important and most far reaching ever drafted by any nation or combination of nations. Not only does it set the conditions of peace imposed upon Germany, the reduction of her power, the delimitation of her territory, the obligations of reparation and indemnities, but it also embodies the covenant of the League of Nations under which it is hoped to prevent wars in the future and maintain universal peace. It sounds the death knell of militarism as cultivated in Germany for over half a century and it restores to independence small nations formerly held in bondage by the central powers. The treaty does away forever with the old order of secret diplomacy and the balance of power and provides for an international bureau of labor to secure fair conditions of labor for men, women and children. It will also maintain a system of tutelage over certain small nations and peoples so as to prevent their exploitation by ruling powers. Thus universal peace dawns upon the world and in bringing about this new era of civilization, the United States and President Wilson played a most important part.

Germany's Acceptance of Terms Means Complete Surrender to Allies and Associated Powers

NEW YORK, May 7.—An official summary of the peace treaty, delivered to the German delegates at Versailles by the representatives of the allied powers, was made public here today by the committee on public information. It follows:

Treaty Handed to Germans

In addition to the securities afforded in the treaty of peace, the president of the United States has pledged himself to propose to the senate of the United States, and the prime minister of Great Britain has pledged himself to propose to the parliament of Great Britain in engagement, subject to the approval of the council of the League of Nations, to come immediately to the assistance of France in case of unprovoked attack by Germany. The treaty of peace between the 27 allied and associated powers on the one hand and Germany on the other was handed to the German plenipotentiaries at Versailles today.

Longest Treaty Ever Drawn

It is the longest treaty ever drawn. It totals about 50,000 words divided into 15 main sections and represents the combined product of over a thousand experts working continually through a series of commissions for the three and a half months since January 18. The treaty is printed in parallel pages of English and French, which are recognized as having equal validity. It does not deal with questions affecting Austria, Bulgaria, and Turkey except insofar as binding Germany to accept any agreement reached with those former allies.

Summarized Sections

Following the preamble and deposition of powers comes the covenant of the League of Nations as the first section of the treaty. The frontiers of Germany in Europe are defined in the second section; European political classes given in the third; European political classes in the fourth. Next are military, naval and air terms; the fifth section followed on prisoners of war and military graves and a seventh on responsibilities. Reparations, financial terms, and economic terms are covered in sections eight to ten. Then comes the aeronautic section, ports, waterways and railways section, the labor covenant, the section on guarantees and the final clauses.

Alsace-Lorraine Restored

Germany by the terms of the treaty restores Alsace-Lorraine to France, accepts the internationalization of the Saar basin temporarily and of Danzig permanently, agrees to territorial changes towards Belgium and Denmark and in East Prussia, cedes most of upper Silesia to Poland and renounces all territorial and political rights outside of Europe, as to her own or her allies' territories, and especially to Morocco, Egypt, Siam, Liberia and Shantung. She also recognizes the total independence of German Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Army Reduced to 100,000

Her army is reduced to one hundred thousand men, including officers; conscription within her territories is abolished; all forts 50 kilometres east of the Rhine razed; and all importation, exportation and nearly all production of war material stopped. Allied occupation of parts of Germany will continue till reparation is made, but will be reduced at the end of each of three five year periods if Germany is fulfilling her obligations. Any violation by Germany of the conditions as to the zone 50 kilometres east of the Rhine will be regarded as an act of war.

U-Boats Prohibited

The German navy is reduced to six battleships, six light cruisers and 12 torpedo boats without submarines and a personnel of not over 15,000. All other vessels must be surrendered or destroyed. Germany is forbidden to build forts controlling the Baltic, must demolish Helgoland, open the Kiel canal to all nations and surrender her 11 submarine cables. She may have no military or naval air forces except one hundred unarmed seaplanes until October 1st, to detect mines and may manufacture aviation material for six months.

Germany Not in League

The League of Nations is accepted by the allied and associated powers as operative and by Germany in principle but without membership. Similarly an international labor body is brought into being with a permanent office and an annual convention. A great number of international bodies of different kinds and for different purposes are created, some under the League of Nations, some to execute the peace treaty. Among the former is the commission to govern the Saar basin till a plebiscite is held 15 years hence; the high commissioner of Danzig, which is created into a free city under the league, and various commissions for plebiscites in Malmedy, Schleswig and East Prussia. Among those to carry out the peace treaty are the reparations, military, naval, air, financial and economic commissions, the international high court and military tribunal to fix responsibilities and a series of bodies for the control of international rivers.

Germany Accepts Responsibility

Germany accepts full responsibility for all damages caused to allied and associated governments and nationals, agrees specifically to reimburse all civilian damages beginning with an initial payment of 20,000,000,000 marks, subsequent payments to be secured by bonds to be issued at the discretion of the reparations commission. Germany is to pay shipping damage on a ton for ton basis by cessation of a large part of her merchant, coasting and river fleets and by new construction; and to devote her economic resources to the rebuilding of the devastated regions.

AMERICAN PEACE DELEGATION WHICH HELPED TO DRAFT TREATY HANDED TO GERMANS TODAY

Freedom of Transit

She agrees to return to the 1914 favored nation tariffs, without discrimination of sort; to allow allied and associated nations freedom of transit through her territories, and to accept highly detailed provisions as to pre-war debts, unfair competition, internationalization of roads and rivers, and other economic and financial clauses. She also agrees to the trial of the ex-kaiser by an international high court for a supreme offense against international morality and of other nationals for violation of the laws and customs of war. Holland to be asked to extradite the former Kaiser and Germany being responsible for delivering the latter.

Problems Left For Solution

Certain problems are left for solution between the allied and associated powers, notably details of the disposition of the German fleet and cables, the former German colonies and the values paid in reparation. Certain other problems such as the laws of the air and the opium, arms and liquor

Hungary on July 28, 1914, against Serbia, the declaration of war by Germany against Russia on August 1, 1914, and against France on August 3, 1914 and in the invasion of Belgium should be replaced by a firm, just and durable peace; the plenipotentiaries (having communicated their full powers found in good and due form have agreed as follows):

Relations to be Resumed

From the coming into force of the present treaty the state of war will terminate. From the moment and subject to the provisions of this treaty official relations with Germany and with each of the German states, will be resumed by the allied and associated powers.

SECTION ONE

League of Nations—The covenant of the League of Nations constitutes section one of the peace treaty which places upon the league many specific in addition to its general duties. It may question Germany at any time for a violation of the neutralized zone east of the Rhine as a threat against the world's peace. It will appoint three of the five members of the Saar commission, oversee its regime, and carry out the plebiscite. It will appoint the high commissioner of Danzig, guarantee the independence of the free city and arrange for treaties between Danzig and Germany and Poland. It will work out the mandatory system to be applied to the former German colonies, and act as a final court in part of the plebiscites of the Belgian-German frontier, and in disputes as to the Kiel canal, and decide certain of the economic and financial problems.

An international conference on labor is to be held in October under its direction, and another on the international control of ports, waterways and railways is foreshadowed.

Membership—The members of the league will be the signatories of the covenant and other states invited, to accede, who must lodge a declaration of accession without reservation within two months. A new state, dominion, or colony may be admitted provided its admission is agreed by two-thirds of the assembly. A state may withdraw upon giving two years' notice, if it has fulfilled all its international obligations.

Secretariat—A permanent secretariat will be established at the seat of the league which will be at Geneva.

Assembly—The assembly will consist of representatives of the members of the league and will meet at stated intervals. Voting will be by states, each member will have one vote and not more than three representatives.

Council—The council will consist of representatives of the five great allied powers, together with representatives of four members selected by the assembly from time to time; it may co-opt with additional states and will meet at least once a year. Members not represented will be invited to send a representative when questions affecting their interests are discussed. Voting will be by states. Each state will have one vote and not more than one representative. Decision taken by the assembly and council must be unanimous except in regard to procedure; and in certain cases specified in the covenant and in the treaty, where decisions will be by a majority.

Armaments—The council will formulate plans for a reduction of armaments for consideration and adoption. These plans will be revised every 10 years. Once they are with any party to the dispute which complies with it, if a member fails to carry out the award the council will propose the necessary measures. The council will formulate plans for the establishment of a permanent court of international justice to determine international disputes or to give advisory opinions. Members who do not submit their case to arbitration must accept the jurisdiction of the assembly. If the council, less the parties to the dispute, is unanimously agreed upon the rights of it, the members agree that they will not go to war with any party to the dispute which complies with its recommendations. In case a recommendation by the assembly is adopted, no member must exceed the armaments fixed without concurrence of the council. All members will exchange full information as to armaments and programs, and a permanent commission will advise the council on military and naval questions.

Prevention of War—Upon any war, or threat of war, council will meet to consider what common action shall be taken. Members are pledged to submit matters of dispute to arbitration or inquiry and not to resort to war until three months after the award. Members agree to carry out an arbitral award and not to go to war concerned in by all its members represented on the council and a simple majority of the rest, less the parties to the dispute, will have the force of a unanimous recommendation by the council. In either case, if the necessary agreement cannot be secured, the members reserve the right to take such action as may be necessary for the maintenance of right and justice. Members resorting to war in disregard of the covenant, will immediately be debarred from all intercourse with other members. The council will in such cases consider what military or naval action

Rear Admiral Dunne Thanks God Americans Are Not Quitters

BOSTON, May 7.—Uncle Sam is in the biggest international game the world has ever seen. It is up to us to furnish him with a big stack of red, white and blue chips, exclaimed Rear Admiral Herbert O. Dunne at the big Liberty Loan rally in Symphony hall last evening, to the great amusement of 3000 men and women who appreciated the ward room flavor of the figure applied to the Liberty loan.

Admiral Dunne, who spoke as a substitute for Rear Admiral William S. Sims, who was confined to his hotel with a cold, but sent a humorous little note of regret in rhyme, shared the honors of the evening with Carter Glass, secretary of the treasury.

Gov. Coolidge presided. The Pop concert orchestra furnished splendid music, and Herbert Smith of the musical service of the army led the great audience in patriotic singing that was full of spirit and feeling.

Must Not Be a "Bankers' Loan"

Sec. Glass aimed throughout his address in behalf of the fifth loan to make it clear that he has no sympathy with the proposition heard in some quarters that this should be a bankers' loan. On the contrary, he maintained that the money of the banks is needed for the developing of industry and commerce and the people at large are under as much obligation to invest generally this time as they were during the war.

He expressed confidence that not a man or woman who had a son at the front will refuse to help this last loan, which is to pay the cost of the great victory won by their sons for civilization.

He asserted that a popular subscription in the present loan is desirable among other reasons, to make the mass of Americans appreciate that they are all stockholders in their government, to inculcate the saving habit among the people who hitherto have been only looking in that regard, and finally to enable us to shoot to pieces this abominable Bolshevism, which will be easy when the generosity of the people have a stake in the government. He declared that the people should have impressed upon them the importance of good order in government.

A World Is to Be Rebuilt

"A world is to be rebuilt," said he; "should we timidly pause and debate who should rebuild it? Who is there to rebuild it but this great nation of ours? This great enterprise should be started right here in Boston by the bare of furnaces, the whir of mills and the din of locomotives."

"Men of steady judgment have said that we must approach this and future loans in a distinctly cold-blooded, commercial mood, from an investment point of view. Some say it will be impossible to appeal again to the patriotism of the American people. I should despair of my country if it were true, for we so quickly forget the obligations of war I should doubt our ability to cope with the problems of peace."

After comparing the war sacrifices of some of the allied countries with those of this country, where trade immensely increased and gold continually piled up, and referring to the approximately 60,000 American soldiers who gave their lives in the war, the speaker said: "We should not dishonor the memory of those soldiers, or diminish their glory, by haggling over the cost of war and talking of our sacrifices."

"This is more than a victory loan," said he; "it is a loan of thanksgiving to God for sustaining the spirit and stirring the valor of the soldiers who defeated the Hun. If we are to suppress all patriotic sentiment and regard this loan as simply a commercial proposition, then somebody else may have my job. I wish that men who counsel that policy could have seen the evidence of the valor and suffering of the soldiers that I saw in France."

When Huns Made French Flags

In reference to the traditional German charge that the United States is ruled by the commercial spirit, Sec. Glass related that when he arrived with a congressional delegation at Lille, France, after the evacuation by the Germans, he found the city bedecked with allied and American colors and learned that so "commercial" had been the spirit of the Germans that they had made the flags themselves and sold them to the French that they might celebrate the German defeat.

In concluding, he said:

"There are 1,500,000 American boys in France and Germany who must be maintained in comfort and brought home in safety and provided with employment on their return. While Congress has written off the books $15,000,000 of authorizations, for which public funds would have been expended had not the war still been terminated, the government is still expending more than $1,000,000,000 on the most honorable commitments of the country. The honor of the government is involved. Being your government, it is your honor that is involved, and I know that the appeal of the American government to the American people will meet a response, of which the nation will be proud."

Admiral Dunne Lauds Sims

Rear Admiral Dunne said something of the achievements of Admiral Sims during the war, remarking in connection therewith that the war was won by destroying the submarine menace and that the means which accomplished that were depth charges and listening devices. He paid high tribute to the captains and crews of American merchant ships "who submitted cheerfully to naval authority and customs and by so doing helped much to win the war."

He said that the United States had on the other side 350 ships, 5000 officers and 75,000 men, and that had the American people been wise enough to have had 250 destroyers in time "Germany would never have forced us to enter the war."

He gave these figures as to subscriptions within the United States navy to the previous Liberty loans: First, $2,000,000; second, $11,000,000; third, $18,000,000; fourth, $15,000,000; total, $50,000,000.

The admiral urged that everybody forget political partisanship in the matter of the Victory loan. "Outside, the three-mile limit there are no democrats or republicans," he said. "We are only Americans, and thank God, Americans are not quitters."

LOWELL MOOSE HOLD CONCERT AND DANCE

Associate hall was last evening the scene of a pretty gathering, the occasion being a concert and dance in observance of the eighth anniversary of Lowell lodge, 618, Loyal Order of Moose. The attendance was large, the concert and dancing numbers were very enjoyable and all in all the affair was a huge success.

In the early part of the evening musical numbers were given by Broderick's orchestra and later the following program was given: Vocal selections, Francis A. Connor, James E. Donnelly and Miss Alice Dion; Spanish dance, Misses Dora and Marie Dewire; Scotch dance, pupils of Miss Blanche Perrin and readers, Mrs. Belle Harrington Hall. General dancing was started at 8 o'clock and continued until a late hour, fees being served during intermission.

The committee responsible for the success of the affair was: General manager, Edward Goodman; assistant general manager, David A. Hartnett; floor director, Ernest P. Parsons; assistant floor director, Mose D. Boucher; chief aid, John E. MacCallum; aids: Charles W. Richards, P. R. Monahan, A. P. Gieras, Arthur D. Courtis, George P. Ellis and Chas. A. McQuarrie, Edward St. Leger, chairman; Thomas M. Keegan, secretary; John M. Hogan, treasurer.

The officers of Lowell lodge for the present year are: Dictator, David A. Hartnett; vice dictator, Ernest P. Parsons; prelate, Charles A. McQuarrie; secretary, Thomas M. Keegan; treasurer, John M. Hogan; trustees, John W. Curtin, Patrick R. Monahan, Chas. W. Richards; outer guard, John P. Tansy; inner guard, A. Pierre Glu-

another remarkable case," he continued, passing over the following letter. "I had had rheumatism of the joints for about four years and finally it got so bad I was unable to work and had to use a cane," said Thomas Gillett of 8 Annis street, Methuen.

"For the past three months sleep was impossible because of the extreme pain. My knees were sore and stiff and it was impossible to step up, go up or downstairs. My legs and arms pained me continually and my shoulders were so sore that it was almost impossible to get my coat on.

"I saw Weldon advertised for rheumatism and as it was recommended for this trouble and nothing else I decided to give it a trial. I have only taken two packages and the pain and most of my stiffness have disappeared entirely. I have discarded my cane which I am able to get along without and can now get a good night's sleep. I feel much better in every way since taking this wonder worker for rheumatism.

"I must give all the credit to Weldon, while I was little timid at first in taking medicine because I had a weak heart. This medicine agreed with me perfectly and did not affect my heart as other medicines have.

"If there is a man or woman in Lowell suffering from rheumatism they are suffering needlessly for there is help, relief from this terrible suffering in Weldon." One trial proves it.

Mr. Vincent, the Weldon man, will continue to meet the public every day and evening at Dows' Drug Store to explain more about Weldon and to give out the books which have caused so much comment, "Germs of Rheumatism—How They Live—How They Die." These books are free as long as the supply lasts. Come in and get yours NOW, today.—Adv.

PIANO RECITAL BY BLIND PIANIST

Sunday afternoon Mr. Joseph A. Marshall, the blind pianist, gave an excellent recital at Mr. William Heller's studio. He was assisted by Mrs. Evelyn S. Donnelly, soprano, who delighted the audience with her artistically rendered numbers and fine quality of music. Mr. Marshall, as at former recitals, delighted those who were privileged to hear him play, but on this occasion when the program called for artistic and intelligent interpretation of the great masters' works he more than surprised his audience and progress made during the past winter reflects great credit upon his teacher.

Mr. Heller. The program was as follows:
1st Movement from Moonlight Sonata, Beethoven
Minuet in G, Beethoven
Gavotte, Bach-Saint-Saens Songs
Song of the Soul, Brel
Villanelle, Del Aquia
Piano
Prelude No. 20-7-10, Chopin

Sec. Baker Says Last Man of
A.E.F. Will Be Out of
France by August

Estimate Based on Movement
of 300,000 Men a Month
to United States.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Secretary Baker announced today that, by August, the last man of the American Expeditionary Forces would have been withdrawn from France. He said this estimate was based on the movement of 300,000 men a month to the United States.

Already the American forces in France have been divorced from the army of occupation. Plans have been completed to supply the force in Germany through Antwerp and Rotterdam, removing the necessity for maintaining the 700-mile line of communication from Brest. The French ports will be maintained, however, for the withdrawal of the A. E. F.

More than half of the expeditionary force has now left France and as the withdrawal progresses facilities which were used for those forces are being turned back either to private owners or to the municipalities to which they belonged.

First call on straw hats pretty soon.

May 15, a week from tomorrow, is the official date for the debut of the bonnet, but local hat dealers have already stocked up and if the weather man plays many more stunts like that of last Monday, time and tide will be ignored and Merrimack street will blossom forth into summer headgear.

The prices range from $3 to $5 for the common variety of straws, about the same as last year, but the dealers claim that the quality is much better. Panamas, of course, range above these prices as far as $12.

PASTOR ESCAPES RENT PROFITEERS BY MOVING HIS FAMILY INTO CHURCH

Driven to extremities by extortionate rents, the Rev. S. O. Tyndall, a Brooklyn, N. Y., pastor, has moved his family into his church, part of which he has turned into a comfortable home, with all the conveniences of life on a trans-continental Pullman. Dr. Tyndall's action started the movement in New York to turn churches into homes for victims of rent profiteers. The balcony of the Greenwood Heights Reformed church is the doctor's study by day and the children's bedroom by night. Mother and father sleep in the Sunday school room. All the beds are folded up on Sabbath morning, and made into couches. In the basement is the combination kitchen-parlor-dining room. Here are the gas stove, a sewing machine, table, chairs, rugs and icebox.

Commissioner George E. Marchand today received a check amounting to $1735 from Simon B. Harris in payment for the two parcels of property sold by Mr. Harris for the city last week on the land taken over for the erection of an addition to the Morey school. The purchaser was John H.

Welton who paid $1825 for the property. From this was deducted advertising expenses and Mr. Harris' fee as auctioneer.

A birthday party was given to Master James C. Williams at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James S. Williams, 802 Lakeview avenue last evening in honor of 10th anniversary of his birth. A pleasant evening was spent by his many young friends who gave him many presents. All kinds of games were played, songs were sung and recitations were given. Refreshments were served and violin selections were given.

Among the soldiers who have recently returned from overseas and who have filed their war record at the office of the city clerk is Private William C. Geary of 531 Broadway, who served with Co. A of the 101st Engineers. Private Geary enlisted with Co. C of the old Sixth regiment June 11, 1917, and was later transferred to the 101st Engineers. He participated in battles at Chemin des Dames, Champagne, Troyon and the Meuse-Argonne sector. He was passed July 15, 1918.

TURKEY BONES START FIGHT

Huns Resent Evidences of
the Doughboys' Easter
Banquet—Some Scrap

Capt. Walter Austin Tells of Being Fired On With
Shells From Lowell

BOSTON, May 7.—"It was only a bag of turkey bones, slung over the top into the German trenches by a mischievous American doughboy, but it started a beautiful scrap, and, incidentally, it was the beginning of the first battle in which I took part," said Capt. Walter W. Austin of the 104th Infantry.

"It was Easter Sunday, 1918, and as is customary on Thanksgiving, Christmas Day and Easter Sunday, our boys were given turkey. And I guess the sight of those bones made the Huns envious and also irritated them, perhaps because they felt that the Americans had food to throw away, while they had barely enough to feed their men."

"Well, they started the scrap, but it is needless to say who finished it. Our boys finished it, as they did every big fight 'over there.' The Germans sent over word asking what troops we were, British or Canadians. The answer our boys sent back was typically American: 'Come over and find out.' The Germans came over and they found out."

Thought Americans Crazy
"The Germans thought the Americans were crazy because of their wonderful spirit and their fighting and they thought the American artillerymen were drunk because of the way they fired the guns. They had never heard of any one firing on the recall until the Yankees went over there. Even the French, who were considered the greatest artillerymen in the world, thought it wonderful. Some of the Huns that we captured asked to see

An interesting incident occurred at Apremont, which well illustrates the spirit of our men. The Germans made frequent raids and on one of these visits they captured one of our men. Our commanding officer gave the men a 'bawling out' and declared that we would never live down the disgrace of having a man taken without a fight. As a matter of fact the man had been badly wounded and would never have been captured if he had not been injured so that he could not fight."

"At any rate we received the reprimand and the boys never forgot it. They determined that the next time the Germans came over they would show the enemy something, as well as demonstrating to the commanding officer that they were not 'yellow.'"

"The next day the Germans started an attack. To a man the doughboys jumped out of the trenches onto the ground in front of the parapet and started throwing hand grenades while they sang 'Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here.'"

Over Him His Life

"It was in front of Mont-Sec that we were ordered to find that we were being fired on with shells that came from Lowell, the home of many of our boys. They had been made in Lowell, shipped to the Russians and captured by the Germans, who fired them at us."

"To a Gloucester boy, Louis E. Johnson of 35 Grove street, I probably owe my life. It was at Belleau Wood on July 18, at 5 o'clock in the morning, three hours after the opening of the fight, that I received a piece of shrapnel in the left leg. Louis Johnson found me lying there, and bleeding profusely. He bound my leg with my first-aid pack, and then with his own. And then, under heavy fire, he remained with me at the risk of his own life, talking to me and praying with me, while the bullets rained overhead. Had it not been for his coolness and courage under fire, and his knowledge of tying a sailor's knot, I would not be here today. I remember him for a citation, but he has not received it as yet."

"I want to speak a word about Chaplain John DeValles of New Bedford, who was with us. I know he has been complimented a great many times, but too much cannot be said about him. I have often seen him crawl out under fire to administer to some poor fellow who was going west. It made no difference what the fellow's religious beliefs were, Jew or Gentile, he was one of Fr. DeValles' boys just the same."

"Once he found an old, discarded piano in a village behind the lines. He paid for having it repaired and then had it transported to the trenches, even to the front line. And the other chaplains were just as considerate and just as sacrificing. They served whoever needed their help and risked death many times."

VILLA BAND IN FIGHT AT JIMINEZ
EL PASO, Tex., May 7.—Rumors of fighting between government troops and Villa rebels at Jiminez continued to be received here yesterday. American mining men consider it probable that a small engagement occurred there yesterday, as part of Villa's band left Parral in that direction recently.

Parral has been abandoned by Villa and has not yet been recaptured by the federal forces, who fear he laid a trap. The execution of six Chinese at Parral by Villa has been confirmed. Edgar Kooh, German consul in Parral, saved the lives of two other Chinese by hiding them in his home. As far as can be learned from Mexican arrivals from Parral, the six Chinese and the three Hereas were the only ones executed.

Villa's whereabouts is unknown but his hands are scattered. He issued a statement at Parral saying he was not fighting the home guards of the state and would not kill any of those forces if they refrained from assisting the federals.

SHOT DOWN BY SAILOR

Man Failed To Stand or Remove His Hat During Playing of National Anthem

CHICAGO, May 7.—A man who failed to stand or remove his hat during the playing of the National Anthem is in a hospital today, having been shot twice by a sailor guard after the man had flourished a revolver among hundreds of spectators at a Victory loan celebration yesterday.

The man, who gave his name as Joseph Godard, was taken to the Bridge hospital with wounds in his arm and thigh, and in addition to the revolver, was found to have a knife and razor.

Samuel A. Hagemann, apprentice seaman, who shot Godard, returned to the Great Lakes naval training station today and was put under guard pending a naval inquiry into the shooting.

LOWELL FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION

That the drive for new members by the Lowell Fish and Game association is going along successfully was proven at last night's meeting in Odd Fellows building when 62 applicants were accepted with a single ballot by the vote of the body.

The meeting was called to order by President Simon B. Harris and the records of the annual meeting were read by Secretary Willis S. Holt, Vice President O'Brien and A. A. Byam. The new members who were accepted by the organization are as follows:

A. W. Gustafson, Philip Maguire, J. R. Sharpe, Robert B. Rhy, Peter Gobin, W. C. Livingston, M. C. Crymble, J. V. Ohlson, W. Nicholas, R. H. Locke, W. H. Hickey, C. Lawson, Oscar E. Ely, D. W. FAMOUS "BLACK MARIA"

Horses Pensioned and Wagon Discarded in Favor of Automobile

NEW YORK, May 7.—After almost half a century of transporting persons convicted of crime from the Tombs and other places of detention to railroad stations to start on their journey to prisons, the famous "Black Maria" wagon has been discarded in favor of automobiles. The two horses that have drawn the ancient conveyance for many years, have been pensioned.

Lowell Man Says Goldine Took Rheumatism Out of Knees

Mr. John Cox, 48 East Merrimack st., who is a slacker tender at Massachusetts mill, and well known in this city as one of the greatest sufferers from this disease in Lowell, he said: "For over a year I had rheumatism in my knees. They were swollen badly and so sore I could not stand it to have anything touch them. Nights I had to sleep with the bed clothes between my knees in order to ease the pain. No one knows how I suffered unless they have had it like I did. I felt I must have relief at once, and when I saw how many Lowell people were giving their testimonials to Goldine, and how quick they got help, I decided to try it. I have taken only one bottle and the soreness is all out of my knees, and the swelling has left one knee entirely and is nearly gone from the other. I sleep fine nights now for I am free from pain. I don't think I would have tried Goldine at all being just Lowell people I had faith in it and am glad I did. You may publish my statement as many times as you please for if any one suffered from rheumatism like I did they should know about it. Tell them Goldine is the best rheumatism medicine I ever got hold of and will help them right away. It did me."

Mr. Cox is right when he said, "If you have rheumatism you want relief at once." The fact that fifty people in Lowell have already given their statements of the help they have gotten from Goldine is proof that it does the work. Goldine No. 1 is used for stomach, nerve and heart trouble, Goldine No. 2 for rheumatism and kidney trouble. Not one medicine for all diseases, but one that has produced the results in Lowell. Come and talk it over with me at Carter & Sherburne's Drug Store. I do not diagnose or prescribe, but will be glad to help you if you need it.

38 KOREAN AGITATORS SENT TO PRISON

SEOUL, Korea, April 19.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Thirty-eight Korean agitators at Pyeongyang have been sentenced to prison for periods ranging from six months to two years. Similar sentences were imposed upon Koreans by the court at Taikou. About 2400 agitators who were arrested at Seoul and its suburbs have been released by the police after admonition.

A great many public market places in the country have been closed because it was found that disturbances arose on market days.

Three Korean patients who were undergoing treatment for wounds at the Severance missionary hospital, have been removed to jail, the police charging that they were implicated in riots which broke out in the outskirts of Seoul.

SMASH REGULAR ARMY BUILD UP NAT. GUARD

ST. LOUIS, May 7.—The National Guard Association of the United States must work to smash the regular army and build up the national guard, Lieut. Col. Bennett Clark, son of Speaker Champ Clark of the house of representatives, declared in an address at the closing session of the association's convention last night, following his election as president of the organization. He said the regular army should be large enough only to do police duty.

James A. Drane of Washington, following Clark's address said he believed Col. Clark did not really mean what he said when he declared the "regular army should be smashed." Harvey J. Moss of Washington state, temporary chairman, asked Col. Clark if he wished to modify his assertion. "No," emphasized Clark. "I meant every word I said."

Col. Clark was administration officer of the 35th Division and recently received his discharge.

MYSTERY STORY OF THE WEEK

Tarzan, the unknown, the unfathomable, the missing link of this week's B. F. Keith program is here. Missed train connections caused his absence on Monday, but he took his proper place at the head of the bill yesterday and there will remain shrouded in mystery for the remainder of the week. Tarzan looks like an ape, he acts like one, and yet he does many of things humans do. He is one of the biggest sensations ever seen in Lowell, but no every-day critic can attempt to place him in his proper place in the scheme of things. The individual spectator must decide for himself.

VOTE TO HOLD DRILL

A special meeting of Camp Four, Uniform Rank, L.O.O.F., M.U., was held last evening in Odd Fellows hall, Middlesex street, with W. C. Frank E. Bowles in the chair. The attendance was large and considerable business was transacted. It was voted to hold a drill on the Bunting grounds on Friday evening, May 16 at 6:30 o'clock, and also to go to Maynard June 1 to participate in the memorial services to be conducted by Assabet lodge. Other routine business was transacted and interesting remarks were made by Brig. Gen. Willis Bowles, William Hudson, John W. Foster and Harry Stack.

LOS ANGELES PRIORITIES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 7.—Returns early today from nearly one-half the vote in the primary yesterday indicate that Meredith I. Snyder, former mayor, who was leading in the majority race and Mayor F. T. Woodman, would be the nominees to go before the people at the election in June.

Use Coconut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisided coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely "kosher"), is much better than any "kosher" shampoo, and it leaves the hair soft, shiny and easy to manage. Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoons will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Multisided coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Adv.

Frail, Sickly Children Improve Rapidly on Vinol

The reason we so strongly recommend Vinol for frail, sickly children is because it is a non-secret remedy which contains Beef and Cod Liver Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptonates and Glycophosphates—but no oil—the very elements needed to build them up. It is delicious to the taste, and children love it.

These Two Mothers Have Proved This.
Bainbridge, N.Y.
"My little daughter, 13 years old, overworked and was run-down, tired all the time, nervous, had headaches, couldn't eat and had to stay out of school. Vinol has built her up. She has a good appetite, no more headaches and has returned to school again."—Mrs. Lester Andrews.
Williamson, W. Va.
"My little boy was weak, puny, and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. Vinol was recommended and it built up his strength and made him healthy. Now he romps and plays like other children. We certainly believe in Vinol for children."—Harley Clay.

300,000 DRAFT EVADERS ARE STILL AT LARGE

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Nearly 300,000 draft delinquents are at large throughout the United States, according to unofficial estimates from the war department and the department of justice.

Benjamin A. Matthews, assistant United States attorney for the southern district of New York, has been in Washington for the past two days in an effort to have the records of registrants in New York district turned over to the United States attorney there to facilitate the work of running down the delinquents.

Assistant Adjutant General Kerr, stated yesterday that the draft records were packed in boxes and that it would be impracticable to attempt to get at them at this time for the use of the department of justice. He said the department hoped to have a location for the records by the end of this month and that work would begin immediately on the filing and indexing of all the records.

At the department of justice it was explained that where the army had certified that a registrant had been classified as a delinquent the certification had been made to that department and work looking to his arrest had begun. There are many cases, however, where agents of the department find it necessary to look further into the draft records.

Of the larger number of men classified as delinquents, the department of justice explained, thorough investigation has proved that the men were not really evading the draft. Incidents have been shown where men classified as delinquents by draft boards had been inducted into the service in other districts.

THE M.T.I. HOLDS LADIES' NIGHT

A most enjoyable Ladies' night was staged by the entertainment committee of the Mathew Temperance Institute in the organization's rooms last evening and was well attended. The Highland orchestra furnished music and the entertainment program included solos by Fred Swan and Leo Beigman.

The officers in charge of the evening were: General manager, Thomas Tighe; assistant, John Bowers; floor director, Walter Quinn, and aids, William Bushy and John Hannafin.

GREAT LAKES DISTRICT LED IN SHIPBUILDING

WASHINGTON, (Correspondence).—First honor in the building of ships during the war was awarded by the shipping board to the ninth, or Great Lakes district. Held by canal restrictions to a lighter type of vessel than was built on the seaboard, the district did not produce so many net tons as other sections, but outstripped all other districts in the number of ships. In one year it put into service 125 more vessels than were delivered from all American yards in the year before the United States entered the war.

At the outbreak of the war Great Lakes yards, which had developed a highly efficient type of cargo carrier, were at work on 100 bottoms for foreign account. All were requisitioned by the shipping board, and the first ship turned over to the board under its war program was the Limoges, a 2330-ton freighter, built at Toledo. Twenty-seven ships were finished and put to sea before the camps froze in 1917.

While winter gripped the lakes new work was continued and the existing fleet, even old boats which had been laid up were overhauled. Summer saw every available craft worked and overworked as never before, keeping the stream of grain, iron ore, coal and manufactures moving toward the east for shipment to the men in Europe. At the opening of navigation, 20 ships slipped from the ways and work was carried forward at increased speed. In November a total of 28 ships—nearly one a day—was put into service by Great Lakes yards.

The total for 1918 was 163 new freight carriers, all of them steel except one. The smallest yard on the lakes, having only three ways, delivered 13 ships and finished a 14th only a little late for delivery before the ice closed navigation. Between the end of November and the end of March 63 more were launched. All were 4200-ton boats.

Ship Built in One Month
One yard built a 3500-ton ship in 81 days. Another launched a 3100-ton boat in 25 days by a record which was clipped to 24 days after another plant soon after. That record stood only a little while, for still another yard launched a 3500-ton ship in 17 days after the laying of the keel and delivered it complete 14 days later.

Expansion of the yards to meet the war's demands gave the Lakes a total of 112 berths, 79 for cargo ships and 33 for tugs. While the average total number of rivet gangs in the Great Lakes district is only 10 per cent of the nation's total, they point proudly to a record of delivering 30 per cent of the country's total ship tonnage.

Additional contracts for 316 ships of 1200 tons each have been placed in the district since the last requisitioned ship was finished in October, the program to be completed by the close of navigation, this year. Since the signing of the armistice, 400,000 tons of shipping have been delivered. Orders also have been placed in the district for 25 steel sea-going tugs, 13 wood sea-going tugs, two steel harbor tugs and 33 tug harbor tugs.

Completion of the building program, according to officials, will give the Lakes district a record of 447 cargo ships and 79 tugs delivered to the government, the largest number of ships and the largest tonnage built in any district.

LADIES' NIGHT AT LISBON CLUB

It was Ladies' night at the Lisbon club rooms on Central street last evening, and a large number of members and friends of this popular organization were on hand for the occasion. Campbell's band orchestra furnished music for dancing, which was enjoyed until midnight. The officers of the dance were: General manager, John Sousa; assistant general manager, Manuel Carren; and floor director, M. J. Macnab.

MURDER OF YOUNG TEACHER CLEANED UP

GREENSBURG, Penn., May 7.—Mystery surrounding the murder of Miss Emma Austrow, aged 19, of Latrobe, near here, was cleared last Monday, according to Sergt. McLaughlin of the state constabulary, when James Crawford, 25, is said to have confessed that he was a party to the crime and implicated another man, who is under arrest. The latter's name is being withheld until he has been examined by authorities.

According to the police, Crawford, who resides near the Derry Township schoolhouse, where Miss Austrow was a teacher, said that his accomplice shot the girl when she refused to accompany them.

A report from Latrobe says that a mob of 200 persons quickly formed when it became known that authorities at Greensburg had announced that James Crawford had confessed that he took part in the murder of Miss Emma Austrow, the 19-year-old school teacher of this city. Authorities pleaded with the crowd to disperse, but instead the mob boarded three automobiles and started on the way to Greensburg.

as it brings mental health. Social reforms, even the abolition of poverty, are merely paths to mental health. The mind needs right conditions, care, exercise, even doctoring, quite as much as the body. Mental ill-health shows itself in nervousness, inefficiency, discontent, unreasonable likes and dislikes, jealousy, fear.

These illnesses are not "insanity," any more than a cold is a "disease," but they keep our lives from being at their best.

They are rooted in habit, in physical weakness or abnormality, often in bad living conditions. They may be cured by anyone who will pay the price in effort, self-analysis and will-power. The result is worth the price—worth many times the price.

The rules for winning and keeping mental health are the sum and substance of all psychology. If you cannot apply them, get the help of a consulting psychologist. Here are the rules; try them for six months and observe the gain in your happiness:

- 1—Acquire the habit of emotional control. Do not fear what is called "repression"—conscious repression is a source of strength.
- 2—Harden yourself to endure slights, criticism, prejudice, dislike, even abuse. This "psychic hardening" is highly important if the mind is to keep unweakened and healthy. Extreme sensitiveness is unhealthy.
- 3—Improve the senses. Exercise them. Learn to see more, hear more, taste, smell and touch more accurately. Exercise the senses deliberately every day.
- 4—Put aside unhealthy images and ideas. Don't fight them particularly, but simply turn the attention to something interesting and healthy.
- 5—Increase the accuracy and rapidity of your thinking. Exercise the mind while at work and at play; the good mind is both firm and swift.
- 6—Strengthen and control your attention. Always attend wholly to the matter in hand; your capacity will increase by this exercise. Never let attention dwell on the useless or the painful.
- 7—Study your own normal positions and movements, and adopt them consciously when standing or sitting. Your natural attitudes are the best for you.
- 8—Learn to relax. Muscular relaxation removes fatigue, both physical and mental.
- 9—Learn to practice. If you find a thing hard to do but desirable, figure out exercises. Your capacity will rise along the well known "practice curve."
- 10—Imitate good models. First realize that you are bound to imitate in almost every act of life. Then surround yourself with the people you want to resemble in given qualities. Keep away from others.
- 11—Increase your physical and mental "lightness." We walk too heavily, think too heavily, play too heavily.
- 12—Establish healthy "motivation"

MR. LAVIGNE BUYS MORE PROPERTY

Fred Lavigne, the local liquor dealer, has purchased the real estate at the corner of Mt. Washington and Pawtucket streets. This property consists of a beautiful reinforced concrete structure containing six tenements. In addition there is also a large tract of land in Mt. Washington street. Mr. Lavigne has bought from Dr. George Constantineau and the final papers were signed today. The property is assessed for $1510.

Mr. Lavigne owns several houses in Walker street and Moody street, his last purchase being that of the three large blocks known as the Moore's place in Moody street, which is assessed for over $15,000 and which was formerly owned by Avila Sawyer.

ASCENDS 16,732 FEET WITH 25 PASSENGERS

PARIS, Tuesday May 6.—The giant Farman airplane Goliath, which has been flying between Paris and Brussels, last night ascended to a height of 16,732 feet (approximately 16,732 feet) carrying 25 passengers. The ascent was made in 1 hour and 15 minutes and the descent in 25 minutes.

to complete the city's quota. Some of this is in sight, but how much no one knows. The team reports are just as much a mystery to the campaign managers as they are to the public at large, but too much faith must not be put in the premature predictions, that everything will come out all right. Everything will not come out all right unless every man and woman does his share. With the rest of New England and entire country, Lowell faces a hard task and if obligations are forgotten or deliberately set aside, the loan will fail and the splendid records of our previous loans will be marred beyond repair.

A national bank examiner in the city yesterday said that he could not understand why the savings banks of the country didn't take every possible cent in subscriptions they could lay their hands on, even to the point of going into debt by so doing. He said it will be a long time before the government presents the opportunity to get in on such a sweet and safe proposition as the present bond issue, especially from the savings bank standpoint as they are tax exempt.

Several of the Lowell banks are considering the question of increasing their original purchases and one of two of these may be reported at tonight's meeting, which will be addressed by Cong. John Jacob Rogers. There are also several other large subscriptions to be reported by tomorrow evening.

The New England loan committee has offered four captured German cannons to the four New England towns or cities having the largest percentage of individual subscriptions to the present loan in their respective classes. The classes are designated as follows: Over 50,000, between 20,000 and 50,000 and under 5000 population. The number of subscriptions will be decided by the official returns in the hands of the Federal Reserve bank in Boston when the loan has closed.

With the days of the Victory loan drive becoming fewer Lowell's chances of having an airplane flying overhead as a campaign feature are daily growing less. Lawrence has had a plane, Boston a whole flock of them and today Littleton, Conn., N. H., is experiencing the traveling "Flying Circus" do stunts over the New Hampshire capitol building. The planes of the traveling stunt artists passed through Lowell last night in express cars, but that is just about as near as the city will come to seeing any air vehicles for the present.

The idea of having a machine bring a bale of cotton here from the south and have one of our dandy mills transform it into print cloth to be flown back again seems to have stagnated. Mayor Thompson has been carrying on wire correspondence with Capt. Charles J. Giddens of the air service and the last word received by the Lowell executive was to the effect that notice would be forwarded when the plans for the flight were completed. As yet no word has been received and it begins to look like a "river".

The Lowell end of it could be arranged, in fact is arranged now, and the city would give the visiting airman and his bale of cotton the welcome of his young life. The local public is crazy to see a plane and is considerably wrought up over the fact that rival Lawrence was able to pull strings hard enough to get one while we go "airless". The fact that a dozen or more plans passed through here last night only adds insult to injury and greatly aggravates the city's wounded pride. Why not let him over the city, and let us at least get a peek at them, instead of sending them through to New Hampshire via the B. & M. without as much as "we are sorry."

The Best Way to Treat

Constipation

BY S. C. BARCOCK, M. D.

The medical books name many drugs that will move the bowels. The drug store shelves are loaded down with laxatives, purgatives and pills. The trouble with most of them is that they only have a temporary effect. Constipated people know that pills work all right for a little while, but they soon lose their effect, and a change has to be made to something else. The constant taking of pills or salts in a form of bowel inactivity that is difficult to cure. The system becomes so accustomed to laxative drugs that the organs just won't work without them, and so the pill habit becomes as bad as constipation itself. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., seems to me to have the right idea. He says the bowels should first be gently moved with Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and in the meantime laxative pills should be eaten. Figs, prunes, olive oil, spinach, bran, vegetables and fruits are fine for constipation. Chew every bite thoroughly, eat little meat, and be as active as possible. Now, doesn't that seem sensible? Pleasant Pellets will start the bowels working right; then it is up to you to keep them right by right eating. Try Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for sick headache, coated tongue, biliousness, dizziness, torpid liver or to break up a cold. They are just what Dr. Pierce's Anodyne Pile Ointment soothes, cools and heals pines in a most gratifying way. Perhaps there is no other remedy for this torturing trouble that relieves so surely and quickly. Dr. Pierce believes Anodyne Pile Ointment will overcome any case that can be overcome by medical treatment. Try it right now.

Dr. Pierce's Anodyne Tablets are intended for people who suffer from kidney disorders—whose backs ache, and whose systems are overtaxed with uric acid. Nephritis, gravel, rheumatism, uric acid, Anodyne Tablets dissolve uric acid quickly, as they are made double strength.

U. S. SEAPLANES MAY START TOMORROW

NEW YORK, May 7.—Commander John H. Towers in charge of the United States navy's proposed transatlantic flight, announced today that weather forecasts were fairly favorable for a start tomorrow morning on the first day's cruise to Halifax.

Despite a steady rainfall, he said, the NC-1 would be taken out today for a flight to adjust controls. The NC-3 and NC-4, he stated, were ready to take the air and would not leave their hangars today.

ECONOMIC EXPERTS IN STORMY SESSION

PARIS, May 7.—(Havas).—The discussion at the meeting of the Inter-Allied and German economic experts at Versailles yesterday was very spirited, the Journal says. Most of the discussion concerned the exchange of iron ore from Lorraine for German coal. The newspaper adds: "Vividly the energy and good sense of the allies had the better of German stubbornness."

The Petit Parisien says there will be a maximum delay of one month before the signing of the peace treaty, according to the Havas Agency.

DEATHS

FITZGERALD.—Mr. James Fitzgerald, a resident of Centralville for over 50 years and a devout and constant attendant of St. Michael's church since its organization, died this morning at his home 24 West Third street, after a long illness which he bore with true Christian fortitude. Mr. Fitzgerald was born in Ireland and came to Lowell with his parents when a small boy and has made his home in Centralville since. He was one of the pioneer supporters and builders of St. Michael's parish, and a member of the Holy Name society since it was organized. He is survived by his wife, Margaret; three daughters, Misses May and Annie Fitzgerald, and Mrs. Daniel Scullin, and two sons, Joseph and James Fitzgerald, all of Lowell.

FARRINGTON.—Southwell Farrington died yesterday. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Myra Blanche Farrington.

INGALLS.—Frank A. Ingalls, aged 11 days, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Ingalls, died this morning at the home of his parents, 111 Osmond avenue.

YAKOS.—Joseph, aged 7 months and 1 day, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yakos, died yesterday at the home of his parents, 24 West Third street. Burial took place at 2 o'clock this afternoon in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers Young & Blake.

RAFFERTY.—Paul Rafferty, aged 3 years, 11 months and 3 days, died last evening at the home of his parents, George and Lena Rafferty, 4 Bassett street. He leaves besides his parents, four brothers.

FUNERALS

BOYLES.—The funeral services of Mrs. Fannie M. Boyles took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert C. Gray, 1090 Bridge street, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. C. H. Hart, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated. Miss Anna Roth sang appropriate selections. Burial was in the cemetery at 2 o'clock. The funeral was under the direction of Undertakers Young & Blake.

DUNFEY.—The funeral of Lester T. Dunfee took place from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Dunfee, 175 Westford street, yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Asa Reed, D.D., pastor of the Calvary Baptist church. There were many beautiful floral offerings. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Geo. W. Healey.

FRANK.—The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Frank took place this morning at 8:30 from her late home, 6 West Burnside avenue, and was very largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. At 9 o'clock a high mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Michael's church by Rev. Thomas Heagney. The funeral chant was sung by the choir, the solos being sustained by Mr. Thomas P. Boulger and Miss Margaret Griffin. Miss Ella Rafferty presided at the organ.

LEMPER.—The funeral of George Lemper took place yesterday afternoon from the rooms of E. H. Moll's Sons and was largely attended. The funeral procession included a band and about 100 of the friends of the deceased walked as an escort to the body to the Holy Trinity Greek church where services were held. Burial took place in Westlawn cemetery.

RAFFERTY.—The funeral of Paul Rafferty took place this morning at 11 o'clock from the home of his parents, George and Lena Rafferty, 4 Bassett street. The funeral was private owing to the cause of death. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

FUNERAL NOTICES

COLL.—Died in this city, May 5, at the Lowell Corporation hospital, from injuries, Brian E. Cole, aged 42 years. Funeral services will be held from his home, 64 Chelmsford street, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in the family lot in the Edison cemetery. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertakers Young & Blake.

FITZGERALD.—The funeral of the late Mr. James Fitzgerald will take place Friday morning at 8:15 o'clock from his home, 24 West Third street. High mass of requiem at St. Michael's church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Funeral Director James McKenna.

SHEPHERD.—The funeral of Cornelius Sheehan will take place on Thursday morning at 8 o'clock from his late home, 14 Grand street. Funeral mass of requiem will be sung at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will take place in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge. Motor cortege.

INGALLS.—Died in this city, May 7, at 11 Osmond avenue, Frank A. Ingalls, aged 11 days. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Ingalls, 111 Osmond avenue. Friends invited without further notice. Burial private. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Healey.

SALVATION ARMY HAS STRIKING POSTER

For the publicity work which will aid the Salvation Army in its appeal to the people of Lowell for the contribution in the week of May 19 of $25,000 for the home service fund of the organization, copies of a striking poster arrived at the local headquarters today.

This picture, which will be prominently displayed in the streets and stores of Lowell, is the work of Fred Duncan, a designer of poster and magazine covers. It depicts the work the Salvation Army performs among the poor. The central figure is a Salvationist. The poster prominently shows the now famous slogan of the Salvation Army, "A man may be down, but he's never out," and the cause for which the appeal is made.

Adjutant Clark announced today that the Lowell Elks have pledged themselves to do their best to put the organization over the top in the coming drive, and have elected Samuel Scott as chairman of a committee to organize teams to help in securing subscriptions when the campaign opens.

Severely charged with operating an illegal whisky still, pleaded not guilty before Federal Commissioner Hayes today. He was released under $500 bail and the case set down for a hearing May 21.

HE WAS A STRANGE ACTING STRANGER

The Highlands, or at least the neighborhood in and around Foster and Gibson streets, believes it may at this time have a little pet mystery of its own.

Yesterday forenoon housewives in the vicinity of the two streets mentioned a man about 45 years old, tall, thin, sallow complexioned, dressed in a blue suit, dodging in and out of backyards and altogether acting in a strange and unusual manner.

Some women declare they heard him ejaculate a number of times, "I've got it, I've got it," but all information as to what he referred in making this remark, seems to be hazy and indefinite. The general impression is that he may have been a demented man, probably harmless.

It is recalled that there was such an instance in the Highlands district about a year ago this time and that the family of the demented man learning he was loose in the neighborhood, came and took him away. It was a time of more or less terror and anxiety in the neighborhood yesterday forenoon, because of the man's strange actions and children were

Piction and Movies Outdone

Scenario writers evidently never dreamed that the story of a man like William J. Parfitt would be accepted by the public as plausible—else they would have floated such a story into the motion picture theatres. A case like his evidently never occurred to the dramatists and novelists—or they would have made money for themselves by making one of it.

Kipling says all stories must have a beginning. This story must start:

Many years ago in England lived two sisters, Kate and Harriet Parfitt, and their brother, William Joseph Parfitt.

England seemed a crowded, uncomfortable, hard-to-get-along kind of a country in which to live, so the three emigrated, the two sisters to New South Wales, the brother to America. The sisters have lived ever since in Australia. The brother, now about 45 years old, never returned to England, has never seen his sisters. He married an American woman, considered himself thoroughly American and is called by his neighbors 100 per cent patriotically American.

Unanswered Letters

Some people grow wealthy quick in Australia. Both sisters married in New South Wales. Harriet married a man named Coolgarde. Coolgarde died a number of years ago leaving his widow immensely rich in money, land and sheep. Mrs. Coolgarde died in January of 1918. She left no children. The estate she left was appraised at 125,000 pounds sterling, equivalent in American money to about $600,000. Her only heirs were of course her married sister, Kate, living in New South Wales, and the brother, William Joseph Parfitt, living in the New England states, 10,000 miles from Australia.

The married sister Kate and her husband knew the estate could not be probated and divided until the missing brother, William, had signed certain Australian affidavits and preferably come to Australia to claim his inheritance. So, not knowing hardly what to do, she called the help of "The Young Men's Christian association in Melbourne, Australia, to help her find her brother, inform him of his great windfall, and try to have him come to Australia.

Hands Across the Pacific

The Melbourne Y. M. C. A. accepted the commission. Its officials believed Parfitt lived in New England. Near Boston it was thought. So the facts in the case were sent to Boston Y. M. C. A. with the request that it assign a man to find the missing heir.

Mr. Knighthor, the welfare secretary was assigned to the task. Through the postal officials of Lowell and Chelmsford, he secured Parfitt's address. He wrote to him and explained the Australian matter in detail. His communications, which started as far back as last November, were provided with return addresses, so Knighthor felt confident Parfitt was receiving them all right. He could not understand Parfitt's silence. He did not occur to him that the Westford farmer had put his happiness and satisfaction with his present mode of life, above all considerations of money, no matter how large the sum.

Yesterday Mr. Knighthor, who is a man about 45 years of age himself, came to Lowell, on his way to solve the mystery—for such it had come to represent itself to him—of the missing heir. He says he was determined to find what he was Parfitt had in Westford of so much value that he apparently would not exchange it for his inherited wealth in Australia. He returned to Boston last night, after an afternoon spent in Westford, somewhat discouraged over the result of his quest but with the satisfaction and knowledge that he knew why Parfitt had ignored all his letters and communications. He says he has at last found one man who asserts he has found earthly happiness and is so well satisfied with it that he will not exchange it for money.

The Secretary's Story

The story of William Parfitt and his indifference to his legacy probably cannot be told better than Mr. Knighthor told it to The Sun yesterday, as follows:

"I found Mr. Parfitt to whom I had written for many months about this Australian legacy, working, in Westford, this afternoon. I told him I had come to put the case to him as to whether he believed he ought to go to Australia and claim his legacy, not only as justice to himself, his wife and his children, but as a matter of justice to his sister, whom we understand cannot secure her share until her brother has signed certain affidavits and preferably come to New South Wales, and look after his interests.

"I rather felt that possibly Parfitt's finances would not permit the expenditure of the money necessary to take him alone to Australia, to say nothing of the expense of passage for his wife and two children. To this end I advised Parfitt that arrangements might be made so that, if he would signify his willingness to go to Australia, the Melbourne Y.M.C.A. would be advised, and upon such advice, would cable Boston Y.M.C.A. a sight draft, upon presentation of which, at a Boston or Lowell bank, sufficient money would be forthcoming to in the one instance, pay Parfitt's fare and that of his family to Australia or, to pay his fare alone, and at the same time, leave money enough for his family's support until he should return.

Precious Happiness

"Thus the matter was clearly and persuasively laid before Parfitt this afternoon as he worked stolidly cutting the grass in front of his little home. I suppose my mission and my work is at an end. I assume so from the fact that when I called Parfitt's attention to the fact that possibly if he was against accepting this huge sum of money, as a matter of justice, his two children should be considered, he intimated to me—and not too gently, that he would be glad if I attended to my own affairs! Under the circumstances I do not know that I can do anything more than to report to our brethren in Melbourne what has failed of accomplishment and await their next move, or the next move of Parfitt's sister, Kate, if she decides to make any next move."

SOME SAY—that there is a dominant desire, that every woman, rich and poor, woman of leisure and girl of the shop, has an overpowering craving for one thing, and that is a desire that is never satisfied.

Several Large Subscriptions in Sight For Tonight's Meeting of Workers

Airplane Feature Does Not Seem Sure—German Cannon For Prizes

The only large Victory loan subscription which came to light this morning was an additional $10,000 purchase by the W. H. Bagshaw Co. through the Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust Co. This makes a total subscription of $30,000 by the Bagshaw Co., along with a $10,000 purchase by the H. C. Carbo Co., a subsidiary corporation. The Union National bank reported buying today as lighter than any previous time during the drive, and of the approximately $15,000 worth of bonds bought there this morning all but about $2000 is credited to surrounding towns. Patrons of the City Institution of Savings subscribed for $16,000 worth of bonds this morning, making that bank's total, including their own purchase of $1,200,000, approximately $1,230,000. This is all placed through the Appleton National bank.

The town of Ayer, which had only $11,000 subscribed out of a quota of $170,000 came to life today when the savings bank of the town took $25,000 worth of bonds, and will probably double this amount before Saturday night. Groton is pretty sure to oversubscribe her quota and other towns in the district will probably go "over the top" before Saturday.

Local interest in the Victory loan today centers in the meeting of the division canvassing members in Edison hall at 6:30 o'clock this evening. At both of the two previous meetings of the team workers, subscriptions amounting to a million dollars were received, and if this good record continues tonight, Lowell will be in a very fair way to finish her job by Saturday night. It, on the other hand, the reports tonight fall very much short a million, the road is going to be hard and thorny between now and Saturday.

HIS HAPPINESS BEYOND PRICE

W. J. Parfitt Says He and His Family Are Happy Without Fortune

"The price of my happiness as I enjoy it here in Westford isn't a quarter of a million dollars," said William J. Parfitt, a farmer of that town, to Charles Valentine Knightley, welfare secretary for the Boston Young Men's Christian Association, when Mr. Knightley called at the little farm of Parfitt in Westford and informed him that he had fallen heir to one half of the $600,000 estate in New South Wales, Australia, left by his sister.

Seldom has so curious, interesting and unique a story come to light in New England. Out in Westford, at last has been found a man—just a common, every day sort of a man—who is so thoroughly happy and satisfied.

WILSON CALLS EXTRA SESSION

President Issues Call by Cable For Congress To Meet May 19

Will Be Impossible For President To Be Present on Opening Day

WASHINGTON, May 7.—President Wilson issued a call by cable today for special session of congress to meet Monday, May 19.

Secretary Tumulty, in making the announcement, said it would be impossible for the president to be here on the opening day. The date was much earlier than democratic leaders had expected.

White House officials said that in naming an early date for the session, President Wilson was guided largely by the advice of Secretary Glass as to the necessity of passing annual appropriation measures which failed in the closing days of the last session.

General expectations are that soon after it meets, the new congress will investigate charges made in connection with the conduct of the war.

Senator Lodge today issued a call for a republican conference to be held May 14 for the purpose of perfecting an organization in the senate and representative body.

These terms were contained in a treaty of some 80,000 words in length which was handed to the German plenipotentiaries at a memorable assemblage.

NINE PERISHED IN COLUMBUS FIRE

COLUMBUS, O., May 7.—The death last night of Mrs. Ida Belle Joyce, 26 years old, brought the number of dead in Monday night's apartment building fire to nine. Mrs. Joyce was the first of the injured in hospital to die, although Charles Speakman, whose wife leaved to her death, cannot live, physicians say. Twelve others in hospitals are seriously hurt. Eight of the dead perished in the building and from leaping from its upper floors.

"Absolute negligence" was responsible for the fire, according to State Marshal T. Alfred Fleming, who has started an inquiry for the state. Swirling gas jets, from which the fire started, inadequate fire escapes constructed too close to the wall and to the windows and converging hallways leading to a single stairway alongside an elevator shaft that provided a draft for flames, were factors that he points out as causing the fire to be so disastrous.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 7.—Aside from the heaviness of Mexican Petroleum, stocks were active and strong at the opening today. Buying orders centered in shipings, oils, motors, sugars and tobacco. U. S. Steel made no initial change but hardened later with equipments, especially Pressed Steel Car and American Car. Canadian Pacific, Union Pacific, Reading and New York Central made substantial gains.

The call for an extra session of congress and the award of steel contracts for the navy gave impetus to the advance. Atlantic Gulf, Marine preferred, Pacific Mail, Texas Co., Royal Dutch, Sinclair, Canadian Pacific and Reading made extreme advances of 1 to 6 points, while Lackawanna rose 10. Mexican Petroleum made full recovery, but U. S. lagged despite the strength of related shares and coppers.

MAJ. CUSHING IN WITH AIRCRAFT FIGHTERS

NEW YORK, May 7.—The President Grant arrived yesterday from Brest with 5599 men aboard, mostly men of the 77th Division. Twenty-three women nurses of the Army Nurse corps who have been abroad for 13 months were among the arrivals.

Among them was Miss Faith Hinckley of Hinkley, Me., who joined the colors 18 months ago, and wears her three service chevrons. She was a "Y" worker in St. Nazaire until her home state regiment arrived in France, when she went to the front.

About 2700 drafted men of Georgia, Alabama and Florida arrived on the steamship Huron from Bordeaux. They belong to the 82nd Division, and the units included 307th Sanitary Train, 307th Supply Train, 319th, 320th and a part of the 321st Machine Gun Battalion, 317th Mobile Ordnance repair shop complete. The Huron brought altogether 3265 troops, including the 120th, 135th and 265th Aero Squadrons.

On the Housatonic from Bordeaux were the Signal Corps of the 135th Field Battalion, 35th Division; 1st Anti-aircraft Machine Gun Battalion, 15th and 35th Aero Squadrons. The units were in charge of Maj. H. D. Cushing of Boston, commander of the 1st Anti-aircraft Machine Battalion, which had served 14 months in France and accounted for 23 German airplanes, suffering 39 casualties and being cited several times for distinguished conduct. Lieut. John J. Donovan of Somerville, Mass., was credited with bringing down eight hostile machines. Eight of the battalion officers, including Maj. Cushing, won the Croix de Guerre.

The Black Arrow brought 1655 troops from Bordeaux, mostly artillerymen of the 82d Division.

Shipping men are anxiously awaiting the opening of the American base at Antwerp, about two miles outside of Antwerp on the Malines road. Barracks are being erected at Antwerp for the accommodation of 20,000 soldiers at a time. This is expected to inject a little more life into Antwerp port. The grounds picked out for the American base is a vast plain, dry and well irrigated, and the doughboys will find living and sanitary conditions there much better than in other bases which have achieved greater prestige.

The Americans have taken over some of the piers where North German Lloyd steamships formerly docked. The early work was arduous, as the piers were encumbered with gravel imported from Holland by the Germans, ostensibly to repair roads but actually to build reinforced concrete shelters, dugouts and trenches. One hundred thousand cubic yards of the gravel had to be removed before the piers could be used. It is estimated the Germans had enough gravel there to repair Belgian roads for fifty years.

Fifteen thousand longshoremen and stevedores are idle here and the only solution shipping men find when questioned as to how the situation can be remedied may be summed up on one word: "America."

NEWBURYPORT WILL BANQUET COMPANY M

The boys of Co. M of the 101st Regiment of this city, formerly the old Ninth, have been invited by the people of Newburyport to attend a banquet, reception and dance in their honor at Newburyport tomorrow evening. The company encamped at Newburyport in the spring and summer of 1917 before entraining for overseas and so popular did the members become that the townspeople wish to show their appreciation. Lieut. Daniel F. Brennan of Co. M is the man in charge of arrangements on the local end and members of the company are asked to get in touch with him.

Fire on Liner Adriatic

LONDON, May 7.—The liner Adriatic which left New York on April 28, passed Brown Head at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening with a fire in her cargo, according to a wireless message received from the steamer at Valentia, Ireland, and transmitted here. The message said the bunker hold had been sealed up.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The White Star Liner Adriatic docked in Liverpool this morning, according to a cablegram received at the White Star Co.'s offices here. Officials of the company said this message made no mention of any fire. They expressed opinion that any such incident must have been a minor one.

PROPOSE TO FIGHT BOTH DRY LAWS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 7.—The constitutionality of both the war dry law, effective July 1, and the constitutional amendment effective next January was attacked by delegates attending the annual convention of the National Liquor Dealers' association, which opened here yesterday.

A decision was virtually reached to fight both measures and the opinion was freely expressed that the country would not go "dry" until next January. If at all, politicians who were "cajoled or driven into a panic of fear to enact national prohibition" were denounced by the delegates and by Pres. William Seckel.

"President Wilson has learned the sentiment of the soldiers in the field, and he has heard from the folks at home, who were caught napping and did not realize that the constitutional amendment deprived them of their rights and liberties," declared Pres. George Carroll of the New Jersey Liquor Dealers' league.

Mr. Seckel declared that when the call was issued in August, 1918, for a national conference in Philadelphia they found the prohibitionists had "stacked the cards on them." He called for a large fund to conduct the defense campaign and asserted that the "battle is on." The congressional committee's report was particularly bitter in its arraignment of congress.

AUTO SERVICE FOR WOMEN READERS

"Always fill your radiator before starting a trip, and if you notice a leak in it, repair it at once."

There is no reason why a woman should not be as good at handling a motor car as a man. All that is required is common sense and care, together with some mechanical knowledge.

First and most important comes care. If you want to get the best value and save yourself the most trouble, be as particular about what is inside as you are about what shows on the outside.

In our work of training women for the Motor Corps of the National League for Women's Service, one of the first rules in the care of her car that our girls had to learn was this: Don't wait until something goes wrong before looking for trouble. "Before and after trips you make, look over your motor, see that it is clean and runs smoothly and quietly. A knock, grind, or rattle should mean instant attention." Here's another: "Always fill your radiator before starting a trip, and if you notice a leak in it, repair it at once."

See that your grease cups are kept full; keep the steering gear, differential, gear case and universal packed with grease. See that none of the wires touch the metal parts and that they are not exposed to water. Watch your ignition system; if you will clean the spark plugs and put a drop of oil on the generator and other moving parts of the electrical system, trouble with the ignition will seldom occur. Keep battery connections and terminals free from corrosion. Keep tires properly inflated. Slow

NAVY AIDS RED CROSS IN GREEK ISLANDS

ATHENS, (Correspondence of The Associated Press)—In his already extensive and growing work in the Greek Islands, the American Red Cross has the co-operation of the United States navy. Six submarine chasers have been placed at the disposal of the Red Cross for transporting personnel and supplies to the various islands where refugees are concentrated.

On the island of Mytilene the condition of the Greek refugees who fled there from Asia Minor five years ago has become desperate. Red Cross workers are regularly visiting all the towns on the island, and clothing has been made for about 25,000 of the 52,000 refugees.

At the outbreak of the war in 1914 the Greeks were driven out of Asia Minor. There were about 3,000,000 of them there before the war. More than 500,000 escaped to the islands in the Aegean. Thousands were massacred. The others, driven out of their homes by the Turks and sent inland, are now returning, only to find their homes either destroyed or occupied by Turks who refuse to move. Prior to the allied occupation armed bands of Turks roamed the countryside plundering and murdering Greeks wherever found.

The refugees in the Aegean Islands intend to return to Asia Minor as soon as conditions permit. At present the Greek government gives each refugee six cents a day.

The American Red Cross is devoting much attention to the prevention of further epidemics such as the typhus scourge which took such a heavy toll at Mytilene. Efforts are being made to relieve overcrowding and consequent unsanitary conditions which enable epidemics to gain headway.

Food is scanty and costly on the islands and most of the refugees are underfed, even in the large towns where conditions are better than in the outlying villages. The clothing situation is the worst for after buying food the purchase of clothes is out of the question for the refugees. Nearly all of these persons are in rags. The hospitals are short of medicines and other supplies and have been crowded on account of the prevalence of influenza.

Clothing, blankets and medicine are needed on all the islands. Canned meat for broth is wanted in the hospitals. The American Red Cross is supplying clothing to the refugees.

American women run the workshops where clothing is made up into garments on the three islands of Mytilene, Chios and Samos. American Red Cross men field workers often travel on donkeyback up into the villages on the mountains and distribute food and clothing. Army, navy doctors and nurses provide medicine and attend to the sick.

Of the 52,000 refugees on Mytilene 22,000 are in the town of Mytilene and its suburbs; the others are scattered about in 52 villages. Of the 20,000 refugees on Chios part are sheltered in old houses and the rest in wooden barracks, divided with hanging and old carpets and subdivided with carpets into "rooms," each accommodating a family of from five to ten persons. The islands of Lemnos, Imbros, Tenedos and Samothrace also are being served with Red Cross supplies from Mytilene; Oinoussa is served from Chios, and Icaria from Samos.

When the American Red Cross officers arrived at Mytilene with their cargo of supplies scenes of the greatest enthusiasm took place. The party was escorted to a carriage, the horses were unhitched and the carriage drawn by a cheering crowd to the residence of the governor general, who commanded a private home and placed it at the disposal of the arrivals. All living expenses were paid by the Greek government.

WILSON MEETS PERSHING

PARIS, May 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Wilson had an appointment with General Pershing for 2 o'clock this afternoon, probably in relation to the three power pact under discussion for safeguarding France against renewed German aggression.

PARIS, May 7.—(Havas) France, the United States and Great Britain have concluded an agreement giving supplementary guarantees for France and security for the peace treaty. The Echo de Paris says. It adds that Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George today will draft in final form this additional pact which will not be secret.

Treaty of 80,000 Words

blage attended by delegates of 22 nations which are parties to the peace pact.

This notable document, on which the leading statesmen of the various nations, with a swarm of experts have been working since the convening of the peace conference on Jan. 18, is introduced by an extensive preamble, embodying the assertion of authority upon which the treaty is based.

First Chapter League Draft

The first chapter in the covenant of the League of Nations, the text of which already has been printed. Of the 14 principal sections, one contains stipulations with regard to frontiers which materially change the map of Europe. Military, naval and air terms are dealt with in another section, while still another is devoted to the subject of reparations. Political stipulations for Europe, on the one hand, and outside of it on the other, are dealt with in separate divisions of the document.

The treaty, it is noted, has to do with Germany alone, except insofar as it is required that she accept agreements made by the allies with the other central powers.

The document, long as it is, is shorter than was indicated by some of the forecasts, which estimated its length at 100,000.

The treaty is not printed in German. The text is in French and English, on opposite pages.

The terms of the treaty spell the end of Germany as a military power. She is deprived of virtually all of her power, her army is cut down to nominal dimensions and she is sharply restricted along lines through which she might seek to work militarily to rehabilitate herself. Economically, also, the future course of Germany is hedged about with stipulations intended to insure her ability to pay the indemnity demanded by the allies and to prevent her from exploiting her old-time resources as a strangling competitor of the nations about her which she overran and devastated during the war.

Thus, for instance, Germany for a period of years at least, will be deprived of the coal output of the rich Saar basin, which goes to France in repayment of the damage caused by the destruction of the French coal mines. She likewise is compelled to make restitution for the damage in other ways done to France, Belgium and other countries which suffered depredations in various forms. She is made to realize that her more than four years' career of destruction must be made good.

The ceremonial of handing the treaty to the Germans took place in the hall of the Trianon Palace hotel, a spacious, well lighted chamber with tables for the delegates arranged nearly in the form of a square. The presiding officer was Georges Clemenceau, premier of France and president of the peace congress, who sat at the center of the head table with President Wilson and the other American representatives on his right and David Lloyd George, the British premier and his colleagues on the left. Mrs. Wilson was a spectator.

HISTORY OF THE PEACE CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press.)

The treaty handed to the Germans today at Versailles is the result of the work of 26 representatives of allied and associated powers arrayed against Germany who convened officially on January 18, less than four months ago. The time between the armistice, Nov. 11, and January 18, was occupied in preparing claims and reports in the selection of delegates and in their travel to Paris.

Wilson at Brest Dec. 13

President Wilson and the American delegates sailed from New York on Dec. 4, 1918, and when the president set foot at Brest on Dec. 13, he was the first American president to visit Europe while in office. The intervening month before the opening of the conference was spent by the president in becoming acquainted with allied statesmen and in visiting England, Italy and parts of France.

Clemenceau Made Chairman

The first act of the peace conference at its meeting on January 18, was to elect Georges Clemenceau, premier of France, as chairman. On January 21 the conference adopted the proposal that all Russian factions meet on the Princes Islands to discuss the Russian situation. Nothing ever came of the proposal. Three days later the conference ordered fighting over disputed territory to cease.

League of Nations

The plan for a League of Nations was conceived in by the conference on Jan. 24, and a committee was appointed to draw up a covenant. Discussion in the supreme council, or Council of Ten, which included two representatives from Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States, then turned to the form of the future government of territory freed from enemy rule and on January 30 the conference accepted the plan of mandatory for colonies and backward nations.

Lions commission reported the covenant it had prepared. President Wilson left Brest on February 13 on his return to the United States. He arrived at Boston on Feb. 24, and after explaining the league covenant and making several speeches, started on his return to France on March 5 and reached Brest on May 13. Meanwhile the work of the Council of Ten had continued except for the interruption incident to the attempt to assassinate Premier Clemenceau on Feb. 12.

The "Big Four"

The various commissions of the conference continued their labors uninteruptedly. On March 26 in order to speed up the work the Council of Ten was broken up in two bodies, a Council of Four and a Council of Foreign Ministers. The Council of Four was composed of Premiers Orlando, Clemenceau, Lloyd George and President Wilson.

Wilson Summoned Ship

A furor in conference circles was created on April 7, when President Wilson summoned the transport Geo. Washington to come to Brest at once and it was reported he intended to return home. A statement on reparations and frontier questions, it was reported at the time, was believed to have prompted his action.

On April 11 at a plenary session the conference adopted the report of the international labor legislation committee and on April 14 the reparations demands to be made on Germany were announced. On April 16 the Germans were invited to send delegates to receive the treaty.

The Plume Question

With the German treaty near completion the question of Italy's claims in the Adriatic came to the front. On April 23 President Wilson issued a statement that Plume could not be taken to Italy. The Italian delegation announced its intention of leaving Paris and on April 21, Premier Orlando started for Rome. Scarcely had he departed than the vanguard of the German delegation reached Versailles on April 25, followed on April 30 by the principal delegates. Previously the Germans had expressed the intention of sending "messengers" to receive the treaty, but finally were compelled to send delegates with full powers.

Geneva Seat of League

In the absence of the Italian delegates the conference on April 25 adopted the revised covenant of the League of Nations. Geneva was selected as the seat of the league, and Sir Eric Drummond of Great Britain was made first secretary-general.

Agreement on Santung

On April 30 the Council of Three reached an agreement on the question of Santung which gave the territory to the Japanese who are to turn it over later to the Chinese.

First Meeting With Germans

The first meeting with the Germans took place on May 1, when credentials were exchanged at Versailles.

Today Premier Orlando and the other Italian delegates returned to Paris in time for the handling of the peace treaty to the Germans.

GERMANS TO SIGN AGAINST INDEMNITY

PARIS, May 7.—The German delegates to the peace congress declare that they will sign the peace treaty but that Germany will not pay an indemnity.

In discussion of peace terms, Germany's spokesmen have invariably drawn a distinction between reparation and indemnity, construing the latter as punitive damages.

MRS. WILSON TO ATTEND SESSION

PARIS, May 7.—The session of the peace congress at which the treaty will be presented to the Germans this afternoon is expected to last 20 minutes, according to the Havas Agency. It will be opened by Premier Clemenceau.

beau, president of the peace conference, to whose address Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, German foreign minister, and head of the enemy delegation, will reply. The delivery of the copies of the treaty will then take place.

Mrs. Wilson will probably be present when the Germans receive the peace treaty, according to intrinsigant.

TO PUT GERMANS BEYOND THE RHINE

METZ, May 7 (Havas).—The newspapers of Lorraine publish an appeal from the mayor of Metz inviting all inhabitants of Alsace and Lorraine to sign a petition asking France to protect her economically, politically and militarily "by putting Germany back beyond the Rhine."

BELGIUM WANTS $500,000,000 LOAN

BRUSSELS, Tuesday, May 6 (By the Associated Press).—The Belgian government has decided to ask the allies or the United States for an immediate loan of $500,000,000.

ORLANDO AGAIN TAKES HIS SEAT

PARIS, May 7. (9.15 a. m.)—Premier Orlando and Baron Sonnino arrived in Paris from Rome this morning.

Premier Orlando arrived at the Paris Villa House just as the Council of Four reassembled and resumed his seat in the council.

TERMS WHICH BROUGHT ITALY BACK

PARIS, May 7.—(By the Associated Press).—As a basis of resuming participation in the peace negotiations, Premier Orlando has accepted a proposal that Italy administer Plume as a mandatory of the League of Nations until 1923, after which, Plume will revert to Italian sovereignty.

During the four years of Italian administration a harbor for the Jugoslavians will be built at a port a few miles lower down the Adriatic coast. Italy, it is understood, also is prepared to make sacrifices of some of her other claims on the Dalmatian coast.

The proposal was made by Camille Barrere, the French ambassador to Rome.

ADOLPH JOFFE IS SHOT

Former Bolshevik Ambassador at Berlin Seized by Polish Forces at Vilna

COPENHAGEN, May 7.—When Polish forces captured Vilna recently they seized and shot Adolph Joffe the former Russian Bolshevik ambassador at Berlin, according to Polish newspapers received here.

Adolph Joffe was first chairman of the Russian peace delegation at Brest Litovsk and after the signing of the treaty was appointed ambassador to Germany. The new German government expelled him late in November. He returned to Berlin in mid-December and was said to have brought money to aid the Spartacists in their activities against the government. He was expelled again in January.

OF 81

(By Newspaper Enterprise Association) WENATCHEE, Wash., May.—No wife can ever be sure she has severed her husband from his mother's apron strings.

The mother-in-law problem—as old as Eve's disapproval of Cain's wife—may be up for the matron of 80 as well as for the wife of 20.

The case of Mrs. Ellen S. Cooley proves it—a case perhaps saner and kinder to mothers, but certainly disquieting to wives.

Mrs. Cooley, 82, is suing her husband, Ferdinand Cooley, 70, for divorce on the ground that his mother, 94, has alienated his affections.

For the better part of 15 years, the aggrieved wife says, she and Cooley were as happy as honeymooners a third of their age. She was a wealthy spinster of 67 when he, a beau of 55, courted and won her in Muskegon, Mich.

After the wedding, Mrs. Cooley says, she and her husband moved to Wenatchee, Wash., where they lived happily for several years.

Then, Mrs. Cooley says, her husband's mother came to live with them. At first, she says, she and her husband were as happy as ever.

But, she says, her husband's mother was jealous of her and began to alienate his affections from her.

Finally, Mrs. Cooley says, her husband decided to leave her and go to live with his mother.

GERMANS FLEE FROM EXPLOSION

Series of Explosions Near Brussels Kills Many—Houses Demolished

BRUSSELS, Tuesday, May 6. (By the Associated Press).—A depot of German ammunition containing shells and bombs of every calibre and many gas shells has been exploding since yesterday morning at the railway station at Groenendael, six miles south of Brussels, where Canadian troops were inspected by King Albert eight days ago. The depot has been under guard of 150 Belgian soldiers and 600 German prisoners have been at work near it. It is believed there are many killed and wounded, but the number of victims will not be known for several days.

Many houses in the neighborhood have completely collapsed and windows and roofs for two miles around the scene of the explosion have been shattered. It is reported that while workmen were unloading a wagon filled with shells a detonator exploded in the hands of a German prisoner, setting fire to the ammunition boxes. After the explosion the German prisoners broke the barbed wire corral surrounding the camp and fled in all directions through the woods. Only 150 have been arrested since.

LOWELL TEACHERS HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

A land of pleasure, besprinkled with blossoms of happy music and wit, was the annual banquet of the Lowell Teachers' organization, held last evening at the State Normal school with several hundred teachers and fortunate invited guests present to enjoy the occasion.

Dr. Frederick W. Hamilton, former president of Tufts college, and at present a member of the state board of education, was the speaker of the evening and his address was most acceptably up to the minute—so much so that it embraced a reference to the use of a machine gun at the Lawrence strike.

Following an excellent dinner, a brief program of entertainment was carried out and included a feature in the presence of four high school seniors who danced with all the grace and abandon of devotees of the art of Isadora Duncan. They were the Misses Esther Whitman, Jeannette Chevalier, Eleanor Sutton and Louise Harrigan. The Levox Ladies' orchestra furnished music for the evening and Albert Edmund Brown led in community singing.

Miss Genevieve Lawrence, president of the organization, presided and introduced Principal John J. Mahoney who introduced the speakers of the evening after extending a hearty welcome.

Mayor Perry D. Thompson was first introduced and in opening, told of his inevitable embarrassment at talking before an audience of school teachers.

He regretted the inadequacy of training evident among school teachers in some parts of the country and said that he believed the meagre amount of pay received a big factor in this condition. He advocated more leniency in the matter of allowing school boards to handle their own money.

Dr. Hamilton was the next speaker. He characterized the present times as opportunity for serious interest in the future welfare of the country. He was sure that the teachers had a deep interest in the citizenship of the nation and he believed that woman suffrage would soon be granted.

He said that most people were of the opinion that civilization had today advanced to such an extent that private wars were no longer possible. He cited the present Lawrence strike and recent telephone strike as examples to prove that this was not so. Strikes, he declared, were nothing more than private wars and by allowing people to strike, the law sanctions such wars. He did not like to see strikers in Lawrence who have pulled guns on policemen crying baby when the latter bring a machine gun into play. What he wished to emphasize, he said, was that as long as we resort to private warfare for settling our disputes, our civilization is only half built.

Coming down to the teachers themselves and their relation to organized labor, he said that he regretted the fact that the Boston teachers were considering joining the American Federation of Labor but he could see no other way for them to get what they wanted. He urged the development of a system of industrial law which shall secure for the employer and employee what rightly belongs to each so that instead of building up civilization with one hand and tearing it down with the other, we shall build with both hands.

Henry J. Harris, principal of the Varnum school, was the next speaker and he made brief appeal for the Victory loan. The spirit of thanksgiving alone, he declared, should make us want to dig down.

Supt. Hugh J. Molloy contrasted the condition of the country today with that of a year ago and said that the one way to prepare for war was to prepare men. The teachers, he affirmed, had done a noble part in this work.

He was of the opinion that the public will never pay teachers enough because teachers will always find more than mere monetary remuneration in the profession. He warned his listeners not to listen to people who urge them to ally themselves with organized labor.

Next came a tribute to those present who had served in the world war and the initial number was the singing of popular and patriotic songs under Mr. Brown's direction.

"Announce mothers' day next Sunday, May 11. No flowers to be used. Rich people to buy Victory bonds and thrift stamps instead."

CAMP DEVENS, May 7.—Some form of protest from men still in the service and stationed at this camp is expected to be made within the next few days about what they term "abuse of the United States uniform." Many men here have complained that on their visits to Boston they have seen numbers of men wearing the United States uniform begging, peddling and shining shoes, arousing the sympathies of the public through the clothing they wear.

They complain also that a number of men who obviously had held commissions in the service are to be seen about Boston wearing just enough of their uniforms to show that they have been officers. This they term a disgrace to the service as the men are not properly dressed, and they propose to see if something cannot be done to stop it. Some declare they believe many of the beggars and peddlers to be impostors.

TAX MANUFACTURERS OF DRINKS, NOT RETAILERS

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Regulations for administration of the 15 per cent tax on near-beer and other beverages made of cereals, and the 10 per cent tax on manufacture of soft drinks, provide that the assessment is against the original manufacturer in the case of near-beer, even though he sells to another concern which bottles and sells the products. If the beverage is subjected in the process to any reworking, sales by the second manufacturer also are taxable. The tax is on the manufacturer's price, not the retail price.

The tax on soft drinks, as differentiated from soda fountain products, is on unfermented grapejuice, ginger ale, root beer, pop beer, artificial mineral waters, apple juice, and other fruit juices. The tax is paid by the manufacturer and these articles are exempt from soda fountain taxes.

POOR LEATHER USED IN ARMY SHOES

BOSTON, May 7.—Thomas Sherwood, formerly a leather buyer for the A. J. Bates Shoe Co., of Webster, testified in the federal court yesterday that Frank J. Sears, vice president and general manager of the company, told him that no money would be made on a contract for army shoes, except by "skinning" on the leather.

Sherwood and Sears were placed on trial, charged with conspiring to defraud the government, and to bribe inspectors. Sherwood pleaded guilty. He was the first witness called in the trial of Sears. He said that Sears told him he had not included overhead and salesmanship charges in figuring on the contract and that the only profit he would make would be by "skinning" on leather. Subsequently, Sherwood said, that 60,000 outergoles were purchased by the Bates company, at an average of 65 cents a pair, which was nine cents below the market price. Later, he said, 45,000 pairs of outergoles, of 8 1/2 iron were purchased, while the contract called for nine iron. He said that insoles were bought at 16 cents a pair when the market price was 25 cents.

He testified that Sears told him not to employ strangers at the factory, as he understood that the government was placing shoemakers, who were acting as secret agents, in factories which were making army shoes. The Bates Co. contract was for 114,000 pairs of shoes at an average price of $1.50 a pair.

LIBERTY LOAN TOTAL $2,150,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Subscriptions to the Victory loan had reached approximately $2,150,000,000 today. This was an overnight increase of about $30,000,000. This was navy day in the loan campaign and bond sales were expected to receive a substantial boost as a result of the challenge to the country to match the navy.

This morning the navy's subscription to the loan was more than $12,000,000 which is considered a better record than for the corresponding time in the Fourth loan, because of the reduced personnel.

Twenty-five shipyards have gone over the top in bond purchases, totaling $5,000,000.

KILLED WOMAN AND SHOT HIMSELF

PITTSBURGH, May 7.—After he had shot and killed Mrs. Mary Winebrenner, aged 48, proprietress of a North Side rooming house here yesterday, Charles Martin, aged 42, of Lawrence, Mass., is alleged to have turned the weapon on himself, firing a bullet into his neck. He is in a critical condition in the Allegheny General hospital.

Police, attracted by five shots, rushed into the building and found Mrs. Winebrenner dead, in a pool of blood in the kitchen of her apartment. On the third floor, Martin was found unconscious in bed.

Frank Hurd, a roomer, said he heard two shots and opened his door. Hurd declared Martin was standing at his door and turned the revolver upon him, saying, "you're next." Hurd said he begged Martin not to shoot him and the latter then ran to the third floor. The cause of the tragedy has not been determined.

An identification card bearing the names of James and John Martin, the latter a friend of Lawrence, Mass., was found among Martin's effects.

BOSTON, May 7.—When he tried yesterday afternoon to make the turn from Amory street into Porter street, Jamaica Plain, with a big auto truck, Charles Curwin, an employee of the Charles Curwin Brewing company, misjudged the curb, mounted the sidewalk and, after killing a boy and injuring two other children, crashed into the front of a one-story grocery store, demolishing it. The machine came to a stop amid a large quantity of scattered groceries, splintered wood and broken glass.

The boy killed was Melvin Benson, 11, of 284 Amory street. He, with Harry Russell, 11, of 147 Boylston street and Hazel Wood, 6, of 2 Jess street, was playing in front of the store when the big truck began its destructive journey. The Benson lad was instantly killed, being crushed beneath the wheels. The other children were seriously, but not, it is thought, fatally injured. The Rosecain boy suffered fractures of three ribs and contusions of the head and body. Hazel Wood was badly cut on the right foot and received multiple abrasions. The injured boy was taken to the city hospital in the ambulance of station 13 and the little girl was treated by a nearby physician.

In the store at the time of the accident was Clementine G. Norman, the proprietor. She was badly scared, but unhurt.

On the auto truck, beside Curwin, were two helpers. They and Curwin also escaped injury. The auto truck was not badly damaged but the damage to the store will amount to several hundred dollars.

Curwin was arrested on the charge of manslaughter.

REVOLUTIONISTS SET UP GOVERNMENT

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Tuesday, May 6.—Costa Rican revolutionists have issued a proclamation naming Julio Avendaño provisional president and soliciting recognition of the new administration by Central American republics. Telegraphic communication has been suspended between Nicaragua and Costa Rica since the Costa Rican telegraph operators have abandoned the frontier office at La Cruz.

MAY BUY VICTORY BONDS WITH FUND

Contrary to the opinion of City Treasurer Fred H. Bourke, City Solicitor William D. Regan has ruled that the principal of the Hapgood Wright fund may be invested in Victory notes as suggested by Mayor Perry D. Thompson at yesterday's meeting of the municipal council. The solicitor today sent the following letter to Commissioner Donnelly on the matter:

Lowell, Mass., May 6, 1919, Mr. James E. Donnelly, Commissioner of Finance, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—In answer to your query in re-investment of the principal of the Hapgood Wright fund in Victory Liberty notes, I beg to say that according to the provisions of the last will and testament of Hapgood Wright, the only restrictions with reference to the fund given to the city are that the principal shall be allowed to accumulate interest for a definite period of time and that the interest shall then be applied for some public purpose in the city of Lowell.

As the purchase of Victory Liberty notes with the principal of this fund is a placing of the fund at interest and is in pursuance of the mandate of the will, it is my opinion as a matter of law that the treasurer of the city of Lowell has a right to make such an investment, even without any formal vote of the municipal council.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM D. REGAN, City Solicitor.

WOOL AUCTIONS SALES

LONDON, May 7.—The wool auction sales were resumed yesterday, with offerings of $100 bales. It was a poor selection, but there was a fair demand and good clips advanced 5 per cent. Other grades were unchanged to 2 per cent lower.

Before taking my train home from Boston early this morning I stood in the North station.

Not To Resign—Never Advocated Public Hangings of I.W.W. Members

CLEVELAND, May 7.—Mayor Ole Hanson of Seattle, Wash., speaking here yesterday on his tour of the country in the interest of the Victory loan, issued a statement denying stories published throughout the country quoting him as saying that he was going to resign as mayor of Seattle, to take the law in his own hands, and advocating public hangings of the I.W.W.'s and anarchists.

Mayor Hanson's statement follows: "Certain stories are being printed in the press quoting me as saying that I would resign as mayor of Seattle and take the law in my own hands and advocate public hangings of the I.W.W.'s. 'Every such statement published is absolutely untrue in substance and in fact. I have never advocated lawless acts by anyone at any time. I desire this denial to be as sweeping as possible.'"

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

"I just did it for fun," was the defense offered by William E. Crawford of Ayer when he was called before Judge Fisher in police court today to answer to the charge of forging a worthless check on the Wamesit bank of this city. Crawford was arrested later yesterday afternoon by Inspector Walsh.

According to the inspector's story a woman named Mrs. Mary Christie presented a check at Saunders' market yesterday afternoon, and it was found to be a forgery. The woman said she received it from Crawford, and directed the officer to the latter's room, where several other blank checks were found. Crawford pleaded guilty to forging the check, and not guilty to uttering and publishing it. A continuance was granted for one week, bail being set at $300.

The sequel to a young riot on Market street, which occurred two weeks ago, and in which one of the participants emerged with a damaged optic came to trial today when George Giatas, one of the alleged principals in the affair, was charged with assault and battery on Dionysios Sakalarios. The affair was considered from all angles and Giatas found guilty. He was ordered to pay a fine of $20 and appealed.

Joseph F. Silva was found guilty of operating a motor cycle without a license and paid a fine of $2. Joseph LeDuc was charged with breaking and entering a house now in process of construction. The property of a local real estate man, and stealing chisels, planes and other carpenter's tools. The case was continued until Saturday, and he was ordered to furnish bail to the amount of $500. Several minor larceny and assault cases were called and continued, and a handful of drunken offenders paid small fines or drew down brief sentences to jail.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. William E. Hanley, of Deerfield, Mass., and Miss Margaret B. Fleming, of 107 Myrtle street, this city, were married Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at St. Michael's rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Fr. Lynch. Miss Anna A. Fleming, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, the best man being Mr. John J. Hanley, brother of the groom. After an extended honeymoon trip to New York and Washington, the happy couple will make their home in Deerfield, Mass.

BIG DECREASE IN FREIGHT TRAFFIC

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Decrease of freight traffic this year owing to cessation of war manufactures, is shown by a report of Director General Hines, issued in connection with his explanation of the government's deficit of $192,000,000 in operation of railroads for the first three months of the year.

In March the railroads recorded 29,520,000,000 ton miles as compared with 37,708,000,000 in March last year. In February the roads hauled 25,681,000,000 ton miles, as compared with 29,687,000,000 in the same month last year and in January they hauled 30,207,000,000 against 27,619,000,000 in January, 1918.

"It is impossible on the basis of three months to predict the results for the year as a whole," says Mr. Hines, "although it is believed the results will be very much less unfavorable if, as seems to be generally anticipated, there shall be an important resumption of business later in the year, especially if the great corps now in prospect shall be realized."

SOLDIERS EXEMPT FOR CIVIL SERVICE

WASHINGTON, May 7.—President Wilson, in an executive order called from Paris, has directed the Civil Service commission to exempt soldiers, sailors and marines from physical requirements for any civil service position upon certification by the federal board of vocational education that the applicant has been specially trained and qualified for the position.

ARMY TRUCKS FOR PUBLIC ROADS

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Twenty thousand motor trucks, valued at $45,000,000 have been turned over to the Department of Agriculture by the war department to be distributed to state highway departments through the bureau of public roads. The trucks must be used on road construction work.

48 HOURS FOR SHOE SHOPS IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, May 7.—A 48-hour working week will be effective in shoe factories of this city, beginning May 12, according to a vote by the Manufacturers' association.

TRADE BOARD CALLS SHIPPERS' MEETING

The board of trade has called a meeting of all the shippers of this city at its rooms next Friday morning at 10 o'clock for a free and full discussion relative to the shipping business in Lowell. Representatives of the Boston & Maine and N. Y. N. H. & Hartford railroads will be present to explain plans for establishing a shipping guide for the use of local shippers.

REPUBLICANS WIN IN BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE, Md., May 7.—For the first time in 20 years, the Republicans elected a mayor yesterday, when state Attorney William P. Broening defeated George Weems Williams, his democratic opponent.
